YOUTHS ROB WOMAN OF RICH GEMS

Pair Flee With Diamonds Valued at $10,250 After Apartment-House Hold-up

Confronted by two young bandits—one armed with a pistol and wearing a mask over his face—Jane Wilbraham, operator of the apartment house at 2024 North Argyle avenue, last night was robbed of three diamond rings valued at $10,250.

The bandit pair walked into Mrs. Wilbraham's apartment early in the evening. She was alone and one of them kept his pistol trained on her while the other stripped the rings from the woman's fingers.

They warned their victim not to make an outcry under threat of death, walked from the apartment and escaped in an automobile. Mrs. Wilbraham told police two of the diamonds were worth $5000 each and the third $250. She described the bandits as being young and well dressed.

Miss Natalie Warfield, 25, of 2204 Poinsettia Place, was robbed of $154 by a bandit who accosted her in front of the Hollywood postoffice on North Vine street. He forced her into her own automobile, climbed in beside her and ordered her to drive away. On Franklin avenue he grabbed her purse containing the money, commanded her to "keep on going" and then leaped from the moving car.

CHIEF TALKS TO NATION

President Greets Countrymen

Christmas Wishes Extended in Thirty Words by Herbert Hoover

Lighting of Community Tree and Children's Party Occupy Evening

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (Exclusive)—With solemn ceremony the President of the United States walked up to an electrical device on a platform in the park tonight and turned the switch that lighted the big community Christmas tree near the White House. Then, stepping back into the shadow, with a shy quietness, Herbert Hoover wished the people of the United States a merry Christmas and a happy new year. He wished it to them in exactly twenty-nine words. At his left stood Mrs. Hoover, whose every glance was treasured by the band of Girl Scouts who forgot how cold they were as they watched her. At his right was his son Allan, home from college, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr., en route to a sick husband in Asheville, N. C. Maybe that was the reason the President's voice dropped when it came to "merry Christmas."

COLD AT FETE

It was cold up on the official platform, where the Marine Band stood and played "Silent Night, Holy Night." And it was cold down in the park where hundreds of men and women and little children snuggled against each other in an effort to get nearer the front. But it was Christmas Eve and everybody was gracious.

Lieut.-Col. U. S. Grant III welcomed the public to the ceremony, reminding them that the growing tree in front of them was "a living memorial to the desirability of stopping wholesale cutting down of trees for even as good a thing as Christmas." Then, turning to the President and his wife, he said:

"And because of the kind and generous acts which you both have always done it gives me great pleasure to wish you both a very merry Christmas and a happy new year."

HOOVER LIGHTS TREE

The President took a step forward, pressed the gadget that Lieut.-Col. Grant indicated, and the dark green silhouette that had been standing by rather obscurely glowed with veins of red and blue and green lights. There was a community "Ah" and lots of little individual squeals. A rocket soared and close by a bugle blew.

Then young Henry H. Bowles, a Boy Scout, came briskly forward, saluted. He made his speech, looking straight into the President's

JOY RINGS IN BETHLEHEM

Pageant Hails Christ Child

Midnight Mass Celebrated With Pomp in Church of the Nativity

Choir Sings Carols in Fields of Shepherds as Pilgrims See Babe Put in Manger

BETHLEHEM (Palestine) Christmas Morn. (AP)—This little city of David which is called Bethlehem rang again today with sounds of exceeding joy in adoration of the newborn King.

In the Church of the Nativity which, according to tradition, stands on the site of Christ's humble birthplace, midnight mass was celebrated with ritualistic pomp and splendor. Hundreds filled the great edifice which replaces the little shed where Mary and Joseph sought shelter after they had been turned away from the inn. Others overflowed in the surrounding fields where shepherds still abide, tending their flocks by night.

Time has passed lightly over Bethlehem and in the dusk before this Christmas morning it was easy to imagine it still the little city of Judea as it was in the days of Herod the King, when Joseph and Mary came out of Galilee to pay the tax Caesar Augustus levied on all the world.

CAROLS SUNG

As the service continued the choir from the cathedral in near-by Jerusalem sang carols in the field of the shepherds outside. The dimly seen and faintly heard singers seemed, in the magic of the moment, to be that multitude of the heavenly host who reassured the simple shepherds long ago when they were sore afraid as the glory of the Lord shone about them.

And like that heavenly host, the choristers lifted their voices in praise, singing "Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace, Good Will to Men."

The pontifical high mass began just at 11:30 p.m. in the church whose spires are believed to point upward to the exact spot where the star of Bethlehem hovered over the young child after it had led the wise men trudging from the east with mighty vision and gifts of frankincense and myrrh.

PEWS CRAMMED

But long before that hour the pews were crammed and the aisles crowded both with pilgrims from afar and hundreds who live constantly in the atmosphere of the sacred birthplace.

When the service began a hush fell over the congregation; all was reverence as the colorful ritual un-

CIRCUS MAN TAKES BRIDE IN PHOENIX

Al G. Barnes Married to Denver (Colo.) Woman in Arizona Ceremony

PHOENIX, Dec. 24. (AP)—Al G. Barnes Stonehouse of Los Angeles, who is known in the circus world as Al G. Barnes and owner of the Al G. Barnes Circus, was married here tonight to Mrs. Margaret Goldsborough of Edgewater and Denver, Colo.

In applying for a license to wed the couple gave their ages as "legal age."

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Victor A. Rule, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cusack of Denver. Mrs. Cusack is a daughter of the bride.

It is the showman's third marriage. In 1900 he married Dollie Barlow, who also operated a small circus, and they built up the Al G. Barnes circus until it was one of the best known in the United States.

After several unsuccessful attempts, Stonehouse divorced his first wife in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1921. He charged desertion. The next day he married Jane Hartigan, whom he also divorced in Las Vegas two years later. He charged his second wife with horsewhipping him.

The second Mrs. Stonehouse contested the divorce through six years of bitter court battles.

Mrs. Goldsborough's husband died seven years ago. He was a prominent cattle and mining man of Leadville, Colo.

Stonehouse and his bride met in Denver three years ago, they said.

It really is a birthday picture, taken at his Pocantico Hills estate last July when he celebrated his ninety-first anniversary, but it added an intimate touch to the Christmas greeting and was sent only to personal friends and near neighbors.

Mexican Loan Deal at Hand

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 24. (AP)—Unofficial but reliable sources said tonight that an agreement will be signed Monday between Luis Montes de Oca, Minister of Finance, and officials of the National City Bank of New York for a $25,000,000 credit.

The money will be used to bolster up sagging exchange and it is expected Mexican silver currency will be restored to its former value against gold.

WINTER GETS CALLS MIXED

Alaska Has Spring Weather While North and Central California Fight Cold

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24. (Exclusive)—While Juneau, Alaska, basked in a temperature of 44 deg. King Winter swept Northern and Central California early today with an icy hand, establishing new low marks at several points, endangering some fruits, freezing water pipes and causing discomfort so acute that in one instance, at least, it led to a man's death. Nicholas Manger, 46 years of age, Port Costa laborer, collapsed while walking from Crockett to Vallejo Junction along the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks. After examination, the Coroner's office at Martinez announced his death was due to cold and exposure.

At Pittsburg, three miles from the point where Manger collapsed, the mercury went down to 18 deg. and similar marks were recorded at Santa Rosa, Orland and Colusa.

LOW MARK ON BAY

But it was much colder than that elsewhere. Independence registered a mark of 12 deg. for the second time in as many days, and Visalia's thermometers dipped to 14 deg.

In the bay district a new seasonal low mark of 39 deg. was established in San Francisco at 5 a.m., and at 8 a.m. the mercury was read at 23 deg. at Oakland Airport, lowest in the history of the recording station there. Although a seasonal low was registered here, records show a minimum of 29 deg. on January 15, 1888.

At Burlingame water pipes were frozen in a temperature recorded on private thermometers at 27 deg.

SMUDGE POTS FIRED

In the citrus belts of Central California, the entire countryside was blanketed with smudge pots when warnings went out by radio, telephone, telegraph and word of mouth. Navels, mostly marketed, are clear, it was reported, but Valencias are in danger.

Other points registering freezing or subfreezing temperatures were Fresno, Red Bluff, Sacramen- San Jose, Chico, Del Monte, Lindsay, Merced, Oroville, Paso Robles, Porterville, Rocklin and Stockton.

The forecast is not promising, except to the extreme north coast. Additional frost is predicted in all the valleys and at interior points, but warmer weather, with possible rain, is anticipated for Eureka and points north.

FROST REACHES FAR INTO FLORIDA

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Dec. 24. (AP)—Weather traditional of Christmas held sway in Florida last night and early today. Freezing temperature and frost extended far into the central part of the State and to Tampa on the Gulf Coast. Jacksonville was the coldest place in the State last night. At a number of places on the outskirts of the city, the mercury was down to 22 deg.

Gainesville reported 26 deg. while Orlando, Bartow and Eustis, in the heart of the citrus belt, recorded 28 deg. At Tampa it was 37 and at Miami, Fort Myers and Fort Pierce 38.

Richard W. Gray, government weather observer at Miami, said the temperature there was the lowest since January 19, 1928.

KETCHIKAN HAS SNOWLESS CHRISTMAS

KETCHIKAN (Alaska) Dec. 24. (AP) A rowboat and umbrella would be more appropriate than a sleigh for Santa when he visits this "far northern town," the weather man predicted tonight. Ketchikan will experience its tenth snowless Christmas in fourteen years.

TOWNS ROCK AS METEOR HITS EARTH

Great Flare Lights Up Idaho Countryside for More Than Fifty Miles

LEWISTON (Idaho) Dec. 24. (AP) A meteor preceded by a brilliant flash that lighted up the countryside over an area of fifty or sixty miles was reported to have fallen at 9:57 tonight. Buildings in a dozen towns were rocked by the explosion that came when it struck the earth.

Several hundred persons in North Central Idaho said the flash, which lighted up the countryside with a brilliance that was almost like daylight, preceded the explosion by about three minutes.

Telephone operators in Orofino and Lapwai said the explosion shook their buildings so distinctly that some operators thought somebody was knocking at the doors. Residents of Lapwai, Orofino, Lewiston Orchards, Genesee, Troy, in Idaho, Clarkston, Wash., and other towns said they saw the flash and felt the explosion.

Turkish Revolt Effort Fails

ISTANBUL (Turkey) Dec. 24. (AP) An attempt of six Turkish fanatics to stir up a revolution in the village of Menemen, near Smyrna, yesterday failed.

The rebels beheaded a youth who attempted to inform police of their activities and in subsequent fighting two gendarmes were killed and four civilians wounded. Three rebels were killed and one was captured. The leader escaped.

The rebellion had its inception in an expedition of rebels who came from the mountains and attempted to incite the population to overthrow the Kemalist regime and restore the Caliphate.

Bomb Damages Largest Building

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (Exclusive)—A black powder bomb exploded against an iron door at the west end of the Merchandise Mart, "the largest building in the world" at 11 o'clock tonight, blew in the door and shattered windows up to the fourth floor on the Orleans-street side of the building.

GOLD FLOWS FOR RELIEF

Five Billion to Go Into Building

Federal, State and Various Local Agencies Figure in Great Endeavor

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Five billion dollars worth of construction defies America's unemployment.

Year-end reports compiled from all sections of the country show spring roads and building being pushed ahead for winter labor, public works getting under way with increasing volume, new rails and pipe lines creating swelled pay rolls and ready aid being extended everywhere to persons who cannot be put to work.

Basing his figures on contracts let during the year, L. Seth Schitman, chief statistician for the F. W. Dodge Corporation, estimates the cost of construction now under way at more than $4,700,000,000.

Besides the $116,000,000 appropriated for immediate use, the Federal government plans to spend $724,000,000 for building during the next twelve months. Another $80,000,000 has just been made available for Federal aid roads, which, matched by the States, rolls into a total of $160,000,000.

State commissions and county and city committees, co-ordinated by the President's emergency commission, are pushing public work, encouraging private work and devising means of relief. States and cities are appropriating treasury funds and raising public funds. Civic bodies and private individuals are contributing in a hundred different ways.

Many workers are contributing a portion of their pay to relief. Persons of means and leisure are producing benefits and serving on relief committees.

Some blue-law States are permitting Sunday film shows, with the proceeds going to relief.

Several cities are allowing the unemployed to sell apples or other staples on street corners without license. One ice-covered State is for the first time sprinkling sand on its roads in order that heads of families may win their bread.

A few States find existing charity agencies can care for the idle. Some others are registering unemployed individuals and finding them work or furnishing them relief.

From at least one State—Oklahoma—comes news that development alone necessitates one of the greatest building programs in its history, and Texas, sending forth pipe lines to the Middle West and rails toward the Rockies, finds itself in similar position.

TWENTY DIE WHEN QUAKE RUINS TOWN

Temblor Wrecks Village in Argentine Mountains; Hundreds Homeless

SALTA (Argentina) Dec. 24. (AP)—A violent earthquake laid the village of La Poma, situated in the Andes Mountains, in ruins today, costing an estimated total of twenty lives and nearly 100 injured. The bodies of all the dead were reported to have been recovered tonight.

Among the dead were eight women and two small boys. Two hundred families were homeless with their dwellings either destroyed or unsafe.

The shock occurred about 3 a.m. lasting about ten minutes, and was felt in many parts of the entire state of La Poma. Slight damage but no loss of life was reported at San Antonio de Los Cobres.

Coolness Shown Toward League

SANTIAGO (Chile) Dec. 24. (AP)—This South American republic, which for some time has been considering dropping its membership in the League of Nations, today refused to recognize the secretary-general of the Geneva body officially.

This official, Sir Eric Drummond, now is on a tour of South America and is expected to reach Chile January 2.

While he will not be received as secretary-general of the League, he will be accorded the courtesies of a diplomat, since he holds the rank of Ambassador.

YEAR'S WORK GIFT OF PLANT TO MEN

MADISON (Wis.) Dec. 24. (AP)—A promise there would be no lay-offs during the coming year was the Christmas gift to 150 employees of the Scanlan-Morris Company from its president, S. G. Scanlan. Scanlan informed the employees at a Christmas dinner today that rumors of a lay-off during 1931 are untrue.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 24. [To the Editor of The Times:] Well, tomorrow is "wish" day, everybody is "wishing" somebody something and I guess it's just as well everybody don't know what they are being "wished." But generally speaking we do have good cheer in our hearts on Christmas. Course we can't hardly wait till the day is over to get back to our devilment again.

I got a wish that I believe will have hearty co-operation. It's to leaders of industry, prominent men, and even dear old Charley Schwab; please on New Year's don't predict prosperity (either early or late,) don't predict anything; just say "I pass." You have had one solid year of being 100 per cent wrong and we just kinder lost our tastes for your predictions. Good times are coming soon, we all feel it, but if you guys say so it's liable to crab it.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

POPE VOICES REMEDIES

Cure Urged for Unemployment

Plea for Better Relations Among Classes Made in Christmas Message

Protestant Propaganda in Rome and Boris Nuptial Reports Discussed

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 24. (AP)—A plea for better relations among the classes as a remedy for the world problem of unemployment was made by Pope Pius XI in his Christmas Eve message today.

"Better social and international adjustment, inspired by greater justice and Christian charity," will relieve the unemployment crisis which is taking "labor and bread from so many families," the Pontiff told the assembled college of cardinals.

FRATERNAL EFFORT

This, he said, could be accomplished without overturning the order established by Providence, and would render possible among all peoples a fraternal collaboration instead of "strife and competition, harmful and sooner or later disastrous."

It would be difficult, however, the Pope warned, for internal peace of "intelligence and hearts" to reign and endure "if the strong motives of contrast are made to arise and continue among citizens and social classes from the unequal distribution and proportion of advantages and burdens."

HARMONY URGED

The Pontiff declared this co-operative harmony must be made the basis of relations between nations also. It would be difficult, if not impossible, for peace to reign, he warned, "if in place of a league of genuine love of country there reigned an egotistic and inflexible nationalism—that is to say, hate and envy in place of mutual desire of good; difference and suspicion instead of concord and co-operations."

AIR-SPEED HAWKS'S DOGMA

Holder of Records Declares Year to Bring Pace o 150 Miles an Hour for Cruising

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Speed, speed, more speed! That's th dish Capt. Frank Hawks would serve aviation for Christmas.

"I'd like to see all schedules speeded up to at least 150 miles an hou cruising speed," he said today to the Associated Press in commentin on the year which lies ahead of aviation.

"We've got the plush interiors, the heated planes, the ash trays," he says. "What we need is more speed."

Capt. Hawks has flown during 1930 the fastest commercial plane in the world—his little low-winged Travelair, the so-called "mystery ship."

HOLDS RECORDS

He holds the transcontinental record at less than twelve hours' flying time. He has made the trip between New York and Washington, between New York and Boston, between New York and a lot of other places faster than any aviator ever flew those distances before.

At 250 miles an hour he has dashed around the country telling manufacturers, pilots, flying executives, "Speed up, speed up!" That's where the real value of airplanes lies, he believes—in their ability to ge you somewhere in a hurry.

WHAT IT MEANS

If his wish should come true—a schedule of 150 miles an hour—the flying time from coast to coas will be cut from its present rail air time of thirty-six hours to twen ty. With lighted transcontinental airways a reality of the near fu ture it only remains to perfect plane which can hold that speed and the passengers can have an early breakfast in New York and a late dinner in Los Angeles. That will take time, he admits, but he believes it can be done without an radical change in design.

In three years, from Lindbergh Spirit of St. Louis to his own mys tery ship, the speed was stepped u from 125 to 250 miles an hour Capt. Hawks doesn't think that the top, by any means.

ROLPH DEPOSITS PLUMS IN SOCKS

Governor-elect Plays Santa for Office Staff

Twelve New Appointments or Tenders Told

Agreement With Successor Also Announced

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24. (Exclusive)—After preparing and issuing a message of good cheer and holiday greetings for the people at large of the State, Gov.-elect Rolph called his office staff together today, as he has done annually for the past nineteen years, and played Santa Claus to them in a material way. He announced twelve appointments or tenders of appointments and promised, as the result of an agreement with his successor as Mayor, several others in the new city administration or retention of present jobs.

Most of the proffers announced are for minor positions, but included was the statement that Fred W. Meyer, present commissioner on the Board of Public Works here, will resign that position to become chief of the division of service and supplies in the State Department of Finance as soon as Rolph takes office as Governor. The position pays $5000.

HERZ PROMISED POST

The Governor-elect said also that James I. Herz, former San Francisco Supervisor, will be given a place on some State board or commission until conditions allow his appointment as director of the State Department of Military and Soldiers' Affairs. Matt I. Sullivan, former judge, will become attorney for the State Bank Superintendent, leaving an opening Rolph will fill on the City Planning Commission.

Russell Bevans, police officer who has been attached to the Mayor's office, will be given leave from the department to become chief inspector for the State Highway Patrol with the rank of captain, and Thomas P. Walsh, detective sergeant attached to the Mayor's office, will hold a similar position at Sacramento. Arthur Schuck, one of Rolph's chauffeurs, is slated to become a State oil and gas inspector, and Carl L. Muller, night clerk in the Mayor's office, will have the same position in the Governor's office.

MESSENGER WILL MOVE

Leonard Harris, messenger for the Mayor and one of the most widely-known characters in the city service, will be taken to Sacramento to perform the same services there.

Several lesser office appointments were announced or the promises of those appointments given and forecasts made of several positions on San Francisco boards and commissions, with agreement of Angelo J. Rossi, who will become Mayor by supervisorial appointment January 6.

KANSAN TO GIVE BIRDS YULE TREE AND FEAST

KANSAS CITY (Kan.) Dec. 24. (AP)—However unfortunate it may be for a bird hatched into this world a turkey, Christmas will be a day of feasting for the wild fowl that discover their own Yule tree in the yard of Miss Henrietta H. Jacobs.

Following a custom of years, the tree will be decorated by means of bright-colored paper cups filled to the brim with bird seed and other viands relished by Miss Jacobs's feathered friends.

Miss Jacobs, who lives in a rural home, two miles west of Kansas City, shares the premises with fifty-five retired dogs and half a dozen cats, which, otherwise, would be homeless.

While the birds in the branches are caroling over their Christmas presents tomorrow, there will be extra bones and pans of milk for the dogs and cats, she says.

THEFT-DETECTING SOCIETY DISBANDS

KILLINGLY (Ct.) Dec. 24. (AP)—In this season of good will toward men an impulse has moved the members of the Killingly Theft Detecting Society to disband. The body is more than eighty years of age. It has forty-seven members, but their sole function for two generations has been to meet occasionally for a good dinner. The treasury will yield $667. It probably will be split forty-seven ways. Records of meetings and doings in days before the town had peace officers will be filed with the town archives.

JOY RINGS OUT IN BETHLEHEM

folded to the accompaniment of a choir of Franciscan monks.

Just before midnight a warning bell rang softly and the solemn words of the consecration ended as the tower chime began to toll the hour. The priests pulled the silken cords withdrawing the curtain from the tabernacle, revealing a doll representing the babe of Bethlehem.

CHOIR'S VOICES RING OUT

The organ thundered and the voices of the choir rang out in sonorous Latin: "Blessed be he who comes in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in excelsis;" it was Christmas Day.

His Beatitude, Mgr. Louis Barlassina, Latin patriarch of Jerusalem, reverently lifted the bambino, and, as Mary did with the Christ child 1930 years ago, wrapped it in swaddling clothes and placed it in the manger thought to be the very spot where Christ himself was laid.

The crowd filed out of the church, the faces of the worshipers lighted with the beauty and symbolism of the pageant they had seen. They called to each other in hushed greetings and dispersed into the night. The darkness seemed to hold no fears, for it was in darkness in the same spot the angel of the Lord said on the first Christmas Day; "Fear not; for I bring you good tidings of great joy."

HOOVER GREETS ALL AMERICANS

Chief Executive's Christmas Wishes Put on Air

First Children's Party for Decade at White House

eyes. The President said something back, but so softly that it was, indeed, a personal message.

Betty Jane Oswald, a Girl Scout, carried her bouquet up to Mrs. Hoover and made her speech. Mrs. Hoover thanked her.

Once again the President stepped forward, this time to speak into the microphone, which carried his words throughout the nation.

HOOVER'S SPEECH

"Fellow citizens of Washington and my countrymen everywhere:

"It is a great privilege to join in this community effort and it is a greater privilege, even, to wish you a merry Christmas and a happy new year."

Officially, the Christmas season had arrived.

Tonight there was a children's party at the White House. Two of the Hoover grandchildren, Peggy Ann and Herbert III, were hosts, for Baby Joan is too young to be up nights. And the principal guests were the three sons of Secretary George Akerson; Secretary Walter Newton's son; Capt. Joel T. Boone's young daughter, Suzanne; French Stoner's son, French Jr., and the youngsters of Secretary Hurley. The parents came along, too, but they were merely among those present.

FOR THE CHILDREN

There was the chummy private Christmas tree in the state dining-room, and the grand public tree in the East Room; there was a frolicsome promenade through the darkened corridors of the White House led by President Hoover and Peggy Ann, each carrying a flickering taper. There was a gay dinner adapted to the dietary needs of 6-year-old guests. And there were gifts from Santa Claus with the President and his son helping.

When the last candle had burned out on the tree and the last gift had been unwrapped Mrs. Hoover, Jr., said good-by to her children and left for Asheville to bring as merry a Christmas as possible to her husband, now convalescent.

Tomorrow afternoon the children of close friends are expected to come over to enjoy the tree. In the evening there is to be a small dinner to a few members of the Cabinet.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

And it will probably take them the rest of the day to read the more than 3000 Christmas cards that have come to the White House.

This morning the Hoovers distributed to all White House attaches small jewel cases and ash trays made from the one-time roof of the executive mansion. With each was a poem in free verse entitled: "Recollections of a Piece of Wood." Its authorship was undisclosed, but it read as follows:

"A pine tree on the hills of Maryland—through
"Many summers' heats and winters' snows,
"Felled, carted, watered, sawn, and a metamorphosis
"Within a week.
"And then a century buried deep within the White House walls—unseen, unsung, but one of myriads holding firm together
"The storied structure.
"Until a new age came and replaced steel for wood.
"Then months upon the dump, the dump cart actually arrived for one last ride—
"And then a rescue. Now here I rest upon your desk for a short space; until—the waste basket and the fire.
"Then once again I'll go—free smoke before free wind—to touch again the hills of Maryland."

ROYAL CHRISTMAS JUST LIKE FOLKS'

SANDRINGHAM (Eng.) Dec. 24. (AP)—Pomp and circumstance are laid aside tomorrow at Sandringham House and King George and Queen May become, first of all, parents and grandparents.

On Christmas morning the King comes down to breakfast just as a million other fathers will do.

He greets his children with kisses and handshakes, jokes with his guests and, perhaps the greatest pleasure of all, feigns surprise and joy when his little grandchildren proudly display their presents, telling him they have come "from Santa Claus."

Then, later in the morning, the King and Queen and the other members of the royal family will worship with the Wolferton villagers.

They will walk to the little gray church in the village and there stand shoulder to shoulder with the simple country men and women.

After luncheon—a simple family meal—there is another distribution of presents, this time to the servants in personal attendance on the King and Queen throughout the year.

Before dinner family presents are exchanged, but what these are is always kept a close secret.

CHILDREN'S REPLICAS MRS. HOOVER'S GIFT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover dressed three Christmas dolls in exact duplicate of costumes worn by her three little grandchildren.

While the real children—Peggy Ann, Herbert III and baby Joan—are having Christmas in the White House tonight some lucky little girls were taking their doll duplicates from stockings or a tree.

The President's wife carried four dolls which she had dressed to the Thrift Shop, conducted for charity, pinned to the white skirts were cards designating the names and signed by Mrs. Hoover.

The fourth doll, Carmencita, is the gayest. In dressing her Mrs. Hoover cast aside all her usual conservative tastes in colors. Carmencita was arrayed in bright tints of orange, yellow and brown, with a silk dress and a little short jacket bordered with a bit of fur and lined with gold brocade. A perky little hat of brown maline trimmed with flowers and a touch of gold was perched on the doll's long black hair, and orange colored shoes were put on her feet.

ANIMALS HAVE THEIR PARTY

Humane Society Fetes Dogs Cats, Horses and One Lone Canary

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Five hundred dogs, 100 cats, forty horses and one canary were guests today at the annual Christmas party of the Humane Society of New York.

Maurice Colbert, one of the society's agents, was Santa Claus. From an elaborately decorated Christmas tree he distributed new collars, leashes, shoulder harnesses, blankets, sweaters and dog biscuits to the dogs; collars, catnip and canned salmon to the cats; blankets, chest protectors, water pails and snowshoes to the horses, and a package of birdseed to the canary.

POPE PLEADS FOR JOBLESS

War, the Pope said he could not believe any state could be so homicidal and even suicidal as to wish to start a new war.

WISHES FOR PEACE

He pronounced his wishes for "that peace which angels at Christmas announced to the earth in Christ's name."

As on previous occasions, the Pontiff expressed his objection to Protestant missionary activity in Italy, especially in Rome, where he said propaganda is being circulated in violation of Lateran treaties which expressly safeguarded "Rome's sacred character."

The Pontiff said he is pained and grieved to see "even more intense and vast and impudent Protestant propaganda, sometimes open and reasoned, sometimes subtle and deceitful."

The Pope announced he will soon have ready an encyclical dealing with matrimony, which will be dated this year. He mentioned the recent marriage of King Boris of Bulgaria to the former Princess Giovanna, saying there are some small errors in belief in connection with the ceremony, for example, the erroneous thought that the marriage had been re-enected at Sofia, where, as a matter of fact, it had already taken place at Assisi.

The Pontiff reviewed the many disasters of this year—earthquakes, tempests and floods, saying he had shared the sorrows of all his children, prayed for them and as far as possible had sent material aid.

Then he asked the cardinals to pray for all "who suffer for the profession and defense of the faith as in Mexico, Russia and Siberia, preparing by their sufferings the regeneration of those countries and peoples."

He asked special prayers for missionaries.

The Pope declared blessed "all initiatives destined to alleviate the sufferings of the present and to prepare a better future."

Gunmen Tie Up Wife of Benny

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Mrs. Sadie Benny, wife of Jack Benny, comedian, reported to the police today she had been robbed of $10,000 in jewelry and an ermine coat Tuesday night by four gunmen.

She said she had been bound and gagged, her mouth sealed shut with tape. Gunmen later removed the tape lest she succocate.

RUM CARRIER BARRED BY ALABAMA RULING

BRANDY MAY GO ON PERMIT LIST

Manufacture for Industrial Purposes Considered

Doran Discloses Proposed Aid to Grape Interests

Supply, of Course, Would Be for Nonbeverage Use

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—The California grape interests were in line for further Federal aid today in the form of a series of regulations designed to place high-proof fruit spirits, or brandy, on the industrial market.

Dr. James M. Doran, Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol, said these regulations have been going through the mill for several weeks. If finally approved, they must bear his signature, as well as those of Secretary Mellon, Atty.-Gen. Mitchell and Prohibition Director Woodcock.

NONBEVERAGE USES

Under the plan, Dr. Doran said, it may be possible to run off some of the grape surplus as high-proof brandy and to use still more for the fortification of wine. It will, however, be for nonbeverage purposes, and will be issued to the holders of alcohol permits as a substitute.

There still is some question as to just how commercially profitable such a plan may be, the commissioner said, since the brandy would come into direct competition with industrial alcohol.

AUTHORIZED BY BILL

He pointed out that a clause in the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill authorizes this usage. It provides that "high-proof fruit spirits made in distilleries connected with wineries for use in the fortification of wines also may be withdrawn and used, under the same laws and regulations applicable to the withdrawal and use of alcohol for nonbeverage purposes."

It is recalled that since some brandy still is used for medicinal purposes, Dr. Doran, when prohibition commissioner, authorized the distillation of some 50,000 gallons of this product. At the same time he ordered the distilling of whisky to replenish the diminishing Federal supply.

Three men were killed and a young woman wounded in a fight Saturday in Breathitt county when a feud was renewed.

ANTI-CHRISTMAS CIRCUS PLANNED

New York Event to Be Part of World-wide Program

Yuletide Called Capitalists' "Poison Campaign"

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Junior Communists plan to prove to their playmates on Christmas Day that there isn't any Santa Claus.

The Young Pioneers, juvenile branch of the Communist party, have announced they will hold an "antireligious circus" to demonstrate that yuletide and St. Nicholas are part of the capitalists' campaign "to poison the minds of the workers' children with religion."

The projected event, leaders said, will be part of a world-wide Communist program on Christmas to "expose the religious bunk of the bosses."

There has been difficulty in renting a hall. The Central Operahouse canceled the rental contract when it learned the nature of the meeting. The district director of the Pioneers charged city authorities brought pressure to bear. Owners refused to rent two other halls.

"WE WANT WORK," SHOUT REDS IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Dec. 24. (AP)—The Communist elements made good their threat to inaugurate hunger demonstrations amid the throngs of Berlin's Christmas shoppers today, for no sooner had darkness come than groups of jobless appeared on the busy streets shouting: "We want work."

At the corner of Leipziger and Friedrich streets, one of the busiest sections, mounted police had to clear the sidewalk of demonstrators by using their clubs and charging their horses on to the sidewalk.

Presbyterians Begin Crusade to Aid Jobless

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24. (AP)—A crusade of benevolence for the jobless and the poor throughout the United States through the agency of the 10,000 Presbyterian churches was launched by the Presbyterian board of Christian education today.

An official message from the board, transmitted to every Presbyterian minister, contains a series of definite suggestions indicating what each local church can do to alleviate distress. Setting up immediately of unemployment committees is suggested, and congregations are counseled to use their church plants to the fullest capacity.

LEGGE FOSTERS GRAIN EMBARGO

Suggestion Offered Senate's Agriculture Committee

Shipping of Foreign Wheat Into Country Feared

Price Differential Leads to Chairman's Proposal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—Chairman Legge of the Farm Board suggested today to members of the Senate Agriculture Committee a temporary embargo will be the most effective step if world wheat prices continue to slump below domestic quotations to a point permitting imports of Canadian wheat.

Senator Capper, Kansas, a Republican member of the Senate Agricultural Committee, in making public the chairman's proposal, offered to sponsor such legislation if Legge's fears of imports materialize.

SURPLUS EXPECTED

A temporary embargo would seem jutifiable, Legge wrote, "in view of the fact that we will have a burdensome surplus without importing" any wheat.

The embargo, Capper pointed out, probably could be obtained more quickly than an increase in the tariff, now 42 cents a bushel. A study would first be required of the Tariff Commission before it could make recommendations.

Before the Christmas recess ends, Capper expects to confer with Legge.

Briefly reviewing the world wheat situation, Legge said the Liverpool market Tuesday had closed at 60 3-4 cents while the close at Chicago was 76 cents and the spread between Chicago and Winnipeg was from 26 to 28 cents per bushel.

IMPORTS FEARED

With domestic millers ready to pay a premium on high quality Manitoba wheat he fears any further price decrease in the world market "will probably result in wheat being imported from Canada."

Representative Summers, Republican, Washington, said he has written to the Tariff Commission urging it "to take action looking to the immediate increase of the duty up to 63 cents per bushel, which is permissible under the flexible provision of the tariff law without Congressional action.

"The need for immediate action cannot be overemphasized in view of the fact that wheat was imported into this country in 1923 and 1925 when the differential was less than at the present time."

White Light Way Scoured for Boys and Girls

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Tonight the police were hunting for 150 Christmas gifts, destined, if found, to be shipped immediately out of the city.

They went to the dance halls along the white way that was great tonight but not gay. And to Times Square, where, from underneath a forty-foot Christmas tree loaded with electric bulbs, a loud speaker blared forth "Silent Night" above the roar of the street.

Everywhere they were searching for lonesome looking boys and girls who might have decided that home wasn't such a bad place after all.

NO ARRESTS MADE

No arrests were to be made in this manhunt. All the police wanted to do was buy each of the objects of their quest a square meal and send a longed-for telegram to some town or countryside where Christmas is Christmas.

A hundred and fifty were hunted —150 boys and girls who wanted to be millionaires or great actresses, and who decided sometime during 1930 that they couldn't stay at home any longer.

They may not be in New York, but in 150 homes scattered over the United States 150 fathers and mothers believed tonight that their boy or girl had come to New York, and they had asked the New York police to help find them.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney, who walked a beat long before he became gray-haired and head of the department, thought he knew where to look for some of them—the boys.

KNOWS THEIR WAYS

"Hanging around the restaurants in Times Square," he said. "Not the expensive restaurants. The cheaper ones. And if you look sympathetic they'll shyly ask you for a nickel to go inside and buy a cup of coffee."

At his desk behind a stack of Christmas cards from "former customers" Capt. John H. Ayers, known all over the world as head of the missing persons' bureau of the New York Police Department, took a hopeful view. Capt. Ayers and his men have found many thousands of boys and girls. They have located nearly 2000 out-of-town runaways in New York this year.

"If they're in New York we'll find them," he said. "Our record for finding them is a little better than 98 per cent. We may not find them tonight, but find them we will."

Coal Miner Dies in Strike Fight

MADISONVILLE (Ky.) Dec. 24. (AP)—An attack on a truckload of miners going to the Trio Coal Company's mine today resulted in a Negro miner being killed and another wounded.

A group of men opened fire on a truck in which miners were being taken to work, firing from bushes near a road intersection.

The mine, one of those operating under Federal injunction against violence to employees and property during the extensive labor trouble in Western Kentucky, has been taking its employees in trucks to work daily.

Chicago Ticket Leader Picked

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—Anton J. Cermak, president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners, was named the Democratic choice for Mayor in a resolution adopted by the managing committee of the county Democratic organization today.

Two candidates—Mayor Thompson and Charles Barrett—already are running for the Republican nomination, while a group of factory leaders is looking for a third candidate for "world's fair" Mayor.

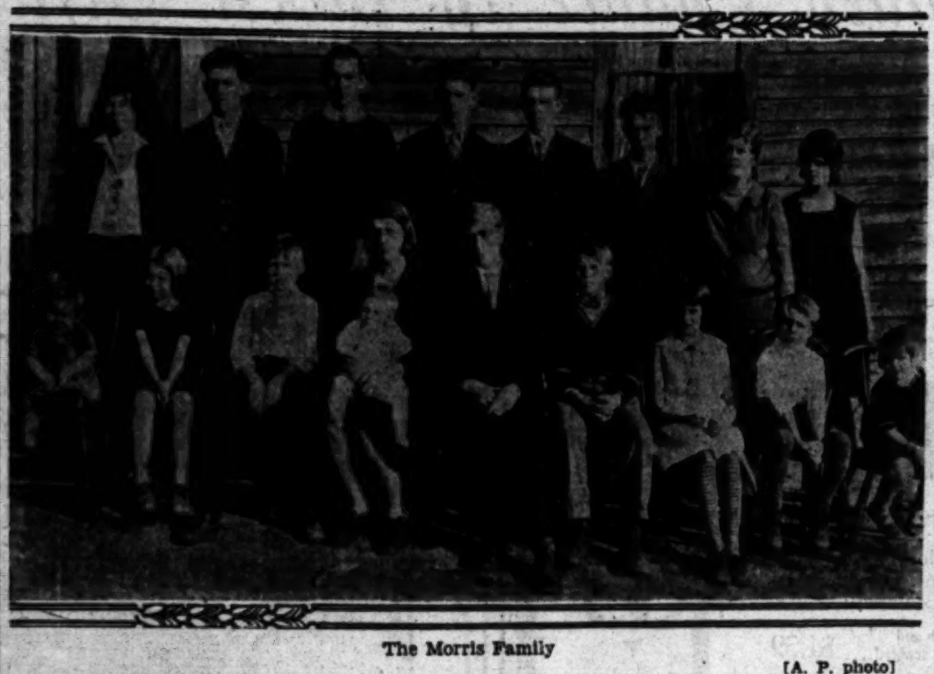
Sixteen Michigan Children Answer Family's Roll Call



The Morris Family

Standing, left to right, Esther (Mrs. Arthur Wilson), 23 years of age; Earl, 21; Orville, 19; Clair, 18, Homer, 20; Hartley, 17; Elsie (Mrs. Robert Reed), 22; Gladys, 15. Sitting, Alice, 2; Inez, 7; Frederick, 9; Mrs. Morris and Robert, 1; Morris; Wilmer, Jr., 13; Dora, 11; Wayne, 5, and Phyllis, 3.

FENWICK (Mich.) Dec. 24. (Exclusive)—President Roosevelt's heart surely would have been warmed at the sight of the Wilmer Morris family of this city. When Mr. Morris calls the roll at meal time, sixteen children answer. And that means a lot of stockings Santa Claus had to fill tonight. Death has never occurred in this immediate family.

The Morris family, however, is still four behind the Edward Butcher family of Murphysboro, Ill., which had its twentieth addition last Saturday.

WETS SEEK TO CONTROL DISTRICTING

Election of Congress Members at Large Will Be Fought by Dry Foes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—Wets in Congress are seeking Congressional redistricting of every State affected by the new apportionment in the belief elections of additional members from at large would cheat them of reinforcements.

Representative Cochran, Democrat, of Missouri, said today he will use the House as a forum to amplify a plea he is preparing to make shortly after Congress reassembles. The redistricting must be done by each State.

"I mean to put the country on notice," Cochran said, "that the new representation will be unfair to the populous centers if the delegations are elected at large."

Four Convicts Escape From Prison in East

OSSINING (N. Y.) Dec. 24. (AP)—Four prisoners, all short-term men, escaped early tonight from the East View penitentiary near here. They are Peter Reynolds, Yonkers; Ames Clark, Newark; William Rapp, Linden, N. J., and Charles Sirico, New York.

The 225 prisoners at East View, which adjoins the Rockefeller estate, are not locked in their cells ordinarily until 8 p.m. Tonight they had the freedom of the corridors as usual.

The four men made their way to the prison doctor's office, whence they sawed their way through the only bars that stood between them and freedom.

WHITE HOUSE ADDRESS OFFERED BY SUSPECT

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—Chicago police were curious and Washington police suspicious — all because Thomas Novotny, 47 years of age, who said he was head of the Slavic Union Alliance of America, gave his business address as "1604 Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C." This Pennsylvania-avenue number graces the White House entrance, hence the suspicion. Novotny is held for further investigation.

G.O.P. OPENS UP ON NORRIS AGAIN

Lucas Denounces Attack on Hoover as "Malicious"

Wood Compares Nebraskan to Progessive Crawfish

Howell Again Demands That Kentuckian Be Ousted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—The Republican attack on Senator Norris of Nebraska sharpened tonight in bristling statements that came from two party leaders.

Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican National Committee, described as "malicious" the Nebraska independent's statement indicating President Hoover was back of Lucas's anti-Norris drive.

A little later Representative Wood of Indiana, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, repeated that Norris is a "demagogue" and asserted he made his recent attack on the Nebraskan after a White House call about another matter and the President did not know he intended making it.

Meanwhile, Senator Howell, Norris's Republican colleague, renewed his demand that Lucas either be dismissed or that he resign.

CRAWFISH COMPARISON

In a statement through the national committee, Wood asserted that Norris proves he is a "demagogue when he repeats old campaign calumnies of the President which were worn threadbare and proven false a number of years ago.

"Senator Norris insists he is not a Democrat, but is a progressive. A crawfish also is progressive, but he always progresses backward."

Both Wood and Lucas said they have no quarrel with any other independent Republicans because they had supported the party's Presidential nominees. Norris campaigned for Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

"In view of Senator Norris's malicious statement attempting to embarrass the President by fastening upon him responsibility for my actions," Lucas said in a statement dictated to Republican national headquarters from his home in Louisville, "I wish to say again that neither the President nor anyone in the White House ever had any knowledge or were even consulted about my action in connection with Senator Norris."

"What I did," he added, "was solely and emphatically upon my own responsibility, and I was appointed by and am solely responsible to the Republican National Committee."

LEADERS SILENT

A similar view is held by Senate Republican leaders. However, they maintained strict silence.

Lucas issued two statements. The first, coming from Republican headquarters, was he had no quarrel with Senators Cutting, New Mexico; Howell, Nebraska; Nye, North Dakota, all identified with the independent wing, or any other Senator "who affiliated himself with the Republican party."

"With the exception of Norris, they all supported the Republican party and its nominees in 1928," he said, adding:

"Senator Norris, on the other hand, is in a class by himself. He denounced the nominee of the Republican convention at Kansas City in 1928. He threw his support to and made speeches for Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee.

"In the recent campaign I supported with all my heart every national Republican candidate except Senator Norris, because those candidates had remained loyal to the party in the campaign of 1928, and were entitled to my support and the support of all Republicans. I assisted the anti-Norris Republicans of Nebraska because Senator Norris had deserted them in 1928 and supported the Democratic party."

BORAH ANSWERED

In his second statement, dictated from Louisville, Lucas replied to Senator Borah's rejoinder of yesterday that Lucas and his supporters are the ones who should be thrown out of the Republican party instead of the independents.

"There is the greatest distinction in the world between Senator Borah and Senator Norris," Lucas said. "Senator Borah has ably and consistently supported Republican nominees for President; Senator Norris has opposed them. And this is exactly the basis of my opposition to Senator Norris."

Senator Howell insisted "as an official and acting head of the Republican National Committee," Lucas's conduct "has not only terminated his usefulness but constitutes him such a liability to the committee and President Hoover that he should be removed immediately by resignation or dismissal."

SECRECY CHARGED

Lucas, he continued, "would not openly father the literature which he sent to Nebraska against Senator Norris. He ordered the literature expressed anonymously. He warned the printer that his name should not be divulged and that there might be no tracer in the form of a check he paid for the literature in cash."

No comment was forthcoming from Senator Nye, who heads the campaign funds committee investigating the Nebraska campaign.

The committee has ordered that all December checks against the $40,000 special fund placed at Lucas's disposal by Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, be held by the local bank for its examination. It was this fund that was pledged as security for Lucas's $4000 personal note to finance a publicity drive against Norris. The checks will be examined after the holidays.

ADMIRERS GREET LUCAS IN LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 24. (AP)—Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican National Committee, whose testimony before the Senate campaign investigating committee last week made him the storm center of a controversy between regular and independent Republicans, came home for the holidays today. He was greeted by about 300 Louisville Republicans.

The reception was an informal one but the group included many leaders in local Republican politics. "We're for you, Bob," was the welcoming cry.

Mr. Lucas says he feels he has the support of "every true Republican."

MURDER OF WOMAN UNSOLVED MYSTERY

LAST-VETERAN LIFE GAUGED

Final Survivor of World War to Live Until 1985, According to Gen. Hines's Estimates

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—The last American veteran of the World War will live until 1985, and the last widow of a veteran will not die until 2058, if Veterans' Bureau calculations are correct.

This prediction, based on records of soldiers of previous wars, has been made by Brig.-Gen. Hines, veterans' administration, in estimating the great expenditures that will become necessary in future years to care for the ex-soldiers.

"Basing our estimates on the past twelve years," he said, "the indications are by the end of the fiscal year 1940, disbursements for all phases of veterans' relief will total more than $13,000,000,000."

The government, through the Veterans' Bureau, already has expended $5,000,000,000 for relief, he added.

Explaining necessity for planning relief work far in advance, the general cited Pension Bureau records showing the last survivor of the Revolution lived until April 5, 1869, and the last widow of a Revolutionary soldier died November 11, 1906.

The bureau expects the last veteran of the Civil War to die twenty-five years hence, but that the last widow of a soldier of that war will live until the close of the twentieth century.

Pensions now go out monthly to more than 500,000 persons; 300,000 receive disability compension, 146,000 dependents receive insurance payments and 17,000 totally disabled veterans draw monthly insurance checks.

TOMB OF RICH MAN GUARDED

Vandalism at Vanderbilt Grave Reported

NEWDOORP (Staten Island, New York) Dec. 24. (Exclusive)—Amid the erie surroundings of bleak, deserted Moravian Cemetery in Newdoorp, two uniformed private watchmen tonight kept a chilly, grisly Christmas vigil before the somber but majestic mausoleum which houses the bones of the long line of departed Vanderbilts. Their presence led to the disclosure that the peaceful sleep of old Commodore Vanderbilt and his sons recently had been disturbed.

Last Wednesday vandals, intent on rifling the tombs or perhaps planning to hold for ransom one of the bodies placed there, as happened years ago to the corpse of Alexander T. Stewart, merchant prince, smashed the Vanderbilt mausoleum portals and cut and desecrated the massive inner copper door. The vault was built by William H. Vanderbilt at a cost of $300,000. He died in 1885 and his body was placed in it.

TRAIL OF CZAR RELICS TRACED

Gen. Janin Relates How He Obtained Remains

Grewsome Find of Charred Flesh Described

Acid Used to Obliterate Royal Family

(Copyright, 1930, by Associated Press)

PARIS, Dec. 24. (AP)—In a letter written in his own hand Gen. Maurice Janin today gave the Associated Press a complete story of how the remains and relics of the Imperial Russian family came into his possession, how those intrusted with them were shadowed by Russian revolutionists, and how eventually they were brought safely out of the country.

From his chateau at Serre Izard, near Mens, in the Department of Isere, the aging general who was commander-in-chief of the Czech and Allied forces in Siberia during the World War, revealed the romance and intrigue which are told more fully in his forthcoming book about the adventure.

SEARCH BEGUN

"The imperial Russian family," he wrote, "had disappeared at Ekaterinburg on the night of July 16 or 17, 1918. On July 25 anti-Bolshevik forces grouped around the Czech troops occupied that town.

Pierre Gillard, former tutor of the young Czarevitch, was there and, with several others, he began a search of the vicinity to determine the fate of the Romanoffs. An examining magistrate named Serguief, who was replaced several months afterward by Nicholas Sokoloff, was designated to carry the investigation through.

"Little by little it was established who had committed the assassinations and how they had done it. Not far from Ekaterinburg the searchers discovered the place where the bodies had been dismembered and burned with the aid of sulphuric acid and gasoline.

FINGER FOUND

"In a mine pit they found bits of charred clothing, fragments of bone and a ring finger which was later partially identified as that of the Empress.

"During the Kolchak government Sokoloff continued his investigation despite the hostile attitude of certain ministers. He was assisted by Gen. Diedrichs until the general became commander-in-chief. I, too, often furnished assistance.

"In the autumn of 1919, when collapse of the government of Omsk became imminent, Sokoloff and I moved toward the east, taking with us everything he had discovered. He told me he wanted to reach Europe, and he traveled in a train protected by Allied troops. The next time I saw him was in March, 1920, at Harbin, where Gen. Diedrichs, after resigning as commander-in-chief, had established headquarters in the general retreat.

RELICS DELIVERED

"There was much uneasiness in the region and Diedrichs told me he wanted to get the Romanoff remains into the possession of the Grand Duke Nicholas as quickly as possible. He had asked British representatives to take charge of this material, but they were refused when they asked authority from their government."

It was then, Gen. Janin wrote, Gen. Diedrichs asked him to take charge of the relics, and he accepted out of his own friendship for the Czar.

"Diedrichs," the letter continued, "brought me three valises containing documents and various other objects in the night. It was dark and he said it had seemed to him and to those who accompanied him they had been discovered and followed. The next day he brought me a fourth valise, or, to speak more exactly, a strong box containing human remains."

REVISION OF LINES LOOMS FOR MEXICO

One New Territory and One State Provided in Revived Scheme

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 24. (AP)—The Mexican republic's twenty-eight States, two Territories and a Federal district will be increased by one State and one Territory if the Chamber of Deputies acts favorably on a revived 15-year-old plan for revising the constitution to alter boundaries.

The reform was inaugurated in 1915 by former President Venustiano Carranza and has been revived by the Senate which has sent the old matter to the Chamber for discussion. Sentiment is said to be favorable to the revision.

The plan would split the present Territory of Lower California at the twenty-eighth degree of latitude into two Territories, the Northern Territory of Lower California and the Southern Territory. At present Lower California is divided into districts with two Governors.

The new State would be created in the Isthmus of Tehuantepec and already has been named "Istmo." It would take its being from three States, the southern part of Vera Cruz, the western part of Tabasco and the southeastern tip of Oaxaca, and would be a lowland State, exceedingly rich for agricultural purposes.

Taft Estate's Taxes Heavy

CINCINNATI, Dec. 24. (AP)—An inheritance tax of $536,974.50 is to be paid to the State of Ohio through Judge Lueders of Probate Court next week by the estate of Charles P. Taft, former publisher of the Cincinnati Times-Star, it became known today.

The tax is exclusive of $134,136.80 which must be paid to the Federal government.

Total value of the estate for the State inheritance tax was fixed at $6,382,844.

SPADE REVEALS MAYAN SECRETS

Ancient City Found to Be Erected Over Others

Carnegie Excavators Learn of "Hick Towns"

Relics Show Life Before Birth of Christ

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (NANA) The record of one of the world's two great civilizations has been pushed back at least 1000 years by recent excavations under the principal square of the ancient Maya city of Uaxactun in Guatemala, the Carnegie Institution of Washington has announced.

Uaxactun is the oldest of the Maya cities the ruins of which have been uncovered, dating from approximately the time of Christ. It represents, according to Dr. A. V. Kidder of the Carnegie staff, a peak of the "corn civilization" of the New World as distinguished from the "wheat civilization," which arose about the Mediterranean. It was one of the magnificent, temple-adorned cities of the "old empire," when Maya culture in the arts and in astronomy reached its height.

CITY BUILT ON RUINS

The Carnegie archeologists found this year that Uaxactun itself had been built upon the site of an older settlement and further excavations showed layer after layer where new towns had been built on older towns, in much the same fashion as has been found in the Babylonian cities. Each layer shows a more primitive culture.

The houses of the older towns presumably were built of wood and the materials have disappeared. Foundations were found, however, and the spades of the excavators sank into the "rubbish heaps" of the ancient people—that is the debris from the temples and households which piled about the site and probably was used to fill up depressions for later buildings.

HICK-TOWN TRAIL

This, it was announced, furnishes a clue to the origins of the Mayas who, at the time of Uaxactun supremacy, were sophisticated "city folk," who had abandoned some of the practices and folk-ways of their ancestors. It opens a trail to the "hick towns" of the Maya empire, says Dr. Kidder, where people clung longer to the primitive ways. The early indication is that as much time elapsed between the first settlement on the site and the final abandonment of Uaxactun as from that time to the present.

At the older levels were found pottery fragments and significant clay figurines, presumably of the corn goddess, of a design similar to that found by Mexican archeologists in the rubbish heaps of the early people of the Guatemala highlands. The corn goddess figurine was practically coextensive with the corn civilization, being traced as far as the American southwest. The indication is that the ancient Mayas came originally out of the hills, where they already had attained an agricultural level of culture, to build up during the centuries the civilization which flowered in the temples of Uaxactun.

Carnegie excavators also have completed during the year the uncovering of a very early pyramidal structure, probably a great altar, which has been preserved for 2000 years in almost perfect condition by a later pyramid erected above and around it. It is built of stone, thickly coated with lime stucco. Its truncated top is reached by four flights of stairs, flanked by grotesque masks of heroic proportions.

It is described as "the most ancient example of ancient Maya architecture, which has so far come to light, and may be the only building of its period, which has escaped the ravages of time."

CURIOUS STRUCTURE

At the later Maya city of Chichen Itza in Northern Yucatan, established after the abandonment of Uaxactun and occupied until shortly before the coming of the Spaniards, the Carnegie archeologists this year have completed the excavation and repair of a curious, tower-like building, the Caracol. It is believed to have served both as a temple and an astronomical observatory.

The recorded history of the Mayas, says Dr. Kidder, begins only at about the time of Christ but before then they must have spent many centuries perfecting their material arts which, through ramification and diversion ultimately gave birth to all the higher developments in the New World before the coming of Columbus, including those of the Aztecs in Mexico. When the white men came, these highly civilized peoples already were falling under the domination of tribes from Central Mexico and had entered a period of decadence.

TEST OF DRY AMENDMENT MUST WAIT

Quick Hearing in Supreme Court Blocked by Action of Defense Attorney

NEWARK (N. J.) Dec. 24. (AP)—Frederick M. P. Pearse of counsel for William Sprague, whose indictment on charges of illegal transportation of beer was quashed by United States District Judge Clark, announced today he has declined to sign a waiver of jurisdiction. It was in this case Judge Clark held the Eighteenth Amendment invalid.

The effect of the lawyer's action will be to delay hearing of the appeal to the United States Supreme Court testing the amendment. Pearse said he wants more time to prepare his case for the Supreme Court. Had he signed the waiver the case would have been scheduled for argument in January. It is expected to take its normal position on the calendar for later hearing.

PARESIS CURES DETAILS TOLD

Malarial Fever Inoculation Effects Recoveries

Insane Patients Returned to Normal Lives

Success Attained in Large Percentage of Cases

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 24. (Exclusive)—Details of how victims of paresis are being cured here in a large percentage of cases by malarial fever inoculation were disclosed here tonight by Dr. Max A. Bahr, superintendent of the Central State Hospital for the Insane.

Of the 240 patients treated at the hospital since August 14, 1925, when use of the malarial germ was first instituted as a treatment for paresis, 29 per cent have been cured and discharged from the institution to return to their former occupations and environment.

Patients still in the hospital, many of them much improved in condition, make up 40 per cent of the total number treated. Death during or following the malarial treatment accounted for the other 31 per cent. In the latter division death was in no case due to the inoculated malaria, Dr. Bahr said.

ESTIMATE ON COTTON CROP MADE

Total of 40,000 Bales for California and 2,000,000 for National Co-operative

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 24.—A total of 40,000 bales of California cotton will be handled this season for members of the California Cotton Co-operative, while the national organization will dispose of 2,000,000 bales before the season is over, according to the prediction of C. C. Selden, as manager for the California unit of the co-operative.

Selden said that there are 590 members in this State and that 31,300 bales have been handled to date.

In handling this cotton the co-operative is not permitted to charge more than $2.50 a bale, of which $1.50 goes to the local co-operative and $1 to the national organization.

DEATH OF SON KILLS MOTHER

Tragedy on Christmas Eve in Tilden Botts Family

Warren Botts Dies Suddenly in Physician's Office

Mrs. Botts Hears News on Phone and Succumbs

FRESNO, Dec. 24. (Exclusive)—Tragedy stalked today into the joyous Yuletide preparations of the Tilden H. Botts family here, and instead of the gay family party tomorrow there will be only sadness and grief for Botts and his sons and daughters.

Death today claimed two members of the family, the mother and a son, within a few minutes of one another.

Striking with unexpected suddenness, death took Warren Botts, 25 years of age, a railroad brakeman, as he awaited in a physician's office for a consultation with the family doctor.

When it was found that he was beyond medical aid, a nurse in the office of Dr. George H. Sciaroni was charged with the mission of breaking the sad news to the family. She called the residence on the telephone, and told Mrs. Annie Botts, 47, the mother, and ten minutes later Mrs. Botts was dead from a heart attack brought on by the shock of the message that she received, as she stood in the room with a Christmas tree, surrounded by gifts.

After receiving the message, Mrs. Botts rushed into the yard where her husband, who is a county employee, was working on his automobile. As she reached him she fainted and he took her into the house, but she succumbed before physicians who were summoned could reach the house.

In addition to the husband and father, there are five other children, Glenn, Tom, George, Dan and Eunice Botts, all of this city. Mrs. Botts also leaves two brothers and two sisters, David Burnham of Fresno and John Burnham of Dinuba, and Mrs. Sadie McCain of Visalia, and Pluma Philbrick of Napa.

Pyle Released in Drunk Case

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—The man arrested here last night as C. C. Pyle, who at first was identified as the famous sports promoter and who later said he was C. C. Pyle of San Bernardino, was freed today in Police Court, where he appeared to answer a charge of intoxication.

A second charge, of evading payment of taxicab fare, was dropped when he settled the bill.

Because of the coincidence of names and of apparent similarity in appearance the prisoner was said to be the noted promoter of sports, but later proved that he was not.

SEVEN PERSONS SAVED FROM SINKING BARGES

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Seven persons, including two women and a child, were safely removed from three barges today before the boats sank after a collision in the harbor with the Furness-Red Cross steamer Dominica. The crash occurred during a snowstorm. The rescues were made by the tug Ashbourne, which had the string of coal-laden barges in tow.

LAGGARD PLANE JOINS ITALY AIR SQUADRON

VILLA CISNEROS (Rio de Oro, Portuguese West Africa) Dec. 24. (AP)—The fourteenth plane of Italy's trans-Atlantic flight squadron, which was left behind at Kenitra when the main body of the fleet came here yesterday, joined the other ships today, having completed minor repairs.

DEATH TAKES NOTED CARNIVAL FAT MAN

PORTLAND (Ind.) Dec. 24. (AP)—George Butterworth, 60 years of age, reputed to be one of the world's fattest men, died at his home here today following a paralytic stroke. He was said to have weighed nearly 500 pounds. He had traveled with show and carnival troupes.

DRY ANNIVERSARY TO BE CELEBRATED

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—The eleventh anniversary of national prohibition will be celebrated January 16, next, by the W.C.T.U. with 10,000 programs in all parts of the country. The keynote will be "observation and enforcement—not repeal," Mrs. Ella Boole, president, said.

EDISON'S DINNER TODAY SIMPLE

Crackers and Milk Will Be Diet While Family Has Christmas Repast

WEST ORANGE (N. J.) Dec. 24. (AP)—Thomas A. Edison is going to have crackers and milk for Christmas dinner.

He will eat that frugal fare while relatives sit at the dining table at Glenmont, his estate, and indulge in a regulation Christmas dinner prepared under the direction of Mrs. Edison.

The elderly inventor reserved all expressions of good cheer for a family reunion which will take place tomorrow. He plans to "play" with his grandchildren for a while and then back he goes to his study, where a stack of technical journals await him.

CHRISTMAS MISS HAS GREETING FOR NAME

Merry Christmas Clause

ALBION (Ind.) Dec. 2.. (Exclusive)—Merry Christmas Clause has nothing to do with a contract, even if it does sound like it. Merry Christmas Clause simply expresses the joy received by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Clause of this city when they became parents of a girl on Christmas Day nineteen years ago. Casting about for a suitable name for the new arrival, they decided to name her after the day. And, too, with the name, Merry Christmas, there's no trouble about remembering the girl's date of birth.

Yule Greeting in Germany Tinged With Politics

BERLIN, Dec. 24. (AP)—The Christmas greetings of Adolf Hitler, Fascist chieftain, and Prince Eitel Friedrich, second son of the former Kaiser, had a political tinge as published today.

To a symposium printed by the extreme National newspaper Deutsche Zeitung, Hitler contributed as follows:

"My most joyful Christmas shall be when I can celebrate it at last in a completely liberated Germany."

Said Eitel Friedrich:

"The soldiers who served at the front are still waiting for a true German Christmas. May the coming year bring the whole German nation to realize what the Steel Helmet Organization (comprised of soldiers who served in the trenches) has always contended—namely, that only a nation which can fight can live."

Jugo-Slav Rails Control Changed

BELGRADE (Jugo-Slavia) Dec. 24. (AP)—King Alexander today decided to turn Jugo-Slavia railways over to a military strategist and appointed Gen. Biagonjevitch of the artillery as inspector-general.

This action was interpreted in some quarters as a means to tighten the grip on national communications so they might be better prepared for military service if the need arises.

ESPEE WORKERS TO RESUME FULL TIME

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 24. (AP)—The Sacramento Union will quote officials of the local Southern Pacific Company headquarters tomorrow as saying approximately 10,000 shop and maintenance employees of the railroad's northern district are to return to work January 5 on a full-time basis. The men have been working for two months on part-time shifts of three days a week. Two ten-day lay-offs were put in effect during that period.

HOTEL STRIKE SENDS CANADA CONVENTION

CLEVELAND, Dec. 24. (AP)—Because of a strike of union employees in four leading downtown hotels, the triennial convention of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and enginemen has been transferred from Cleveland to Toronto. The meeting will last through the month of June.

JUDGE DISCHARGES MURDER-CASE JURY

ST. ANTHONY (Idaho) Dec. 24. (AP)—The jury in the trial of Miss Jennie Bishop, middle-aged spinster charged with the murder of David L. Jenkins, was discharged at 4 p.m. today by District Judge Taylor after it reported inability to reach an agreement. The case was continued for retrial.

DUCE PLAYS SANTA TO ITALY'S NEEDY

ROME, Dec. 24. (AP)—Premier Mussolini, in the role of Santa Claus, has distributed among Italy's needy 500,000 lire, or about $26,315 worth of Christmas cheer. The fund was placed at his disposal by an anonymous industrial leader of Milan.

HONEYMOON COUPLE INJURED IN CRASH

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24 (AP)—Sherwood Scott, 30 years of age, San Francisco bridegroom of two weeks, was injured perhaps fatally tonight and his bride, Marie, 18, was burned and bruised when their automobile upset on a sand dune.

YULE PROGRAM IN PARK TODAY

Message From Hoover to Be Read at Gen. Grant Tree

GEN. GRANT NATIONAL PARK, Dec. 24.—Road conditions into the park for the sixth annual nation's Christmas tree program at the foot of the Gen. Grant tree tomorrow noon are "almost perfect," according to Guy Hopping, assistant superintendent. No chains are needed on approach roads to the park or within its boundaries.

Parking grounds both at headquarters and at the giant grove of big trees are free of snow. Early morning drivers, however, are urged to use caution in the foothills on curves, as heavy frost makes the roads slippery or fog makes care necessary. There has been no fog in the park recently, however.

No entrance fee will be collected from cars during the day. Opening at high noon the program includes Christmas carols by a vested choir, yule tableaux featuring the "Three Wise Men" and "Ancient Christmas." Messages will be read from President Hoover, Gov. Young and Governor-elect Rolph.

A feature song will be "My Gift for You," composed by Charles Wakefield Cadman beneath Gen. Grant tree.

Great piles of wood are ready for the bonfires 'round which the crowd will gather for luncheon and the ceremonies.

Any changes in weather or road conditions will be telephoned from park officials to automobile clubs and travel agencies.

This year's celebration is expected to be one of the best in history.

FLYER DROPS TREE FOR YOUNGSTERS IN DESERT

SPOKANE, Dec. 24. (AP)—A group of youngsters in a little community somewhere in the desert near the Utah-Idaho line have what probably is their first Christmas tree today. It came out of the sky to them.

Jack O'Brien, Varney air mail pilot, told about it tonight as he finished his run.

Last fall, O'Brien said, he struck up an acquaintance with the youngsters and their schoolteacher. It got so that every time he approached the little group would be out on the grounds waiting to wave as he flew past. He acknowledged the greeting by dipping the wings of his great plane.

He doesn't know the name of the community, he said. It is so small that he hasn't found it on the maps, but it is in the middle of a monotonous expanse of sagebrush, miles and miles from any tree.

Some one sent him a Christmas tree the other day, and he at once thought of his friends in the desert, most of whom probably had never seen a real Christmas tree. So he loaded it into the mail compartment of his plane as he started south.

The school yard was deserted yesterday as he flew over. He circled the building twice and gave his motor "the gun." The roar could be heard for miles in the frosty air. The youngsters and their teacher hastened out of the building and started their waving.

At 500 feet above the yard, he released the tree. It was not damaged in landing.

MANY JEWS ENTER PALESTINE IN YEAR

LONDON, Dec. 24. (AP)—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency learns that a total of 5883 Jews entered Palestine during the Jewish year 5690 (October 1, 1929, to September 30, 1930.)

Midwestern Stars Collide With Local Team

Kid Players Will Do Stuff Between Halves

BY FRANK ROCHE

E. O. BARNETT

North Dakota University Flying Flickertails and the Los Angeles Fire Department football team hold down the spotlight this afternoon at the Coliseum. These two teams line up at 2 p.m. on Mr. Zack Farmer's well-groomed gridiron in an intersectional game that should provide a good deal of excitement for local fans if the advance agents are anywhere near correct.

The North Dakota players coached by Jack West promise to put on a performance that will be far too hot for the Firemen to handle. The Hook and Ladder boys, coached by Bill Blewett of California University fame, claim they will quench that idea early in the game and romp on to a victory by a decisive score.

The Nodaks have lost but three games in three years. In addition they have scored on every team they have played this season Their outstanding star, Glen (Red) Jarrett, is said to be the equal of any player in the country at quarterback with the exception of Carideo and Dodd.

Jarrett has run wild this season on the gridiron. He was so good in the Army game at West Point that Right Wing, well-known eastern sports expert, picked him on his all-American team.

Coach West points out that his

Mr. "Hunk" Anderson, the Notre Dame coach, was no less secretive about the movements of his Irishmen. He locked the doors and windows at the Coliseum and went his ways without benefit of scrutiny.

Hence, it is little less than logical to presume, first, that something is in the wind; and, second, that neither coach is unimpressed with the other, the other team or the

Nellie Custis Favorite in Christmas Day Stake

AGUA CALIENTE (Baja California) Dec. 24.—Blaring blasts of the bugle, the time-worn call to arms of the turf, will sound down the valley of the Tia Juana again tomorrow afternoon as the second annual winter race meeting of the Agua Caliente Country Club gets under way.

The old bugle call has been heard for many years in the valley of the Tia Juana. From 1916 until a year ago, it was heard on the far banks of the stream, but for the 1929 season, the "big three," Wirt G. Bowman, president of the Agua Caliente interests; Baron Long and James N. Crofton constructed a $2,500,000 palace de thoroughbred at Agua Caliente. The $170,000 added money for stakes offered this winter, most of it in the $100,000 added Agua Caliente Handicap, which will be run next March, has attracted a fine class of thoroughbreds. More than 1000 now are stalled on Crofton Hill waiting the opening.

CRACK FIELD

A field of ten will meet in the Christmas Day Handicap, the headline feature of the opening program. The Christmas Day Handicap is a six-furlong sprint for three-year-olds and older for a purse of $1500.

Denny, president of the University of Alabama, will be on the air. This is his third trip to the Pacific Coast with the Crimson Tide. SAN FRANCISCO ALL-STAR TEAMS READY FOR GAME

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24. (AP)—Football stars who will compete in the annual East-West charity game here Saturday rushed through intensive workouts today while coaches of the respective teams announced probable starting line-ups.

The Westerners, coached by Percy Locey, of the San Francisco Olympic Club and Dana X. Bible of Nebraska, practiced mainly on a passing attack. The aerial game will be their chief method of offense, an eight-pound weight advantage to the man on the other side leaving no alternative.

At Stanford University, where the eastern squad is working out, Coaches Andy Kerr and Dick Hanley continued to concentrate on the Warner system of play, one of wing-back formations.

A pair of guards, Ted Beckett of California and Barton Koch of Baylor University, were named today as cocaptains for the West. The eastern team will not name a leader until Friday.

Probable starting line-ups:

BEN GORCHAKOFF BECOMES BENEDICT

Ben Gorchakoff, former national intercollegiate tennis champion, was married yesterday to Miss Katherine Coger, Trojan graduate, by Judge Crawford. Last night sixty-five guests paid honor to the newlyweds at the home of Albert E. Coger, the bride's father, at 1931 Thirty-sixth Place. A wedding dinner will be given the pair tomorrow by Mrs. Charles Severyns.

Ben and his bride are planning a honeymoon tour of Northern California and will return to make their home in San Jose. Gorchakoff is a graduate of Occidental, where he played varsity tennis for three years, being captain in his senior year. The bride is a member of Delta Zeta Sorority at S.C.

SOCCERITES MIX FOR ALL-STAR PLACES

Forty-four of the outstanding soccer players of the City League will vie for places today on the loop's all-star team that will perform January 4 at San Francisco. The teams that will perform are the Vikings vs. the Magyars and the Scots vs. the Sons of St. George.

All of the teams in the league will be represented under these colors this afternoon, it was announced. The best eleven men on the field will be selected after the games. It is a sure bet that every man on the field will be doing his stuff to perfection as it is a marked distinction to be picked on the all-star outfit.

KNUTE MUM ON FUTURE GRID PLANS

Family Arrives to Spend Christmas Quietly With Rockne at Rochester

ROCHESTER (Minn.) Dec. 24. (AP) Still reticent as to his plans for the future, Knute Rockne of Notre Dame rested on advice of his physician tonight and prepared to celebrate Christmas Day quietly with his family.

KNUTE ROCKNE

Mrs. Rockne and their four children, three boys and a girl, arrived here today to spend the holiday quietly with the coach who is under doctor's orders to "rest." Rockne is not ill; merely tired—almost to the point of exhaustion and has been ordered to conserve his energy.

Although the South Bend coach declined to answer questions as to whether he would attend the football game Saturday at Los Angeles between Notre Dame stars and a West-South eleven, he has made no plans for the trip. His physician, Dr. C. J. Barborka, advised against the journey.

Despite orders to forsake all activities aside from coaching football, Rockne revealed today that he has at least one more speaking engagement to fill—an address at a Knights of Columbus dinner here December 29. He is expected to leave for South Bend the next day.

Local ice hockey fans are in for a rare treat tonight at the Winter Garden, when the league-leading Shell Oil Tigers clash with the Sunfreze Bears in a Christmas ice hockey clash. The Bears have everything to gain and little to lose by a victory this evening. A win for them takes them from the bottom of the loop to second place. That is how close the four clubs are bunched up in the local league.

The Bears should show to better advantage by the addition of Louis Weber, a very good hockey player from St. Paul. Weber holds down the center berth and should be able to snag the odd goal when needed most.

Manager "Doc" Claman of the Oilers has had his sextet on top for several weeks, and has the squad playing a good brand of hockey. Lefty Comber, his captain, has been one of the mainstays of the club, and with Menue, Gilcrest, Mason and Wells they form one of the best-balanced hockey clubs on the Coast.

TIDE HAS MORE POWER THAN COUGAR ELEVEN

Survey Shows Southern Team Powerful Club

BY BRAVEN DYER

Weight and speed, when forged into one link, constitute sheer power and that's what Alabama will throw against Washington State at the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. It is extremely doubtful if the Cougars, despite their all-around strength, can match the Tide in avoirdupois, and even with all this bulk it appears that Wallace Wade's athletes will flash just as much speed as the man-eating Cougars from Pullman.

CARL ELLINGSEN

These are the observations of the writer following a trip to both training camps yesterday afternoon. Alabama was seen first and a half hour later Babe Hollingbery's boys were subjected to the closest scrutiny yours truly was able to muster.

Alabama has a powerful line composed of two giants, four large men and one medium-sized individual. Washington State possesses a fine forward wall which features one giant, three large men and three medium-sized chaps.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

As for the respective backfields there is little to choose between the two combinations except that Alabama's ball carriers are of the squat, low-running type as against Washington State's taller and more lean players.

The difference in the weight of the two teams is not enough in itself to sink the Cougars. Washington State is big enough to take care of itself at any time. But if the southerners, with their poundage advantage, should play inspired, vicious football and Washington State play at her peak then I believe Alabama would win. This conclusion is reached because of the belief that the Tide, playing at its best, would stop Washington State's running attack and thus go a long ways toward nullifying Babe Hollingbery's offense.

However, if the big Alabama line

Necks, Hands and Legs of Tide Impress

BY PAUL LOWRY

The legs have it. Also the necks. And the hands.

That means that to the red elephant of Alabama goes the pre-New Year's Day game edge.

In these three points of physical pulchritude the football boys Coach Wallace Wade brought from dear old Tuscaloosa have it over their noble rivals from Washington State like a tent.

JOHN SUTHER

There may be a difference of opinion in some quarters, but your correspondent will stick to his guns after a survey of both camps yesterday afternoon.

I hereby nominate Mr. Suther of Alabama for the neck championship.

He has one of those seventeen-inch affairs that Tom Lieb talks about as the first mark of a real football player.

HAS HUGE HANDS

Mr. Clement, captain of the red elephants, wins all awards for the size of his hands. They are not as big as hams. They are bigger.

And Mr. McRight of Alabama gets the bid for the biggest legs. They look like pistons with muscles like pine knots.

Against this array of gents belonging to the Alabama camp I can find none in the Washington State camp to touch them in the attributes of hands, legs and necks.

Edwards, the big Washington State tackle, is probably the bulkiest man on either squad, but it looks as if he is the only one on his squad that won't be outweighed by counterparts on the meaty Alabama squad.

Sington and Capt. Clement are both big fellows who won't fall far below Edwards's weight, and they say Sington has weighed as high as 240 pounds, but that his best poundage at present is around a mere 215 pounds. Alskog, the other Cougar first-string tackle, is just a little 200-pound fellow.

The Alabama side line observers

Melva Roquet Upsets Carolin Babcock in Midwinter Tennis Classic at Palom

FAIR RACKETER ENTERS FINALS

Dorothy Workman Defeats Ruby Bishop at Nets

Billy Doeg Beats Patterson in Junior Finals

Favorites Triumph in Men's Singles Event

Scoring her fourth straight unexpected victory, Melva Roquet today entered the finals of the junior girls' singles of the first annual Southern California midwinter tennis championships, which are being held on the Palomar Tennis Club courts in the Cheviot Hills. Miss Roquet upset Carolin Babcock, Beverly Hills open junior girls' champion and the second seeded star, in her semifinal encounter yesterday by scores of 6-4, 6-2.

Finalists in the other two junior events were determined yesterday also, as all favorites triumphed. Dorothy Workman had more trouble than was anticipated in her match with Ruby Bishop, Pasadena star, but finally won after three sets, 6-0, 3-6, 7-5. Miss Bishop had the odd game in the last set and was expected to score another upset, but Miss Workman pulled out after a battle.

Billy Doeg, seeded first in the junior boys' singles, got revenge for the defeat he took from Leonard Patterson in the Beverly Hills junior finals. He downed the Hollywood High star in two deuce-sets, 9-7, 7-5, to enter the finals along with Jay Cohn. Finals in the three junior events will be played Friday and Saturday.

The men's singles opened today with the favorites coming through per schedule. Sidney B. Wood, Jr., seeded first, won as he pleased from Nate Miller, 6-2, 6-1, as did most other seeded players. Matches in the men's doubles are to get under way today, and will be played along with the men's singles in the morning only. The seeded combinations in the doubles are, in their respective order, Sidney Wood and Phil Neer, Ellsworth Vines and Ray Casey, Jack Tidball and Elbert Lewis, Dick Lusch and Keith Werner, Dolf Muehleisen and Ted Easton, Phil Hanna and Lester Stoefen, Charles Weesner and Harry Plymire, Gerald Bartosh and Clay Mahoney. STAR ELEVENS TAKE IT EASY game in general. It may not be a college game, with all the jimcracks of collegiate rivalry to stir the partisan interests of the fans. But so far as the rival coaches and teams are concerned, it's as important as though the prestige of nations were at stake.

What transpired behind the barred doors of the Coliseum and Spaulding Field only heaven and fifty-odd athletes can say. That both teams went through important workouts, running the full repertoire of plays, is certain. Phelan and Anderson both announced previously that scrimmages were in the offing. Both coaches probably tried out their respective offensive and defensive formations against honest opposition.

Joe Savoldi, the powerhouse of the Notre Dame line attack, and the man who was good enough to keep Mullins on the bench, who, in turn, was good enough to beat out "Bucky" O'Connor, who, in his turn, was good enough to run riot through the whole Trojan team—went back to his old job at fullback.

Despite the glittering galaxy of stars who will be on the field at the same time, it is probable that the gigantic Italian will be the biggest sensation local football observers have ever seen.

HIGHLY PLEASED

Phelan and his athletes are highly pleased over the fact that the prestige and popularity of their rivals has usurped the spotlight of public opinion with regard to the game. The old psychology angle, which gives the under dog power and sometimes points for no other reason than because he is the under dog, is expected to work in the case of the West-South eleven.

"The more they talk about Notre Dame the better we like it," Phelan said yesterday. "We'll say it with touchdowns on Saturday."

TIDE POWERFUL ELEVEN

is the least bit sluggish the Cougars are men enough to win the ball game. It therefore narrows down to a question of condition. With both teams in perfect shape, and they ought to be, Alabama appears to have too much power for the Cougars.

All this, however, does not take into account the forward pass, which, if yesterday's indications mean anything, will be extensively employed by both teams. And once two football squads starting heaving the pigskin around anything can happen.

Comparing the lines reveals a weight superiority for Alabama. Mind you, I am not talking figures, either my own or those supplied by publicity men of the two institutions. These are my impressions after studying the respective players at close range.

'BAMA ENDS HEAVIER

Moore and Elmore, 'Bama ends, will outweigh John Hurley and Maskell considerably, maybe ten pounds per man. The Tide players are big men, more like tackles, and their subs, Ben Smith and Dothrow are even larger. John Hurley is tall, six feet three inches, and, therefore, a great threat when Hollingbery employs an aerial attack. But John is a regular string bean and how he will stand up under Alabama's running attack remains to be seen. Maskell is stocky and well built, but won't approach the weight of any of the Tide wingmen. S. Hansen and Hill, sub Cougar ends, are more meaty and they play about as much football as the other two, but the two reserves won't measure up in weight to Smith or Dothrow.

Sington and Clement, two giants, will outweigh Edwards and Ahlskog and I don't care what the weight charts say. Edwards, reputed to weigh 238 pounds, does not look one ounce bigger than Capt. Clement of the Tide. He may be, but he doesn't look it and if he is it isn't enough to shout about. Ahlskog is a 200-pounder and as such will give away avoirdupois to Sington. Therefore, 'Bama has the edge both at end and tackle in the matter of weight.

George Hurley is bigger than either Miller or Howard, Tide guards, while Parodi of the Cougars is about on a par with Howard. Parodi is the smallest man in the W.S.C. line, while Howard is the midget of the southern wall. Hurley weighs 200 and looks tough. Neither of the Alabama guards is as impressive looking as this chap. But Wallace Wade has an ace-in-the-hole shift which sends Sington to guard and Godfrey, a competent sub, to tackle. This plan can be followed if necessary.

HEIN GREAT

Mel Hein, Washington State's great center and I say great from observation and not hearsay, will give away weight to Eberdt, probably ten or more pounds. But nobody worries much agout Hein, for he's one of the country's outstanding linemen. Should Wade put Sington in at guard, however, there is sure to be a lot of fireworks between Freddie and Hein.

In the matter of reserve linemen I would say that Alabama has it all over the Cougars, except at the ends. Southern newspaper men here with the Tide claim that there is little or no difference between Wade's first-string wall and his reserves.

Elmer Schwartz at 196 pounds is the behemoth of the Cougar backfield and he's tough and capable, particularly on the defensive. But Elmer the Great, physically, is no more impressive than McRight, Alabama's blocking back, who weighs all of 190 pounds, no matter what Alabama fans tell you. Of course, Schwartz carries the ball a lot and McRight never does. But somebody has to block and they say that the 'Bama battering-ram is a terror.

Bill Tonkin, skipper of the Cougars, is considerably smaller than anybody in the Tide backfield. Campbell is the lightest of the Alabama backs, but he is far more rugged than the W.S.C. signal caller.

Where Carl Ellingsen and Parter Lainhart are taller than John Henry Suther and Hurry Cain, the 'Bama backs are far more powerfully built. Suther's neck, mentioned yesterday, has not diminished since his arrival in Southern California, while his piano legs should make him a hard man to bring down.

SPINDLE-LEGGED PLAYERS

In the matter of limbs Alabama has it all over the Cougars. Mel Hein is positively spindle-legged, as is Parodi, while there are no such slim legs among the Alabama regulars.

Cain, for all they have said about his kicking ability, will probably have to bow to Ellingsen in this department. The Pullman boy is a great punter, but the southerners expect to block a couple of punts on him, particularly if he fools around with that quick kick.

In the matter of passing Cain and Moore of the Tide and Ellingsen of the Cougars are brilliant tossers. Should the teams open up in this department fans will see some great throwing. Speed and accuracy are combined and the three men mentioned need not bow to any heavers that have appeared here.

Take all the foregoing for whatever it may be worth, if anything. At any rate it may help acquaint you with the various players, whether or not the conclusions reached are borne out New Year's Day.

NECKS, HANDS AND LEGS OF TIDE STARS IMPRESS

also say that Sington outweighs Clement.

I wouldn't bet a thin dime on that statement.

Clement is taller, is just as thick and broad and has more meat in his hands and feet.

Neither of the Washington State guards, Parodi and G. Hurley, will match Miller and Howard of Alabama in size although the discrepancy is not great.

LEG PUZZLES

Hein, the Washington State center who is the apple of Coach Babe Hollingbery's eye, and an all-American on many teams, may outweigh Ebert of Alabama, but it is doubtful.

There are a couple of leg puzzles in that Washington State line.

One is Hein; the other is Parodi.

Both have pipe-stem legs.

They don't look like drivers from the knees down.

You'd suspect Hein of being a darn good end with his reach and legs. He is at least six feet two inches tall.

However, you never can tell about these things.

As Parodi, the Italian guard, remarked as Hein bent over the ball: "There's enough room between your legs for both me and Hurley."

There is not a great deal of difference in the ends.

J. Hurley of Washington State is tall. So is Moore of Alabama. Maskell of W.S.C. is short and chunky. Smith of Alabama is solid on a taller scale.

Schwartz, the bulky Washington State fullback, is the only man in the Cougar backfield who will have an edge in weight over the Alabamans.

TOP COUGAR BACKS

Suther, Campbell and Cain, the latter the only sophomore on the Alabama squad, will top Ellingsen, Tonkin and Lainhart.

These pregame advantages that are Alabama's may not mean a thing when the battle is played.

But they are apparent to at least one pair of naked eyes.

This is the best team of three that Alabama ever brought to the Coast.

Make no mistake about that.

Even Coach Wade will admit that.

The other Alabama teams that came west were built around a couple of stars. It was Pooley Hubert and Johnny Mack Brown in the 1926 New Year Day's game, and in the 1927 game Wu Winslett and Capt. Pickard.

This year's team has a better balanced line and a smoother working backfield, plus the best reserves Alabama ever had.

Wade likens it in some respects to the Georgia Tech team that beat California, 8 to 7, two years ago.

"Tech had a team of well-rounded players with no outstanding stars," he says.

But back of that remark you can read Wade's mind.

The 1930 Alabama team is so superior to the Georgia Tech team there is no comparison.

Mr. Babe Hollingbery swallows that statement and makes no wry faces.

"There'll be a football game at the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day," he comments.

ACTION GALORE ON CARD PROMISED

Announcement that the all-star amateur boxing bouts, ten in number, to be presented on the charity program for the benefit of the unemployed at the Pasadena Arena tomorrow night will result in an evening of the greatest action ever seen in the Crown City, is the prediction of fight fans who have looked over the lads as they are training.

SAVOLDI EXPLAINS STATEMENTS

"Jumping Joe" Says Cold Cash and Experience Makes Pro Football Players Cleaner Athletes Than Hot-Headed College Athletes, Who Are Usually Excited

BY CHICK HANSON

Hot youth on the one side and cold cash combined with experience on the other gives the reason why professional football is a cleaner game than collegiate football, in the opinion of Joe Savoldi, Notre Dame's famous former all-American fullback who is in Los Angeles for an all-star charity game Saturday.

JOE SAVOLDI.

It was not precisely in those words that "Jumping Joe" characterized the difference between the two games when asked to enlarge on his former statement that he had found the professional game cleaner than the game the boys play in college. But, boiled down, that was the essence of it.

"Take your college players," he said as he propped himself with his elbow on the bed and perched his spat-clad shoes on the spread, "and they are tremendously excited in playing the game, unless they are veteran players. They are so anxious to win that in their enthusiasm they get pretty rough some times.

"Say, I've got plenty of fists in the face carrying the ball through the line in the college games I've played," he said as he smiled through a cloud of cigarette smoke.

"Would you care to name the teams or the players you recall as playing dirty football?"

FISTS FLY

"No, I wouldn't want to name any players, because that would only start a row, but as to games—sure. I recall that there was plenty of fists let loose at us in the Carnegie Tech game this year. That was about the roughest game we had. There were others, even down to little Indiana."

"What tactics were resorted to in dirty playing?"

"Fists mostly. You know when you come through the line" — and here he hopped off the bed and started "coming" through the line. And then, quick as a flash, he was one of the opposing backfield, coming in to block the play, and he drew his right arm back, hand open, palm down, but as he brought the arm up on a big swing he clenched his fist and showed how the "dirt" was put into the play.

"Mebbe you can't see it very good from the outside, but you can feel it plenty when you are on the receiving end."

"And what do you do then?" he was asked.

"You just come up smiling!" he exclaimed with a big grin, and reclined again on the bed in his dark blue suit.

"You are trained by a man like Rockne and others to 'take it' smiling. If you can do that, and stay with it, the other fellow—" here a characteristic shrug of the shoulder—well, he just says, "What's the use of trying to beat a fellow like that?"

"It's just overenthusiasm on the part of the young player. He is put up against a big player who has been advertised and he says, 'Humph! all-American, eh? Well, we'll see!' And another thing, the young player is so anxious to win that he is excited. He does not mean to play dirty. He doesn't realize that he is, perhaps.

VETERANS CLEAN

"I want to say, too, that dirty playing is not due to the coaches. I never knew of a coach that would permit it. And I have also noticed that the players older in the game are cleaner players. It is the old heads in the game that are the cleanest players. That is one of the big reasons why the professional players are cleaner. They are more experienced. They are not so excited. They don't loose their heads. And another thing, they know it would not pay them financially. Suppose they ganged up on a star player who was a big drawing card for the public and hurt him, and put him out the game. The next Sunday you wouldn't have as big a crowd out to see the game with one of the best players out of the game. It is not only a matter of experience but of good business with the professional.

"I want to tell you something," he said as he got up and walked over to the dresser. "In the month and a half that I have been playing professional, I have learned more about the human side of football—the reactions of the human elements in the game from both the players' viewpoint and the spectators, than I learned in all the years I played college football. I am not speaking of the technique of the game. And I've learned a great many more things about life. You can see it all better when you get out of college.

"I'm not saying all these things in favor of professional football just because I am in the 'racket.' It is just because I have had my eyes opened."

NAVY LAUDED

As to the cleanest teams he met, Savoldi said the Navy team played about the cleanest game he was in last season. Southern Methodist was another clean bunch to play against. About the toughest game Notre Dame played last season, he thought, was the game against Northwestern University.

Savoldi, to the layman meeting him on the street, is as big as the proverbial ox. He has neck and shoulders on him that would seem to put an ordinary ox to shame. He has bushy, curly jet-black hair, a smile and a very pleasing way. And anyone who doesn't think Joe Savoldi is smart, alert, and observing ought to sit down and talk to him for about five minutes and get a surprise.

SMOKE-EATERS IN LIMELIGHT

players scored more yards from scrimmage against the Army than Yale, Harvard, Swarthmore, Boston University and Furman did all combined. The Flickertails made nine first downs against the Army team.

Besides Jarrett, the Nodaks have a number of other stars. John Burma at fullback is one boy that should steal a lot of the thunder at the Coliseum today, West states. This 190-pounder is a ten-second man in the sprints and he hits the line like a ton of brick, the Nodack attaches declare. Curt Schave and Lloyd Richmond, two halfbacks, are also stars in their own right, West points out.

West is a keen student of football. He came from a small college in the Midwest, but he has made a real business of coaching with the result that his teams are the talk of the grid world at the present time. The Nodaks use the Warner style of play on offense with a passing attack that has been invented by West. They sprinkle laterals and forwards all over the greensward when they get moving toward the rival goal line.

Bill Blewett, fire department mentor, boasts a fine aggregation this season. On his team are such well-know players as Don Moses, former Trojan ace; Tiny Artman of Stanford, Boots Byers of De Paul University, Jimmy Dyer of Oregon State and other crack college stars of the dim past.

Blewett's team has won nine games and lost one this season. they have run up 328 points on their rivals. Such teams as San Jose State College, Arizona State College, West Coast Army, Submarine Basers, Oneonta Military Academy, U.S.S. California, Santa Barbara American Legion, San Diego Marines and the Arroyo Grande players have fallen before the onslaught of the Smoke-Eaters.

Blewett switched his plans at the last minute about his starting line-up and announced he would start Jimmy Dyer at fullback in place of Moses and Evo Pusich at halfback in Boots Byers's position. The Flames's coach evidently will launch a passing attack to offset the Nodak system in that direction.

Cougar Coach Says His Team Near Top Form

BY BABE HOLLINGBERY
Head Coach Washington State Cougars, Pacific Coast Champions

PASADENA, Dec. 24.—My squad had its first strenuous practice since ariving here, and the showing was enough to indicate that the boys need very little more tough work before reaching excellent shape.

It is my intention to complete the week with a work-out Christmas morning, hard practices on Friday and Saturday and again on Monday and Tuesday, and a taper-off Wednesday. There will be no work-out Sunday.

I find it most difficult to hold any degree of secret practice at Tournament Park, and if better arrangements cannot be made to keep spectators off the field, it will be necessary for us to finish our training schedule elsewhere. I had planned considerable work that we could not complete today because of the inability of our manager to keep outsiders from gaining admittance. From now on, I will consider it a distinct favor if people will allow us complete privacy at the practices.

Every Washington State player worked at full speed today, and it appears that the injuries we have been nursing have completely healed. Hein, Edwards, Ahlskog worked hard without apparent handicap, and it is now apparent that January 1 they will be 100 per cent perfect. I look for these three men to go into the New Year's game and play sixty minutes of the finest football of their careers.

Very noticeable among the squad members is an undercurrent of restlessness—probably due to increasing reports, since the arrival of the Alabama party, that it will be just too bad for the Washington State Cougars in the Rose Bowl. One gathers from the retinue of southern sports writers who are on the ground covering the game for their home papers, that the battle already has been fought—and that the only thing needed now is an adding machine with which to compile a true total of the score.

Speaking for my men and for myself, I can say that no football game has ever been decided until the day of the game and until the final whistle has been blown, we concede absolutely nothing, and our preparations will be toward a goal with only victory in sight. We are preparing ourselves to give southern fans and the public in general the best display of football offense, defense and Pacific Coast fight they have ever witnessed.

Reports come to me that the giants from Alabama will outweigh Washington State by a considerable margin. That doesn't cause a shudder or the blink of an eye. We were outweighed by many pounds per man in almost every game of the season, but it did not affect the outcome of a single one of the contests.

MATE TO MATE

There's a voice from the darkness whirled,
From the ranks of the undismayed,
Blocking the hate of the world
By the strength of its barricade;
The message of mate to mate,
By city or mountain or stream,
Whispered from gate to gate
Wherever good fellows may dream.

There's a voice that I want to hear
That only some mate can send,
On the winds of the dying year,
The message of friend to friend;
Wherever good fellowship stills
The roar of the warring drums,
And over the fir-clad hills
This is the call that comes—

"For a gift—the grip of your hand,
A word that may cheer or guide;
A friendly hail from the band,
Godspeed where the trails divide;
Then on through the sun and rain,
Then on through the wind and snow—
What is there else to gain?
What is there left to know?"

Some Gifts They Wanted

The colleges—How to curb football and not lose the gate receipts.

Jack Dempsey—One more sock at a hostile chin.

Babe Ruth—Some one to steal Hack Wilson's bats.

Knute Rockne—One more Carideo.

The duffer—One round in what he thinks his actual game is.

Bobby Jones—Some place to park an old set of golf clubs.

Max Schmeling—A green persimmon for the New York State Boxing Commission.

Helene Madison — Whatever swimming records are left, if any.

Notre Dame—A few more Irish like Schwartz, Carideo and Savoldi.

Yale—A kink in Barry Wood's passing arm.

Benny Friedman—The white of a receiver's eyeball.

Maybe Yes and Maybe No

A somewhat bewildered reader wants to know whether all this football chatter will actually lead to anything—or whether it will follow the same old course and die out in a few weeks as bigger and harder schedules are announced.

Who knows? The chatter is louder and longer than ever this year, but whether it will lead to any drastic changes is anybody's guess. It can't change things to any great extent through 1931, and who is there to guess more than a year ahead? You are taking a chance by guessing even a day ahead.

Well, anyway, a merry as possible Christmas.

Nick Cullop of the Minneapolis club of the American Association was one of the very few players in baseball to crash out more than fifty home runs during the 1930 campaign. The veteran player, recently sold to the Cincinnati Reds, hit fifty-four homers, twelve above the league record set by Bunny Brief eight years ago.

Charity Fund Is Bolstered by $3720.58

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—Gross receipts of the Young Stribling-Tuffy Griffith charity boxing show, December 12, at the Chicago Stadium totaled $84,232.41 of which charity received but $3720.58, the final check-up revealed today. The contestants on the boxing card, including Griffith and Stribling who shared most of the money, received a total of $44,903.93.

weight in the field. She is asked to carry 117 pounds. She has started but once on the Coast, at Tanforan, where she won the $10,000 added San Francisco Handicap.

Second weight has been assigned to Alexander Pantages, now racing for Rodney and Lloyd Pantages. Alex Pantages, which took second place to Victorian in the last Agua Caliente handicap, is assigned 112 pounds even, with Caruso from the stable of William R. Coe.

Others in the field are St. Frisca, owned by the Brannicastle stable; Good and Hot, Joe Toplitzky; Hatrick, Baron Long; Hey Diddle Diddle, George O'Connell; Lamp Black, B. Johnson; St. Jom, S. O. Berz, and Shasta Bullet, which runs coupled with Alexander Pantages.

The field will be sent away from the barrier at 2 o'clock, the opening program of the eighty-two days being limited to seven races.

TRACK READY

The entire track has been resurfaced since the 1930 meeting in order to provide proper cushion for the thoroughbreds. An electrical timing device also has been installed to insure absolute accuracy in all events. Times now will be recorded in tenths of seconds.

Many of the stables assembled for the winter meeting are all-California. With the development of the thoroughbred sport in recent seasons and the addition of the Agua Caliente summer meeting, the spring and fall meetings at Tanforan and the Monterey session, many former patrons of the great sport have been encouraged to return to the breeding farms. The result is a large number of all-California stables.

Official Coast League fielding records for the 1930 season show that Los Angeles came within one point of the all-time high club fielding mark for the league. The Angels committed only 198 errors, the fewest ever made by a Coast League team for a full season's play. Ray Jacobs's fielding mark of .994 is within one point of the league high mark for first basemen. Ray French handled more fielding chances than any shortstop in six years. Frank Crosetti's putout total of 508 is a new league record.

TREES SET BACK CLOCK OF TIME

Wood Found in Canada 20,000,000 Years Old

That's Scientist's Story and It Causes Sensation

Bitumin Preservative Held Old Egyptian Secret

OTTAWA (Ont.) Dec. 24. (AP)—Discovery of the perfectly preserved remains of trees that cast their shade 15,000,000 or 20,000,000 years ago has created a geological sensation.

They were freed last summer from sticky tar sands near Fort McMurray in Northern Alberta and government engineers declared today that present theories of prehistoric vegetation might collapse before the evidence presented by the gnarled trunks and branches, far older than any previously discovered remains.

One scientist, Dr. I. W. Bailey of Harvard University, from microscopic examination of the trees has found evidence to strengthen the scientific hypothesis that North America and Asia once were parts of the same continent. Dr. Bailey said one of the preserved trees is of a type that grows in Japan today.

S. C. Ells, engineer in the Federal Department of Mines and authority on bitumin deposits, disinterred the trees from the airtight embrace of the tar sand, the basic substance of which, he pointed out, is the same as that used by the ancient Egyptians in mummifying their dead.

The significance of Ells's find is regarded here as of greater importance than that attached to the famous petrified forests of Southwestern United States.

Further excavation on the spot where Ells found the trees is planned for next summer and geologists from universities in Canada and the United States are to be invited to join the field party.

PRISONER AND GUARD SWAP ROLES

Sailor Rescues Marine Corporal From Drowning and Wins Freedom

PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) Dec. 24. (AP)—The story of how the heroism of a naval prisoner turned the tables on his marine guard became known here today with the arrival of the erstwhile guard, himself in custody.

The marine is Corp. John J. Antovich of Foxboro, Mass., under sentence to serve a year in the Portsmouth naval prison. Several weeks ago Antovich was ordered to take a sailor, about to be dishonorably discharged from the Navy, to the Quantico marine barracks.

The trip was started on a naval tug. Somewhere en route the corporal became intoxicated and fell overboard. The naval prisoner promptly plunged to his rescue and took him back to the tug.

The Navy Department not only remitted the sailor's sentence, but awarded him the life-saving medal and restored him to good standing. A court-martial ordered the guard to serve twenty-four months at hard labor. This the Navy Department later reduced to twelve months. The name of the seaman was not divulged.

Assemblyman H. E. Dillinger, representing this district, plans drawing a bill providing for some assistance to farmers suffering from deer raids.

Large Company Increases Budget for 1931

Necessity for Continuity of Displays Cited

Future Profits Depend on Present Efforts

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Faith in the success of continued advertising through periods of boom and depression is expressed by several leading advertisers in the current issue of Printers' Ink, advertising publication.

"What is the real value of continued advertising effort?" the publication asked.

J. L. Johnson, president of the Lambert Pharmacal Company, replied: "Our opinion of the importance of continuity of advertising effort is shown by the ten-year record of our advertising expenditures."

J. A. Zehntbauer, president of the Jantzen Knitting Mills, Inc., answered: "Our experience is thoroughly convincing as to the necessity of advertising continuity. . . . In increasing our advertising outlay for 1931 we believe that we are sowing the seed of future volume and profits."

Louis M. Wheelock, vice-president, Stephen W. Whitman and Son, said: "We believe in advertising all the time. . . . Advertising just now is an expression of confidence in one's product and the future of America."

C. R. Palmer, president of Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., said: "In my opinion, the one sure way to make advertising count is to see that it is continuous."

FORD HAS TROUBLE IN BRAZIL

Para Plantation Eviction Order Results in Clash With Natives

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 24. (AP)—Private advices and news agency dispatches report that trouble over an eviction order broke out on the Ford rubber plantation in Para yesterday, with the government of that vast northern State sending police by airplane to investigate.

The authorities requisitioned a Pan-American Airways plane, it is said. Yesterday afternoon the machine reached Santarem Junction on the Amazon, and this morning went on to the plantation, which is on the Tapajos River.

As the trouble is explained, the concession included certain land already occupied when it was granted by the State.

The news agency says the Ford authorities recently gave notice that certain holdings, among which is an orphan asylum, must be evacuated before next Wednesday as the plantation is expanding to take in that area.

The irate settlers thereupon marched on Ford headquarters armed with guns and other weapons determined to halt the move to evict them from their homes.

Canal Inspires Einstein Radio Yule Message

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—A view of the Panama Canal Inspired Prof. Albert Einstein in radio Christmas greetings to the United States today, broadcast from the steamship Belgenland at sea. Describing the canal as "one of the greatest works of American labor," he said:

"It was not only a difficult engineering feat, but also those who worked on the job needed to be guarded against malaria. In the solution of these problems it is shown that the American people have not only great technical skill, but a deep consciousness of social responsibility. Certainly this peace festival should serve not only to keep this feeling alive, but to deepen it. In this sense, I wish you a merry Christmas."

Christmas Trees on Bear Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Everything comes to him who waits. And after two weeks waiting on a Christmas tree market that was filled with hundreds of carloads of unsold trees that were priced at $2 for a small tree and $7 for medium size, peddlers received free truckloads of them today.

Peddling them from street corners they got as low as 25 cents for a tree that sold last year for $25.

The present Mrs. Beebe appeared before Superior Judge Sullivan today with $200, which she says she borrowed to be paid to the first wife.

RICHFIELD OIL CHANGES HEAD

W. C. McDuffie Succeeds Fuller as President

Six New Members Elected to Directorate

Talbot Remains Chairman of Board

William C. McDuffie, president of the Pacific Western Oil Corporation, yesterday was elected president of the Richfield Oil Company of California, succeeding C. M. Fuller, who has been president of Richfield for the past several years.

W.C.McDUFFIE

Six new directors were also named on the board, filling vacancies caused by resigning members. The new directors in addition to Mr. McDuffie, are Harry J. Bauer, P. H. O'Neil, H. H. Cotton, John Treanor and Joseph B. Loeb. J. A. Talbot remains as chairman of the board.

The official statement issued by the company regarding the board's action did not give the names of the resigning directors nor make any mention of Mr. Fuller. It was reported he would announce his future plans later. The statement said:

"Mr. McDuffie's appointment as the chief executive of Richfield Oil Company of California in no way concerns his connection with Pacific Western Oil Corporation, of which he will still act as president; nor is the relationship of the two companies involved. The contractual relationship which has heretofore existed is unchanged.

LOANS EXTENDED

"The reorganization in the personnel of Richfield management carries with it an extension of the outstanding bank loans. It is contemplated that these obligations shall be funded."

The crude oil purchase contract which Pacific Western Oil holds with Richfield still has approximately eight years to run. It calls for the delivery to Richfield of 20,000 barrels of oil daily. This contract was not affected by the recent cancellation notices by Richfield on purchase contracts aggregating 23,000 barrels per day of crude oil, effective from March 1 to June 1, 1931, and representing cancelled purchases of approximately $1,000,000 per month. Richfield plans to replace these purchases by company production and this change is expected to increase the company's earnings approximately $750,000, according to the company's recent report.

The Pacific Western Oil purchase contract, however, remains an important factor in the Richfield picture due to the crude oil situation and it is reported in the oil industry that the two companies may yet work out a more equitable arrangement.

FORMER SHELL CHIEF

Mr. McDuffie, the new Richfield president, who has won recognition as an outstanding executive in the oil industry, was formerly chief production officer for the Royal Dutch-Shell group. As president of the Pacific Western, he has brought that company into the ranks of the important Pacific Coast producers.

The new additions to the Richfield board bring to it men prominent in commercial and professional activities. Mr. Bauer is a member of Bauer, Wright & MacDonald, attorneys, a director of Southern California Edison Company and other corporations. He was formerly head of the Pacific Gasoline Company, natural gasoline manufacturer, which was acquired by Standard Oil Company of California.

Mr. O'Neil, who is one of the largest stockholders of Pacific Coast oil companies, is president of P. H. O'Neil Corporation and a director of Citizens' National Bank and other companies. Mr. Cotton, a capitalist, is vice-president of the Municipal Loan Company, and a director of the Bank of America and other corporations.

Mr. Treanor is president of Riverside Cement Company, and a director of the Union Bank and Trust Company and other concerns. Mr. Loeb is a member of Loeb, Walker & Loeb, attorneys, and vice-president of Southern California Realty Corporation, a director of Hotel Holding Company of Hollywood and other companies.

CROP VALUE OF WALNUTS SHADES OFF

Return to Growers for Year Set at 85 Per Cent of Record 1929 Total

Walnut growers in California will receive an aggregate dollar return for their crop this year of about 85 per cent of the unusually high revenue figure for last year, which was considerably in excess of $15,000,000, Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the California Walnut Growers' Association, announced yesterday.

During the first week in January the exchange will distribute about $1,000,000 among its grower members, representing about 10 per cent of the crop value and bringing the total payments for the year to date to $7,000,000.

While the production this year has run about 33 per cent under the record output last year, the demand, according to Mr. Thorpe, has held prices about 7 per cent over the 1929 levels. Approximately 90 per cent of the State's production has been shipped to date, which is substantially above shipments in other years at this time.

During the past two weeks the replacement shipments to the exchange's distributing centers throughout the United States have been more than twice the replenishments of a year ago, Mr. Thorpe said. The California Walnut Growers' Association has more than 90 per cent of the State's production represented in its membership.

"Although the association is a co-operative with no capital stock, it has accumulated a surplus of more than $750,000, which places it in a position to finance its operations without resorting to borrowed capital, and permits it to carry any surplus stocks, that may from time to time develop, without ever being forced to distressed selling—a position that is rather unique in the co-operative marketing field," Mr. Thorpe said.

Net Earnings of Corporation Group Lower

Third quarter earning statements of the 373 corporations reporting to date show profits for nine months 33 per cent less than those for the similar period of 1929. Industrials and rails are both off 38 per cent while utilities show a 1 per cent gain, according to the Standard Statistics Company of New York. Figures for the 267 corporations for which comparisons with 1928 are available show a decrease of 24 per cent from 1928 profits during the nine months this year. Detailed figures follow:

RATE CUT MAY SPUR TRADE

Rediscount Drop, Coupled With Increased Purchase of Bonds, Aimed to Revive Business

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Approval by the Federal Reserve Board of the reduction in the New York rediscount rate to 2 per cent, the lowest in Federal Reserve history, is a development in the national banking policy that may provide the requisite spur to revival of business.

Along with the increase recently in Federal Reserve purchase of government securities in the open market, the ½ per cent drop in the rediscount rate is calculated to increase the amount of credit outstanding. If business needs more credit to lift itself out of the rut the Federal Reserve authorities apparently are willing to play their part in making the credit available.

BORROWERS TIMID

Arguments have been made against an easy-money policy by the Federal Reserve banks on the ground that money already is cheap as measured by call rates, and is steadily drifting into virtual retirement in the banks because of lack of demand for profitable employment. But it is also noticeable that long-term borrowing by corporations and municipalities is almost at a standstill, presumably because borrowers are uncertain as to the trend of land-term money rates.

If, however, the large borrowers and the large buyers of securities are assured that an easy money policy will obtain, the possibility opens up of financing in the American market for new construction, etc., that should have a favorable reaction on other business activities. An easy money policy in this country should also encourage foreign borrowing in volume.

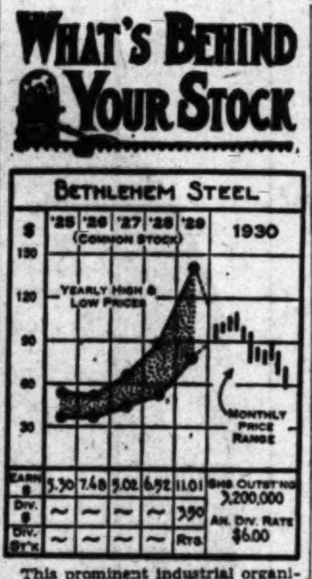
Encouragement to member banks to borrow from the Federal Reserve is also a step in the direction of correcting the contraction of dollar credit outstanding. The rise in the rediscount rate last year to a high of 6 per cent and the subsequent falling off in member bank borrowing served to sharply curtail the amount of credit outstanding and correspondingly the purchasing power of the dollar.

PRICES AFFECTED

Purchasing power is generally understood to fluctuate with the volume of available credit, the supply of which is in the control of the Federal Reserve banks. Any policies aiming to increase the supply of credit would be expected to increase the purchasing power of the dollar, following which the effects should show up in stronger commodity prices, or at least a stabilized level of prices.

The substantial increase in bond purchases this year by the Federal Reserve banks, especially in recent weeks, is thought by many able economists to have slowed down the process of deflation, and if continued will lead to a reversal of the trend in the way of healthy inflation.

In the week ended the 17th inst. the Federal Reserve banks increased their purchases of government securities by $75,000,000, bringing the total holdings of government securities to $692,000,000. No less an authority than T. M. Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company, has been urging that this total should be increased by approximately $500,000,000.



This prominent industrial organization is the second largest factor in the steel industry. Bethlehem Steel is a fully integrated unit, controlling vast ore and other raw material reserves, transport lines, blast furnaces, and plants manufacturing a full line of fabricated steel products, including ships and railroad passenger and freight cars. The proposed merger with Youngstown Steel and Tube has been held up by litigation of the Eaton interests, who claim that a certain portion of the Youngstown stock was voted illegally. Substantial benefits would accrue to both companies should the merger be finally effected.

The sharply lower rate of operations in the steel industry is reflected in the earnings showing of Bethlehem for the first nine months of 1930. Per-share results in that period were $5.09, as compared to $12.23 earned in the 1929 nine months on a smaller number of shares. However, unfilled orders on September 30 this year were somewhat higher than on the same date in 1929.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded debt, $106,835,570; 7 per cent cumulative preferred ($100 par.) $100,000,000; common stock (no par.) 3,200,000 shares.

Current data: E. G. Grace, president, is quoted as saying that final quarter profits would approximate those of the September quarter, 63 cents per share.

Cut in Fee for 'Inactive' Stock Trading Pends

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange has approved an amendment to the constitution of the exchange lowering the commission rates of inactive stocks selling at less than $10 a share in units of ten shares. The amendment is being submitted to the members of the exchange for balloting.

The new rates which will apply only on sales of so-called "inactives" will become effective on January 7 if not disapproved by a majority vote of the members.

The new commission rates for stocks selling between $5 and $10 a share will be not less than 10 cents a share and the rates of stocks selling between $1 and $5 a share will be not less than 5 cents a share. Heretofore the rate on all stocks selling between $1 and $100 has been 20 cents a share. The member to member rates will also be decreased proportionately.

ANACONDA'S PRODUCTION COSTS LOW

Copper Company Issues Statement Showing 8.63 Cents a Pound on Output

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Following a meeting of directors, Anaconda Copper Mining Company today issued a statement pointing out that the company owns the lowest cost unit in the industry. Actual operating costs of producing electrolytic copper in October, the latest month for which detailed figures are available, with operations at less than 50 per cent of normal capacity and carrying all shutdown expense on nonoperating units, maintenance, fixed charges and overhead, but before depreciation, interest and taxes, was 7.18 cents a pound and after all charges, taxes and interest was 8.63 cents a pound.

On the 1st inst. the company had outstanding 8,865,033 shares of stock. Depreciated basis of book value shown for buildings, machinery, equipment and net current assets totaled $243,045,471, equal to $27.42 a share without including any value for mines, mining claims, development work, investments and other fixed assets.

While stocks of copper have materially increased during the year, the company has sold in refined or manufactured form its production and purchases made during the same period, according to the statement.

"It may not be deemed within the province of directors or officers of a corporation to comment or advise upon the true value of its property as compared to current prices," continued the statement. "However, at this time of hysteria, unfounded rumors and prevailing pessimism, we believe it is not only proper but the duty of those charged with responsibility of managing the investment of many thousands of shareholders to call your attention to the fact that all of the mining properties of your company developed, equipped and constituting as a unit the largest and the most valuable copper properties and copper ore reserves in the world, together with many millions of dollars that were expended in their development and preparations for operations, are at current quotations for the stock of your company selling at less than nothing."

London Rate Holds Steady

LONDON, Dec. 24. (AP)—Reduction of the discount rate by the Federal Reserve Bank of the United States, which came as a surprise to financial London, caused renewed strength in gilt-edge securities on the stock exchange today, where general advances were recorded.

It was thought in some quarters the Bank of England might lower its rate, but in view of the recent outward gold movement the directors decided to leave the rate unchanged.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—A moderate buying demand exerted its influence to impart a cheery tone to the bond market today.

The price level was raised somewhat by inquiry for investment issues, where the advance more closely resembled the normal movement in times of easy money than the recent sharp rebound.

Investors, however, were not very active on the buying side, and the turnover took a sharp drop, such as traders usually expect on a holiday eve. The improved tone was partially attributed to the reduction in the Federal Reserve rediscount rate after the close of the market yesterday.

Rails and other convertibles gained large fractions or more. Railroad obligations resumed their advance, but at a much slower pace. Chicago and Northwestern 3½s and Rock Island 4½s A were in the vanguard. Closing prices of this group represented an average gain of about a point.

Investment demand bolstered prices of the prime utility and industrial obligations, although turnover in all but a small group was very light.

Trading in Treasury obligations was confined principally to two issues—Liberty Fourth 4¼s, which were firm, and Treasury 3⅜s, which were unchanged. Foreign bonds were higher.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Total sales today, $8,939,000; previous day, $12,119,000; week ago, $12,304,000; year ago, $11,815,000; two years ago, holiday; January 1 to date, $2,728,587,000; same year ago, $3,076,276,000; same two years ago, $2,906,378,000.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 24. (AP)—Prices moved unevenly higher in a quiet session of the curb market today, as trading was restricted by preholiday influences.

Utilities and oils worked higher. Total transactions were 497,200 shares.

Electric Bond and Share made an extreme gain of about 2 points, but yielded a fraction of it in late profit-taking. American Gas sold up more than 2 points and closed with a net gain of 1¾.

Standard of Kentucky was a firm feature of the oils, rising 2½ points, and slipping back about a point from the top. Vacuum and Gulf gained nearly a point, and Cities Service was up ⅛. Indiana and Humble closed about steady.

Industrials were quiet and irregular. Mapes Consolidated sold at 32, a new low, off 2 points.

Coppers were almost neglected, but Noranda closed nearly a point higher.

Action of Farm Board Spur to Wheat Advance

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. (AP)—Unusual buying orders that have lifted Chicago wheat prices during the last forty-eight hours received an apparent explanation just before the market closed today. Dispatches from Washington said Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board had suggested that a temporary embargo be enforced against wheat imports into the United States. There also were London advices that the British government was preparing to establish quota purchasing of wheat for the British market.

Indications today pointed to a large part of the heretofore unexplained purchase orders here in the last forty-eight hours being for European and Canadian interests that previously had been on the selling side of the Chicago market, and would naturally switch as a result of the proposals outlined from Washington and London.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅛@1⅛ cents a bushel higher than yesterday; corn, ⅛@⅝ cent advance, oats ⅜ cents up, and provisions from 20 cents decline to a rise of 22 cents.

Corn advances appeared to be independent of wheat strength. Offerings of corn were scarce, and receipts at most primary centers showed a falling-off, as compared with a week ago.

Oats largely followed corn.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—The light supply of cattle preceding the Christmas holiday were largely in thin flesh and owing to the very light demand for stocker and feeder cattle, bulk remained in first hands late in the day. The limited sales of killing cattle were about steady.

A few head of weighty steers out of a mixed load brought 9.25 with nearly half a load of medium 860-pound steers at 8.50. Odd head ranged from 6.00@8.00 to killers. A few part loads of light steers and yearlings went to feeder buyers at 6.00@7.35 with half a load of very common down to 4.50.

A piece of a load of 741-pound Texas heifers of good quality brought 7.75 and a few head of good weighty cows brought 6.60 with others at 6.00@6.25. Bulk of common to low medium cows scored 4.75@5.75 with low cutters and cutters at 3.00@4.50. A few bulls sold up to 6.25 with other medium kinds at 5.75 down.

CALVES—Very few fresh offerings were available but nearly 300 holdovers, mostly stockers were not moving. A few native vealers cashed at 10.00@13.50 with some plainer and heavier calves at 7.00@8.25.

HOGS—Nothing was offered in this division. Good eastern butchers were considered quotable up to Tuesday's top of 9.35 and packing sows to 8.00.

SHEEP—With nothing available to test the market quotations were unchanged. Medium to choice light lambs are quoted at 6.75@8.00 and medium to choice ewes quoted 3.00@4.00.

MISTRIAL OF SUIT RULED TO ADD TIME

Judge Hazlett Who Goes Out of Office January 5, Lets Fisher Case Be Reset

Superior Judge Hazlett yesterday declared a mistrial at the conclusion of argument on Mrs. Kitty Rubey Fisher's suit to nullify the property settlement agreement with her divorced husband, Warren Hilton, wealthy oil stock promoter. Mrs. Fisher seeks an accounting with one-half her former husband's present property to be awarded her.

Judge Hazlett announced that, in order to afford greater opportunity for extended hearing asked by attorneys, he would declare a mistrial and send the case back for resetting by the presiding judge. Judge Hazlett retires from the bench January 5, next.

Mrs. Fisher's suit set forth that her husband induced her to obtain a Reno divorce December 6, 1920. At that time he was author of books on psychology. Hilton gave her a settlement of property which he said totaled $20,000, adding that his entire wealth was $35,000, and that she was getting more than half.

Later, Mrs. Fisher says she learned, Hilton's wealth was much greater, several hundreds of thousands of dollars made in stocks investments, and she complains that the property he gave her was found to have a real value of only $6800. Both have married again, Mrs. Fisher being the wife of John Fisher of San Francisco.

DRIVER HELD FOLLOWING GIRL'S DEATH

Child Returning From Party Struck by Auto in Street Safety Zone

Pete Garcia, 35-year-old Mexican of 1520 Kearney street, was booked on suspicion of manslaughter yesterday following an investigation of the death of Celia Binder, 8-year-old child who was killed Tuesday night at 3525 Ramona Boulevard when a car driven by the Mexican plowed through a street-car safety zone.

The child, with a group of others, was returning from a Christmas party. As the children were alighting from the car the Garcia automobile crashed through the group. The Binder child was thrown twenty feet and died almost instantly. Others were not struck. Belvedere constables arrested Garcia, and Dr. C. D. Hershey of 943 South Arizona street conducted a sobriety test. His decision was that Garcia had been drinking. Garcia is being held in the County Jail. Through an interpreter yesterday he declared he did not see the group and knew nothing of having hit a girl or any one else.

Deputy Coroner MacDonald set the inquest for today at 2 p.m.

VETERAN OFFICER HONORED

Capt. Fox Recipient of Jeweled Badge

Sheriff Officiates at Presentation

WHILE nearly 100 of the men with whom he has worked in law enforcement throughout the county looked on, Capt. Fox, chief of the fugitive detail of the Sheriff's office, yesterday received a jewel-studded badge in appreciation for the services he has rendered during his twenty years as a peace officer here.

Sheriff Traeger presented the badge to Capt. Fox on behalf of the men in the fugitive detail and the captain's many friends in the Hall of Justice.

The badge is made of gold and is set off with several rubies and diamonds.

WOMAN AND CAPTORS HURT WHEN BUS HITS POLICE CAR

Two policemen and a woman they were taking to Wilshire station were injured last night when the police car in which they were riding was struck by a Los Angeles Railway bus at Eighth and Alvarado streets. Officer Henry Newman, 34 years of age, of 2501 Hauser Boulevard, received a brain-concussion, Officer Thomas Alsup, 36, 4421 Orchard avenue, a possible broken shoulder, and Mrs. Frances Lewis, 38, 427 South Alvarado street, minor bruises.

According to other police who investigated the accident the motorbus, driven by James B. Alexander, started before the signal. It struck the police car broadside and pushed it about thirty feet, then over the sidewalk and into a miniature golf course.

The two officers had taken Mrs. Lewis in custody at her home on complaint of S. Erwin, an automobile salesman of 756 South Broadway, who charged she picked his pocket of $131 while he was spending Tuesday evening with her. In her possession the police say they found $87. After surgeons had attended her injuries she was booked on suspicion of grand theft.

Hearts of ten children were made happy yesterday at the annual Christmas tree given by the Junior League at the organization's home for convalescents at 1203 Ingraham street.

As has been the custom, the Christmas treat for the youngsters was arranged by a committee from the provisionals of the organization under the supervision of Mrs. William P. Banning, chairman. She was aided by Mrs. David Barry and Mrs. Perry Howard.

The tree, placed in one corner of the large room, was loaded with gifts, toys and candies for the children and happiness was the keynote. Mrs. Walter Leimert, president, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Longyear, vice-president of the Junior League, were present.

This was the closing Christmas party for children at the old home and next year the league will give their annual tree at the new home at Lexington and Westmoreland streets.

Goodwill Folk Given Christmas Dinner and Fete

More than 200 Christmas baskets, brimful of groceries and toys, were distributed yesterday by the Goodwill Industries at their headquarters building, 342 North Main street, to the Goodwill employees who have families to support. A basket of good things to eat also was given the single women and every opportunity worker in the institution was given a Christmas dollar because of the holiday when they miss their wages.

In the evening more than 225 homeless men were served a Christmas dinner, consisting of roast turkey and the trimmings.

After the dinner the men gathered in the social hall of the Goodwill Industries to enjoy a musical program prepared by Charles E. Carver, president of the organization. The music was furnished by a group of singers headed by Arthur McColloch, baritone soloist of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of South Pasadena, and the accompaniment was played by Miss Eleanor Beckwith on her piano-accordeon.

Father of Two Found Drowned in Bay Waters

A wife and two small children waited in vain for the return of their husband and father at their home at 543 Daisy avenue, Long Beach yesterday. An hour after he left work at the Fellows & Stewart Boat Building concern at Los Angeles Harbor the body of G. H. King, 39 years of age, was found floating on the surface of the bay. Inhalator squads failed to revive him. There was no trace of violence and the cause of his death, officials stated, might have been heart disease.

His body was discovered by A. B. Adams, a soldier, and was taken to the Woods mortuary at Wilmington. The inquest date was not set.

Radio Informs Diners of Fire Raging in House

The Misses Alita Davis and Pearl Traft sat down to enjoy their Christmas Eve dinner last night in the residence at 3981 West Seventh street.

They heard their radio in an adjoining room make some peculiar sounds and when they investigated saw flames racing up the walls of the room.

Firemen who extinguished the blaze estimated the damage at $1000 and believed the fire originated from defective radio wiring or an overheated floor radiator.

Doyle Slinn, who leases part of the damaged residence to Miss Davis, was not home.

Miss Traft came here from San Francisco on a Christmas visit.

UNEMPLOYMENT AIDES MEET

Mayor's Committee, Housed in City Hall, Plans Co-ordination of Relief Agencies

Steps to co-ordinate and make as efficient as possible the work of all agencies in obtaining employment for persons out of work were taken at a meeting of Mayor Porter's committee yesterday.

Although the committee has been functioning for some time it will be given permanent quarters for the first time in the City Hall, it was stated. However, it was pointed out, no one is to apply there for work. Application is made through the various agencies which the Mayor's committee is co-ordinating.

Plans of the committee workers were approved with additions and changes. Estimates are being made of the number of persons available for work and the various agencies through which persons out of work and employers seeking help can be brought together quickly. What the committee is seeking to do is to avoid duplication and waste of time on the part of the job seeker and the employer in trying to get together.

Among those who attended, in addition to the Mayor, were County Supervisor Shaw, President Sanborn of the City Council, Councilman Ingram, Mrs. Anna B. Smith, general manager of the City Social Service Committee; David C. MacWatters, general manager of the Community Chest; Russell Ballard, president of the Southern California Edison Company, and E. J. Fleming, president of the Downtown Business Men's Association.

"Queremos Trabajo", Gritan los Rojos Berlineses

BERLIN, Diciembre 24.—Los elementos comunistas han cumplido su amenaza de iniciar hoy sus manifestaciones de hambre entre la muchedumbre de compradores de las tiendas, que se surten de lo necesario para la Navidad. No bien hubo oscurecido, cuando aparecieron en las repletas calles grupos de desocupados gritando: "Queremos trabajo."

En la esquina de las calles de Liepziger y Friedrich, que es uno de los sitios de mayor movimiento, la policía montada tuvo que despejar las aceras, haciendo uso de sus bastones contra los manifestantes, y cargando sobre ellos con sus caballos.

Afluye el Oro en Auxilio de los Necesitados

NUEVA YORK, Diciembre 24.—Los cinco mil millones de dólares que se están empleando en construcciones tendrán que dar al traste con la falta de trabajo en los Estados Unidos.

Los informes de fin de año recabados de todas partes del país demuestran que va a proseguirse e impulsarse en invierno la construcción de carreteras y edificios, que las obras públicas aumentan en número cada día, que nuevas vías férreas y nuevas cañerías están haciendo crecer considerablemente las listas de trabajadores asalariados, y que a las personas a quienes no se puede dar trabajo todavía, se les están dando auxilios.

Basando sus cálculos en los contratos otorgados durante el año, L. Seth Schitman, jefe de estadística de la compañía de F. W. Dodge, estima que las construcciones que se están emprendiendo actualmente sacarán un coste de más de $4,700,000,000.

Además de los $166,000,000 votados para uso inmediato, el gobierno federal se propone gastar $724,000,000 en construcciones durante el año próximo. Hay asimismo disponible un crédito de $80,000,000 para carreteras federales de auxilio, suma que, igualada por los Estados, llega a un total de $160,000,000.

Una Pistola Ha Hecho Vacilar su Fe en Santa Claus

SWAMPSCOTT (Massachusetts), Diciembre 24.—Se ha conmovido hoy de manera muy grave la fe de Daniel Thomas en el bonachón San Nicolás. Daniel, que es cocinero de un hotel, estaba en espera de un tranvía, cuando, de improviso, surgió de entre unos arbustos una figura que parecía ser la del campechano santo, desde las botas hasta la tupida barba blanca.

Antes de que pudiera Daniel pensar en lo que iba a pedirle como regalo de Navidad, el atracador, pues no era otra cosa el que así se disfrazaba de Santa Claus, le metió un revólver por las costillas, e impunemente le substrajo de la bolsa once dólares, con veinticinco centavos.

Arbol Lleno de Sabrosos Regalos para los Pajaritos

KANSAS CITY (Kansas), Diciembre 24.—Por infortunados que sean los seres que surgen a la vida de un huevo de pava, su mala estrella no afecta a los millones de seres alados que nacen de pequeños huevecillos, y que a menudo se ven socorridos en Navidad por personas tan caritativas como la señorita Henrietta H. Jacobs.

Siguiendo una costumbre que viene de años atrás, ha puesto en el corral de su casa un árbol de Nochebuena, decorado con tazas de papel de brillantes colores, llenas hasta el borde de alpiste y de otras semillas y cosas sabrosas para los pajarillos, los que, sin duda acudirán a solazarse y llenar el buche en las ramas de tan curioso árbol.

La señorita Jacobs vive en una casa de campo a dos millas al oeste de Kansas City, y comparte sus habitaciones con cincuenta perros retirados y media docena de gatos, que se hallarían abandonados de no existir ella. También estos huéspedes gozarán de la cristiana fiesta, pues la señorita Jacobs les dará un sabroso suplemento de comida.

Charlas Infantiles para Chiquillos de Escuela

VIII.

Sabía deletrear palabras largas y difíciles, como "e-le-fan-te", si bien creía que esa palabrota era el nombre de un gran edificio y no de un animal (She could spell long, hard words, like "el-e-phant", although she thought that the word meant the name of a big building instead of an animal). Era una criatura tan viva, que una actriz que vivía en la misma casa de huéspedes quiso adoptarla como su propia hijita y enseñarle a recitar poemas y a representar comedias en las tablas (She was such a bright child, that an actress who lived in the same boarding-house wanted to adopt her as her own little girl and teach her to recite poems and to act in plays on the stage). Pero la madre de Clara quería a su chiquita demasiado para desprenderse de ella, no obstante que era cosa difícil comprarle calzado y pan con manteca (But Clara's mother loved her little girl too well to give her up, even if it was hard to buy her shoes and bread and butter).

"Toda una vida" y una comedia con Laurel y Hardy cubren nuestro cartel hoy y mañana entre 11 a.m. y 5 p.m. Feliz Navidad y próspero año nuevo. Teatro California.—Advertisement.

Catholic Edifice Costing $200,000 at Wilmington Like Early Missions

High mass at midnight last night marked the informal opening at Wilmington of the new Saints Peter and Paul Catholic Church, a structure with furnishings representing approximately $200,000.

The church fronts on Lagoon street, occupying part of a large tract bounded by Lagoon, J and Ravenna streets, where a site also is reserved for a parochial school.

The edifice is of concrete, steel and ornamental tile, and done in a style reminiscent of early California missions. The main chapel will seat 1000 and adjacent are two side chapels for fifty worshipers each. It is surmounted by a 209-foot tower, atop of which is a fourteen-foot solid bronze cross weighing 800 pounds.

The altars were specially made in Italy and are the gifts of Capt. G. Allan Hancock of Los Angeles and of Louis Denni of Wilmington. Rev. B. J. Schiaparelli is pastor.

Formal dedication will be in February with the Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, Bishop of the Los Angeles-San Diego diocese, consecrating the church.

ARMY OF NEEDY TO SHARE IN JOY

Christmas Cheer Assured for Thousands of Poor

Series of Feasts Scheduled as Feature of Holiday

Gifts and Baskets of Food Also to Be Distributed

Thousands of children and grown-ups throughout the city to whom today otherwise might be merely Thursday will have their share of Christmas cheer, thanks to numerous charitable, fraternal and benevolent organizations and private citizens. These latter groups will devote their day to providing a concrete basis, in the form of food and gifts, to the infusion of the Yuletide spirit among the indigent and the helpless.

The Salvation Army, in keeping with the tradition of benevolence which always has distinguished it, will serve a real Christmas dinner to men in relays of 500, beginning at 10 a.m. at Army headquarters, 133 Weller street.

The same system of serving the men in relays will be in evidence at the Midnight Mission, which has made plans to provide dinners for 1500 men, beginning at 11:30 a.m. The Mission's party for children was held Monday at Philharmonic Auditorium and at that time 1500 Christmas baskets were distributed.

FEAST FOR NEWSBOYS

Most colorful of the day's events today will be the fifth annual Christmas dinner given to the newsboys of the city by Fred H. Solomon, who was once a newsboy on the streets of San Francisco. About 500 lads will be his guests in the luxurious surroundings of the Sala de Oro of the Biltmore.

At 9 a.m. the newsboys are to assemble at the offices of the various newspapers and then parade in taxicabs to the hotel. The parade will be led by the fire department band and it will have an escort of 100 firemen and the same number of police.

Serving of the five-course dinner is scheduled to begin at 10:45 a.m. There will be an entertainment program and Fire Chief Scott will act as master of ceremonies.

FIREFIGHTERS HOSTS

The fire department itself will provide a dinner for 1350 persons, it was announced by Capt. [illegible], who is in charge of arrangements. The R.-K.-O. studio will serve a Christmas feast to 1000 poor people, wards of the Los Angeles County Welfare Department, between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., it was announced by W. H. Holland, superintendent of the department.

Supt. Holland also let it be known yesterday that a philanthropic woman, who will not permit her name to be made public, will give Christmas gifts today to some 300 bed-ridden patients from the General Hospital who now are quartered at [illegible] private hospitals in various parts of the county.

FETE FOR ORPHANS

More than 500 orphans of the Santa Monica Bay district will be guests of the Council of Social Welfare of Santa Monica at a Christmas party and dinner to be held at the Sea Breeze Beach Club. In addition to being provided with a turkey dinner and all traditional trimmings, the orphans are to receive toys and gifts from Dr. Fred [illegible] in the role of Santa Claus. Mrs. Marie T. Hutchings has arranged the details of the party.

Tickets were distributed yesterday for a dinner to be given by U. G. Jones at the Ontra Cafeteria, 757 South Vermont avenue. Al Jolson is sponsor of a dinner where 350 will be fed. Mrs. A. Carson of 8760 [illegible] Boulevard will have the children of that neighborhood as her guests at a Christmas feast.

BASKET DISTRIBUTION

Christmas dinner baskets with enough staples to last throughout the holiday season will be distributed to 1200 families by the Catholic Welfare Bureau, which also will give toys and clothing to 300 orphan children in homes and distribute toys and other gifts to 15,000 poor children throughout the city. Christmas dinners will be served to indigent men and women at the five Catholic community centers in the

The local chapter of the American Red Cross and numerous posts of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled Veterans of the World War, will provide additional Christmas cheer to the inmates of the Veterans' hospitals at Sawtelle and San Fernando and they also have been busy during the last few days in taking Christmas baskets to the homes of dependents

DIVORCE AWARDED MRS. MIX

Wife of Screen Cowboy Says He Terrorized Her With Loaded Pistol

Tom Mix, successful as a screen cowboy, was a failure as a husband, his wife, Mrs. Victoria Mix; her father, Arthur Forde, and her mother (divorced,) Mrs. Jane Fetters, testified in Superior Judge Valentine's court yesterday in obtaining a divorce.

Mix was not in court to present his side of the controversy, but his attorneys, Milton Cohen and Chris Bacon, were there to see that all was legal. They declared their client had arranged a property settlement with his wife and had agreed that the custody of their 9-year-old daughter, Tomasina, should be given Mrs. Mix, except during school periods.

Mrs. Mix's chief complaint against her husband concerned the twirling of a loaded pistol about his trigger finger.

"I was frightened almost to death," she said. "I expected to be shot any minute."

The couple were married in 1918, after Mix had obtained a divorce from his first wife, Olive Stokes Mix.

Mrs. Fetters and Forde corroborated Mrs. Mix's testimony. Attorney LeRoy Edwards represented Mrs. Mix.

Painting Given Loan Officials by Employees

A California painting, "Evening at Santa Paula," was presented to officials of the Fidelity Savings and Loan Association yesterday at a Christmas party given at the head office by employees of the institution.

"As a partial expression of our appreciation and as a token of our loyalty," Miss Mary S. Luther said on behalf of her co-workers, "we ask that you accept from us this Christmas gift, with our most sincere wish that this fine institution which you and we both serve to the best of our ability may continue to grow and prosper."

The picture was accepted on behalf of officials by George L. Eastman, president, and will be hung in the directors' room at Fidelity. It is the work of Leland S. Curtis, California artist.

COAST WILL GET FOUR NEW SHIPS

Liners Costing $17,000,000 to Join Pacific Trade

Panama Mail Line Makes Announcement of Plan

Craft to Ply Between Here and New York Port

Immediate construction of four twin-screw express liners, at a total cost of $17,000,000, for service out of this port and San Francisco to New York, was announced yesterday by Clay Hutchinson, district manager of the Panama Mail Steamship Company. The new ships, for both passenger and cargo service, will be built at the Kearny (N. J.) yards of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

Details of the new ships were received by Mr. Hutchinson yesterday from San Francisco in a telephone conversation with executives of W. R. Grace & Co., of which Panama Mail Line is a subsidiary. They will be built under provisions of a mail contract awarded the Grace interests by the United States government from Los Angeles Harbor to Puerto Colombia, via various Central American ports and the Panama Canal, while three-fourths of their construction cost will be advanced by the United States Shipping Board under provisions of the construction loan section of the Jones-White bill. The first ship will be ready for service in twenty-two months and the fourth seven months later.

"In operating efficiency, beauty of lines, luxury of passenger accommodations and in provision of safety requirements, these new liners will surpass any similar vessels yet built under any flag," said Mr. Hutchinson.

With a deadweight capacity of 16,600 tons, the vessels will be 508 feet long, with a beam of 72 feet. They will be driven by General Electric turbo-electric plants generating 14,000 horsepower and giving the ships a loaded speed of nineteen knots. They will carry 222 first-cabin passengers, 64 third-class travelers and in addition to 8000 tons of regularly stowed freight they will have space for 1000 tons of refrigerated cargo.

LAST SCION OF PIONEER FAMILY DIES

Jose Juan Machado Passes From Life in Same House Where He Was Born

Jose Juan Machado, born eighty-four years ago on the Rancho Ballona, died late Tuesday night in the same house, now known as 1301 Jefferson Boulevard, Culver City. He was the last of fourteen sons of Don Augustin Machado, original owner of the 17,000-acre Spanish grant, which now is covered by the cities of Palms, Playa del Rey, Venice, Culver City and a part of Santa Monica.

The death of Jose Juan Machado ended the last direct family link with the original owners of a now populous section of Los Angeles county and closed the last chapters of a family history that was filled with the romance of the early California days.

The mother of Jose Juan Machado was Ramona Sepulveda, who came from a family equally as prominent as the Machados. The scion of the old California family leaves his widow, Manuela Cota Machado, and at the time of his death the couple had been married fifty-two years.

A rosary service will be celebrated at the old home Friday evening at 8 o'clock and funeral services with a requiem high mass will be conducted at the St. Augustin's Church, Culver City, Saturday morning. Interment, under the direction of the Culver City funeral parlor, will be in the Santa Monica Woodlawn Cemetery, in a tiny plot of land once lost in the wilderness of the original ranch home.

SIGNAL CONTROL URGED

A. C. Singer yesterday appealed to the City Council for some sort of traffic signal control at the intersection of Pasadena avenue and Avenue 41. His request was referred to the Police Commission and to the Traffic and Street Lighting Committee.

MEN-O'-WAR TO BE REBUILT

Battleships Idaho and Mississippi Await Orders for Transfer East for Modernization

The battleships Idaho and Mississippi are awaiting orders for transfer to the Philadelphia and Norfolk navy yards for modernization, for which $10,000,000 will be expended on each ship, it was learned from a reliable source in the battle fleet yesterday. They are to be absent from local waters until the spring of 1932.

Decision to modernize the two sister ships immediately has just been reached by the Navy Department, following the Senate's action in unanimously passing the bill appropriating $30,000,000 for modernization of the Idaho, Mississippi and the New Mexico.

Completion of this program will give the battleship squadron in local waters a homogeneous force of fourteen dreadnaughts, all modernized and with their main batteries having 30-deg. elevation and consequently an effective fighting range in excess of 30,000 yards. The New Mexico will not be modernized at this time.

The Idaho and Mississippi will be replaced in the dreadnaught squadron by the battleships Arizona and Pennsylvania, now nearing completion in a $14,800,000 modernization program at Norfolk and Philadelphia, which started in May, 1929. The Pennsylvania and Arizona are to join the battle fleet at Panama in February during the winter maneuvers, and will return to Los Angeles Harbor with the fleet next April.

Salient features of the rebuilding of the Idaho and Mississippi will include replacement of their present cage-type masts with either tripod masts or the new military-tower masts; reconstruction of their fourteen-inch main battery turrets to permit 30-deg. elevation of the guns; installation of five-inch anti-aircraft batteries; and armoring of the protective deck as additional protection against aircraft bombs and plunging fire from long-range guns.

Preparations for firing of long-range gunnery practice are being advanced for the Idaho and Mississippi so that, if possible, they may fire this important exercise on January 16, next, before departure for

THRONGS ONCE AGAIN SEEK MANGER

Devout See Nativity Pageant on Paseo De Los Angeles

History Repeated

View of holy manger represented at El Paseo de Los Angeles and group of worshipers.

Amid surroundings similar to those attending the lowly birth of Jesus, rich and poor of Los Angeles visited El Paseo de Los Angeles and with bowed heads mumbled prayers before a wax figure of the Christ Child in the manger of a miniature stable last night. Ragged tots clinging to the skirts of their beshawled mothers, prosperous merchants and their womenfolk, and men of wealth crowded and pushed their way to the opening of the miniature stable to look with reverence on the scene within.

The older folk were content to reach the doorway and repeat their words of homage, but the children in a constant stream wriggled through the crowd and into the room, where they knelt to kiss the outstretched hands of the figure of the Babe in the manger. Along the walls of the tiny room Spanish and Mexican senoritas bearing candles knelt and chanted carols, while in a corner shadow stood Reverend Father Pujol of the Church of Our Lady Queen of the Angels, softly intoning the acostar al nino, a blessing.

Only those on the outer edge of the crowd could hear the faint tones of strumming banjos and tinkling guitars of a group of serenading dons who played beneath the balcony of a house further down the picturesque street. The final scene of the observance had been preceded by the posadas, a custom in which two characters representing Mary and Joseph wandered from house to house seeking shelter before the birth of Christ.

The two were gruffly refused accommodations until at last they reached the abandoned stable with its roughly hewn manger. Crowds followed the characters throughout the journey along El Paseo.

The pilgrimage of the high and the lowly to the shrine continued until midnight, when Father Pujol led the way to the Plaza Church for midnight mass. Behind him followed brilliantly costumed senoritas, roughly dressed laborers, their wives and sleepy-eyed children, well-dressed men and their ladies, clad in silks and furs.

The observance of the ancient religious custom was made possible through the efforts of Mrs. Christine Sterling, Mrs. O. H. Stubergh, Father Pujol and the shopkeepers along El Paseo.

THREE DEAD IN TRAFFIC, MANY HURT

Ambulances Have Busy Time Answering Calls as Crash Reports Pour In

Three persons were killed in traffic last night and many others injured, several seriously. During a period of seven hours, from 4 to 11 p.m., sixty-seven ambulance calls were made and seventy-four patients treated, mostly for minor injuries, police reported. Fifty-six runs were made from Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and fifty-one patients were cared for.

Charles Frank, 82 years of age, 4509 Fourth avenue, was killed almost instantly, when he was struck by a car while crossing Third street near Fairfax avenue. The driver of the car, Kendall Riner, 3361 Bagley street, Culver City, was not held.

Miss Sarah Clattenberg, 19, walking on the sidewalk near the intersection of Hollenbeck avenue and Orme street, was injured fatally when two drivers, attempting to avoid a collision, crashed into her, inflicting injuries from which she died four hours later at General Hospital. The drivers, James Arnett, 1053 Dakota street, and James Corby, 4260 Kansas street, were not held.

Benjamin F. Wilkinson, 65, a colored janitor residing at 1232 East Thirty-eighth street, was killed instantly while crossing the street in front of his home. Earl Prouse, 1807 East Vernon avenue, who police say struck him, was booked on suspicion of manslaughter.

Dr. F. A. Giguett Dies in Pasadena

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 24.—Sudden relapse, after an illness of more than a year of heart trouble, brought death here tonight to Dr. Frank A. Giguett, prominent dentist, as he was preparing for Christmas at his home at 407 Patrician Way.

The dentist collapsed and was dead when physicians arrived. They pronounced death due to heart failure. He leaves his widow and two daughters, who are students of the University of California at Los Angeles. He was a past president of the Los Angeles Dental Society, and a graduate of the University of Southern California.

PARACHUTE JUMPS PLANNED FOR TODAY

Parachute jumps and skywriting will make up part of the aviation program scheduled for this afternoon at Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport. High winds last Sunday caused postponement of the second anniversary celebration for the port. Single, double and triple parachute drops will be made today by Frank Brooks, veteran jumper, while Capt. O. C. LeBoutillier and Earl Gordon will go aloft in specially equipped ships to paint giant smoke letters in the skies.

THIS SANTA'S WANTED, BUT ON DOZEN CHARGES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 24.—Santa Clauses everywhere, but not an identification in sight!

Detective - Lieutenant Al Young of the Santa Monica police, believes in Santa Claus. He believes in dozens of Santa Clauses; swears by the great name of Sherlock Holmes that as a disguise, a Santa Claus make-up beats anything ever conceived by the most imaginative writers of detective tales.

"I am looking for a fellow who's wanted on about a dozen charges," the worried officer declared at police headquarters today. "And all I've got to go on is that he got a job as a Santa Claus.

"The day after Christmas it would be easy to locate this bird, if he continued to wear his Santa clothes, but I want him in a hurry. I've looked under long white whiskers and short white whiskers, wool whiskers and cotton, but thus far all I've got for my trouble was the 'razzberry,' when I revealed the reason for my curiosity.

"You just can't penetrate that Christmas disguise. A fat Santa Claus turns out to be a thin man named Smith, and one St. Nick costume had a woman beneath. I should have pinched her, but she almost slapped me down for just poking her."

When asked what the name of the hunted man is, the detective sighed. "Probably only an alias, anyway," he muttered. The name is Jones.

SMALL BOYS SAVED FROM PIT OF TAR

Children First Reported Missing Rescued From Almost Certain Death

Two small sons of John Lowe, 2738 Clyde street, who were reported missing at 4 p.m. yesterday, were rescued from almost certain death in a tar pit near Hauser Boulevard and West Adams street shortly before midnight. How the two boys, Jack, 4 years of age, and Buster, 5, fell into the pit was not learned by the police because of the exhausted condition of the children when they were taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

The boys were so frightened and so exhausted they could not give their names or address. The police identified them through the missing report the father had made earlier in the day. According to the parents, the boys had been playing with a bicycle when they disappeared from their home.

It is believed they had been riding double and rode the bicycle into the pit. The bicycle later was found imbedded in the tar. The cries of the children were heard by Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Boyd, 2926 South Hauser avenue, while they were returning from a motion-picture show. At the hospital it required more than an hour for the doctors to remove the tar from the bodies and hair of the two boys.

SPECIAL FILM SHOW PLANNED FOR ORPHANS

Walt Disney, in co-operation with Hollywood Theaters, Inc., on Saturday afternoon will entertain 200 children of the Los Angeles Orphans' Home, 815 El Centro street, at a special matinee at the Filmarte Theater. The program will be featured by three or four Mickey Mouse sound cartoons and probably one of the Silly Symphonies, both original creations of Walt Disney.

In addition, the orphans will be entertained by "The Lone Rider," a western feature production starring Buck Jones, furnished through the courtesy of Columbia Productions.

SENTENCE NEAR FOR BEESEMYER

Thief Tomorrow Will Hear Penalty He Must Pay

Associates Will Be Cleared by Grand Jury Report

Family Pays Visit to Prisoner at County Jail

Tomorrow morning when Superior Judge Wood pronounces sentence, Gilbert H. Beesemyer who plundered the Guaranty Building and Loan Association of more than $8,000,000, will learn the penalty that he must pay society.

Tuesday afternoon Beesemyer pleaded guilty to the ten counts of grand theft on which he was indicted by the grand jury more than a week ago, and under the law he may be sentenced to a minimum of 10 or a maximum of 100 years in prison.

With Beesmeyer waiting sentence in his cell in the County Jail, Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart spent yesterday working with a committee of the grand jury on a report which is to be made public Monday, when the Beesemyer investigation will be officially closed.

OTHERS HELD GUILTLESS

From what could be learned from Stewart yesterday one or two more witnesses are to be called by the grand jury early Monday morning and then the investigation will be closed without further indictments. Members of the jury and Stewart believe, it was announced yesterday, that Beesemyer planned the huge theft from the Guaranty association alone, and alone gained any benefit from the stolen funds.

The report to be made public by the grand jury, according to advance information, will tell of the investigation and what it disclosed and also will make certain recommendations regarding new laws intended to prevent any future embezzlements such as Beesemyer's.

VISITED BY FAMILY

For the first time since his arrest Beesemyer was visited late yesterday afternoon by his wife, Mrs. William Beesemyer, his mother, and Dr. N. L. Beesemyer, a brother. Beesemyer met his family in the attorneys' room of the County Jail and, hunched over a visiting table, talked to them for about fifteen minutes. None of the family displayed any emotion during the visit or when Beesemyer kissed his wife and mother as they parted.

After the brief visit Mrs. Beesemyer declined to discuss her plans. She declared that she will visit her husband daily during the remaining days of his stay in this city.

According to his present plans Beesemyer, after sentence tomorrow, will ask for a stay of execution, which will allow him five additional days in this city before being taken to San Quentin. Once registered into prison Beesemyer may be returned here to render any assistance possible to the receivers of his wrecked loan association.

Unscrambling of the tangled affairs of the loan association will be at a standstill today on account of the holiday, but will be resumed with energy tomorrow morning. Receiver A. N. Kemp has set a corps of accountants at work to prepare a set-up of the debris and he and his attorneys are preparing a program of action and legal moves.

Virtually the same situation exists at the Bank of Hollywood, closed by State authorities. Receiver M. M. Ewing is out of the city for the day. His corps tomorrow will resume its task of preparing claim blanks for creditors to fill out and of making what collections it may for benefit of the creditors.

WHITMORE RETURNS

With his plans for the future indefinite, Charles A. Whitmore, who tendered his resignation as State Building and Loan Commissioner Tuesday, returned to Los Angeles yesterday from Visalia to spend Christmas with his family.

Whitmore said that he plans to remain in Southern California until his resignation becomes effective on January 6. He said that he has nothing to add to his statement to Gov. Young of his plans to resign.

The commissioner said in his letter of resignation that as a result of the plundering by Beesemyer of the loan association public confidence has been so shaken in his administration that it has been made impossible for him to continue to render the character of service to the State with which he can be content.

FOG'S UNMASKING PLANNED

County Commission to Establish Ten Stations for Charting Data Making Flying Safer

Fog—the enemy of aviation—will be tracked to its lair through a network of ten observation stations that will be placed in operation January 1, next, as part of the program being carried on by the Regional Planning Commission of Los Angeles county with an eye to the future development of airport establishment throughout the district.

Since starting its comprehensive survey of the most advantageous locations for sky harbors to take care of the air traffic the commission predicts will crowd the skies thirty years from now, it was revealed there is little accurate information on fog areas in the county.

To determine whether there are any spots which are free from low ceilings the year around and to gather data on other meteorological conditions which affect flying, Bryant Hall, research engineer for the commission, announced official weather reporting at the ten selected points in the county will be instituted.

Practice reports under the system Hall has devised are being made this month—reports on fog, ceiling, visibility and wind velocity. Charts have been provided the ten stations which can be filled out by inexperienced observers that will show at a glance weather conditions at any of the designated points at any hour of the day or night throughout the year.

Stations which will build up the unique charts are Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport, Van Nuys; United Airport, Burbank; Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale; American Aircraft Corporation, Los Angeles; Los Angeles Municipal Airport, Inglewood; Santa Monica Municipal Airport, Santa Monica; Marine Exchange Station, Los Angeles Harbor; Long Beach Municipal Airport, Long Beach; Western Air Express Terminal, Alhambra; Burnley Airport, Pomona.

Impossible flying weather will be designated as fog on the charts when observations show the cloud ceiling is down to 500 feet or less from the ground and horizontal visibility is one mile or less, according to the SINCLAIR LEWIS has contrived to turn the solemn ceremonies of awarding the Nobel Prize into a gutter brawl.

Some time he ought to carry on his picture gallery of American life by writing a novel whose hero was a gentleman. The necessary research and investigation would benefit his character.

GOOD START

At 33 years of age William Boyd has just been married for the third time to Dorothy Sebastian, whose second he is.

By the time he is 45—the age at which George Jean Nathan says that a gent should contract matrimony—Mr. Boyd bids fair to be an altar-scarred veteran.

PRETTY SOFT

It is probably very nice, indeed, for the commander of our South American gunboat fleet to have the Presidential yacht Mayflower as a flagship de luxe; but aside from giving him an elegant parlor in which to entertain his friends the uses of the Mayflower as a warship would appear to be nix. What is the use keeping an expensive private yacht in commission when it has no battle power whatever?

TERRIBLE WASTE

That 35,000,000 cubic feet of fuel gas is going to waste every day in one group of wells in the Kettleman Hills is a revelation of which the public service corporations should be ashamed.

The gas companies always complain that they haven't the "facilities" to use this priceless commodity. When are they going to get facilities? Every new oil field always seems to take them by surprise. In this enormous supply of free fuel California has the most astonishing commercial asset of any country in the world. But so lacking is the enterprise and so inert are the brains of the public service corporations that enough power to run half the engines in the West goes to waste in our various oil fields every year.

JUST BOYS

The police have decided that the threats to kidnap the daughter of Dr. Charles Bock come from an adventurous schoolboy—looking for thrills.

Just about this time two years ago another adventurous schoolboy looking for a thrill was sending kidnap notes. It was Hickman.

If there is any schoolboy who is sending notes demanding $5000 and threatening death he had better be put out of the way permanently right now. He will do worse. "Boys will be boys" as an excuse for crime doesn't get very far with me.

LOAFER WISDOM

The wise guys who some weeks ago were explaining why U.S.C. would beat Notre Dame are now hissing financial gossip about the condition of this bank and that out of the larboard corner of their mouths. This is what Kipling calls the politics of loafers.

SEARCH PUSHED FOR MURDERER

Police Run Down All Clews to Marshal's Slayer

San Bernardino Lead Gives Killer's Fingerprints

Funeral of Victim Saturday to Be Semimilitary

Like a will-o'-the-wisp Ray Arrington, 21-year-old bandit suspect, wanted for the hold-up murder of Perman Calderwood, continued yesterday to evade capture but hope of a clew to his whereabouts became bright when police learned the fugitive not long ago lived in San Bernardino.

During an exhaustive investigation of Arrington's more recent activities, Capt. Miller of the central homicide detail stumbled upon records in Monrovia revealing that he applied there late in 1928 for a license to operate a motorbus. In making the application he gave his address as San Bernardino and, accordingly, officers were dispatched there at once to canvass the city in an effort to run down some information of his present hiding place. The application also provided the police with a set of Arrington's fingerprints.

MURDER CHARGED

With Robert O'Neil, 23, Arrington is charged jointly with the murder of Calderwood following a hold-up early Monday night in a bottling-supplies store at 876 South Vermont avenue. O'Neil is in custody, having been arrested shortly after the crime. The two also are charged with assault with intent to commit murder in connection with the near-fatal shooting of Henry Krause, 28, proprietor of the store.

O'Neil was arraigned on both charges yesterday before Municipal Judge Baird and ordered held without bail pending preliminary hearing. The court set the hearing for the 31st inst.

Another formality necessitated by the murder was disposed of yesterday when a Coroner's jury conducted an inquest into the death of Calderwood. It found that he died of knife wounds "inflicted with homicidal intent," and recommended that both O'Neil and Arrington, the latter when he is captured, be held in connection with the crime.

KRAUSE MAY DIE

While members of the family were completing arrangements for the funeral of Calderwood the wounded man, Krause, was reported in a precarious condition at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. He has a bullet wound in the back.

Calderwood was murdered by one bandit, said by police to be Arrington, while Krause was struggling with O'Neill, the other. After robbing Krause of $30 in his store the bandits fled but Krause pursued. He caught O'Neill on the sidewalk and was grappling with him when Calderwood, on his way home, saw the scuffle and sprinted to the spot. The other man then returned to face a gun in the hands of Calderwood.

When Calderwood dropped his guard on the bandit's surrender the criminal whipped out a six-inch blade and dealt him a thrust in the back. As Calderwood sank to the sidewalk the murderer drew his own gun and shot Krause. Both outlaws then escaped in an automobile.

A few hours after the battle police took O'Neill into custody at a West Sixth street rooming-house. They also arrested five men and three women, suspected associates of O'Neill, and booked them on suspicion of robbery. Taken to the hospital, O'Neill, according to police, was identified by Krause.

Funeral services for Calderwood will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at Edwards Brothers' chapel, 1000 Venice Boulevard, under the joint auspices of Navy Post, American Legion, and Ramona Parlor, No. 109, Native Sons of the Golden West. There also will be present a delegation representing the fire department, in which will be Capt. S. H. Calderwood, retired, an uncle. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

The services will be semimilitary in nature, the casket being flag draped and the interment itself being signalized by the sounding of "taps."

Mr. Calderwood was 35 years of age. He was born in Sacramento of pioneer stock and came to Los Angeles as a boy. At the time of his tragic death he was employed as a warrant officer in the Municipal Courts with the rank of deputy marshal. He leaves his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Calderwood, with whom he made his home at 882 South New Hampshire street; two brothers, Chief Petty Officer George E. Calderwood, U.S.S. Luzon, now in the Orient, and William F. Calderwood, engineer, and one sister, Mrs. J. Cravilla.

No Sacrifice to You

This is certainly the time to give away that blanket, coat, bathrobe, or any article of warmth of which you have a duplicate. The few times you will use those worn things will not compensate for the comfort you can give to the very needy this winter. There are only too many missions and charities that can place any warm clothing as soon as it is given to them for any to be packed away and not used. Look over your supply and do good.

Real Spirit of Christmas Cheers Thousands

PINCH OF POVERTY EASED

Salvation Army Distributes Baskets of Food to More Than 2000 Needy Families

With traditional fervor the great heart of the Salvation Army yesterday poured forth its annual flood of Christmas blessings upon the city's poor. Nor did color nor creed nor nationality once stem the tide that rose in the name of charity.

The day marked the regular pre-Yuletide distribution of provision-laden baskets, and in more than 2000 otherwise cheerless homes there was a smile on long-sorrowful faces last night and a song in long-leaden hearts.

The distribution was accomplished through twenty-two Salvation Army stations, to each of which the unfortunates of the district trudged with lagging step, but departed with a new lease on life.

More than half the horde of needy received their supplies at the organization's headquarters, 832 West Ninth street. They assembled first in the auditorium, where they were welcomed by Brig. James C. Bell, divisional commander; Joseph B. Dabney, member of the Salvation Army advisory board; William Lynes, president of the Southwest Optimist Club; Ben. Isham, representing the Exchange Club of Los Angeles, and Marshall Louis Mertins, the Army's public relations counsel.

For an hour the guests then sang army hymns and Christmas carols, and with the favors of Providence, invoked by the speakers, they went to the basement, received their baskets and went their way rejoicing. So plentifully was each family provisioned for the Christmas feast that it required two large paper market bags to contain one dole. In one bag were canned goods, cereals, coffee, sugar, milk, bread and butter, and in the other, perishables, such as fresh vegetables, fruits and a roast of either beef or pork.

The Army Saturday night again will scatter sunshine among the poor at a Christmas tree rally in the auditorium of Polytechnic High School. Santa Claus will be there to present the children with gifts of toys, candies and fruit, after which there will be a vaudeville program, featuring the Hill Billies, Ed Mahoney, comedian, and Billy Lennon, boy tenor.

standard agreed on by airmen and Hall.

It will be possible through the systematic reports to determine where and when fog originates in the county, where it is most prevalent and the courses it takes on its approach.

This information will be tied in with the locating of airports recommended in the surveys now being made by the commission.

Seven major terminals — one in the Los Angeles down-town area, and the other six in the Glendale, San Fernando Valley, Inglewood, Los Angeles Harbor, El Monte and southeast areas of the county—have been recommended in the plan to keep the county apace with aviation development of the future.

PLAN NEW FIELDS

Areas surrounding these proposed ports are to be surveyed from the air and on the ground to spot secondary landing fields which the commission believes will be necessary by 1960.

In a survey of the San Gabriel Valley area the commission, in addition to the seven already in operation, located fifteen sites that can be converted into secondary ports and pointed out the possibility of adding landing area to three of the original ones.

Future need of more ports is based on present per capita ownership of planes in the district—one ship to every 2500 persons—with the proportionate increase predicted for 1960 of one plane to every 500 persons.

STUDENT FACES TRIAL IN TRAFFIC KILLING

Ben Varon, 19 years of age, a student, is facing Superior Court trial for manslaughter as a result of the death of M. S. Samora of 226½ North Grand avenue. He was ordered held under $1500 bail following a preliminary hearing before Presiding Judge Ambrose of Municipal Court. Samora died in a hospital the 11th inst., witnesses said, as a result of injuries suffered when he was struck by Varon's automobile on November 19. The accident occurred at the intersection of First and Fresno streets, where Samora was waiting for a street car.

"PEACE, GOOD WILL," SUNG IN HALL OF CONTENTION

"'Twas the day before Christmas, and all through the courts,

Not a word was heard spoken of contracts or torts."

According to an old Courthouse custom, Christmas was celebrated at the seat of county government yesterday by carols sung by members of the County Choral Club and newspaper reporters from Courthouse press rooms.

The latter had slightly the better of the bargain, being entertained with a turkey dinner in the jail dining hall sponsored by Chief Jailer Peoples and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kemp.

C. D. Wier, baritone for the moment, but ordinarily clerk in Superior Judge Valentine's court, led the club in its rendition of ancient yuletide songs in various offices.

Because Christmas comes in the middle of the week this year, long and formal programs that have marked other years were omitted. A collection was taken in the office of C. L. Logan, County Recorder, but, instead of using it to entertain, as is usual, it was distributed in outside charities.

In County Clerk Lampton's office radio music and dancing passed away the afternoon, when only a skeleton force of clerks was necessary to attend to business, few actions being filed.

Only in the marriage license bureau was business as usual the order of the day. Prospective brides and bridegrooms came to the office to declare their intentions of matrimony in even greater numbers than usual, according to Rosamond Rice, chief clerk in charge.

GANG'S KIDNAP PLOT EXPOSED

Other Rich Men 'Marked' by Caress's Abductors

Ransom Schemes Defeated in Bloody Gun Fight

One of Suspects Arraigned but Remains Silent

Investigation of reports that a number of other wealthy men were to be kidnaped and held for ransom by the same gang which adbucted Mr. and Mrs. E. L. (Zeke) Caress of Hollywood was being made by local and Long Beach police yesterday.

Others mentioned in the report are James N. Crofton, Baron Long and Wirt G. Bowman, all of San Diego and principal owners of the Agua Caliente Hotel and race track properties, the police said they were informed.

The officers say that they are informed that had the kidnaping of Caress, a wealthy Agua Caliente and Hollywood gambler, been successful last Saturday night—before the gang fell in a gun fight with Long Beach police while en route to collect $50,000 ransom—the other men were to have been taken.

HOODLUM ARRAIGNED

The plot to obtain Caress's money failed when the suspects were accosted at the Long Beach docks, where they were waiting to go to the gambling ship to cash the checks, by policemen and the gun battle ensued.

Ralph Sheldon, alias James J. Sherman, eastern hoodlum and gunman, was arrested in the battle, and yesterday in a courtroom guarded by shotguns was arraigned on three counts of assault with intent to murder.

The prisoner was taken before Municipal Judge Long at Long Beach. Preliminary hearing was set for January 6 at 10 a.m. Bail was set at $75,000. Sheldon is represented by Attorneys Phil Swaffield and Albert K. Lucas, the latter at one time Assistant United States District Atorney.

CLOSELY GUARDED

The three assaults, according to the complaint, were committed against Long Beach Police Officers W. H. Waggoner, W. E. Slaughter and C. A. Jenks, who fought the Sheldon gang in a gun battle near the P. & O. docks Sunday night. Waggoner received severe wounds.

Six officers armed with shotguns escorted Sheldon to the courtroom from the jail for the hearing and stood guard for the court to prevent any attempted delivery of the prisoner by his "mob."

While the arraignment was being conducted Officer Waggoner lying paralyzed from his wound in Seaside Hospital, identified a blood-stained overcoat found near a riding academy at El Sereno as having been worn by one of the hoodlums in the gun fight.

CAR OWNER HUNTED

The gunman who wore the coat is reported dying from the wound and the police are told that as soon as he expires his body will be delivered to the authorities.

Further search is being conducted for a member of the gang, believed to be in Hollywood, to whom the automobile seized at the scene of the shooting is registered.

Sheldon has refused stubbornly to admit his name, although police say they have positively identified him as the one-time leader of a Herrin gang. He has said nothing since his arrest but the officers assert they have information which may lead to the arrest of other members of his outfit.

SENTENCE NEAR FOR BEESEMYER

ed the 17th inst., to direct the affairs of the Consolidated Building and Loan Association was asked yesterday in a petition filed in Superior Court by Charles A. Whitmore, State Commissioner of Building and Loan Associations.

The petition declared that the Corporation has "refused or neglected to comply with orders of the Building and Loan Commissioner." For that reason and "to prevent waste or diversion of funds," the document sets out, Charles W. Holbrook has been appointed custodian of the corporation.

The Consolidated Corporation has offices at 617 South Olive street and it was learned that the old officers resigned several weeks ago. M. T. Hughes of San Diego is a former president and O. E. Saholt, former secretary.

WHITMORE SUCCESSOR NOT YET SELECTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24. (Exclusive)—James Rolph, Jr., Governor-elect, said today he is not yet ready to indicate whom he has in mind to succeed Charles A. Whitmore as State Building and Loan Commissioner. The latter resigned because of the $8,000,000 defalcation of Gilbert H. Beesemyer in the Guaranty Building and Loan Association of Los Angeles.

BIDS ON CARS ASKED

The Fire Commission yesterday requested City Purchasing Agent Oughton to advertise for bids on fifteen light coupes which are to be used by fire prevention inspectors in making their rounds.

BANK BANDITS OBTAIN $7500

Two Institutions Robbed in Daylight Hold-ups

Eight Employees Bound and Gagged When Trapped

Lone Negro Closely Trailed After Daring Crime

Entering the institutions shortly after opening hours yesterday, bandits robbed two banks in the northwestern section of the city and escaped with $7500, according to police reports.

Eight employees were bound and gagged in the robbery of the Security-First National Bank at 950 Westwood avenue after the robbers forced their way into the building by holding up the night watchman. Robert Robinson, chief teller, was one of the last to arrive while earlier arrivals had been bound and gagged, and he was forced to open the vault. The robbers obtained $6000.

G. R. Kingdon, the manager, was about to enter the bank when he looked through the window and saw the bandits at work. He slipped away and telephoned police.

Apprehension of a Negro bandit who held up F. A. Chapman manager, and two employees in the California Bank at 175 North La Brea avenue shortly after 10 a.m. was believed imminent by detectives last night. A man answering his description was seen in the Central-avenue district and several squads of officers were detailed to thoroughly search that neighborhood. The bandit obtained $1500 in cash from Chapman, police report.

While the bank robberies topped the list of the day's crimes police announced that thirteen hold-ups throughout Tuesday night in which plunder totaled at more than $10,400 swelled to a record the robberies for the first twenty-three days of this month.

Actress and Russian Wed

Leni Stengel, Radio Pictures actress, and Boris Ingster, Russian director now making foreign versions for First National, were married yesterday by Superior Judge Crawford in his chambers. They met three months ago at the home of a friend.

After both have finished the pictures on which they are now working they will go to Canada on a honeymoon trip.

HARDY EXPLAINS PAROLE ACTIONS

Release of Probationers at Christmas His Custom

Law Quoted to Prove Right Exercised Legally

Dismissed Persons Declared Not Criminal Now

Defending his stand in releasing [illegible] county probationers from county supervision, Superior Judge Hardy yesterday detailed more fully his reasons for the move which aroused criticism in many quarters of the city Tuesday.

MAY STANDS PAT

Carl May, county probation officer, last night stood by the statements he made in open court to Judge Hardy when the jurist made the so-called wholesale releases, which included Mrs. Pantages.

"I told the court at that time," May said, "that Mrs. Pantages should not be released. Although her record with my department is faultless and she has complied with all requests made by us during the fourteen months she has been under the department's supervision, I do not feel that the short probation period was long enough.

"In light of her conviction and the ten-year probation period imposed on her it is my opinion Mrs. Pantages should have reported to the department for five years.

JUDGE ANSWERED

"I understand that Judge Hardy pointed out other persons were released from reporting after completing one-fourth or less of their time. The case to which he refers, I believe, is one in which a man was on an eighteen-year period and has served three years of this.

"That man's record has been perfect and in his case we believe he has been rehabilitated and set on a course of good citizenship.

"My criticism of Judge Hardy's action is not a personal one, for the jurist and myself are friends and co-operate in correcting and aiding those under our supervision, but I do not agree with him in releasing Mrs. Pantages and it was done against my recommendation."

Particular attention was drawn to dismissal of the 149 wards of the probation department because of the fact that Mrs. Lois Pantages, after serving one year of her ten-year probation period, was released from all of her obligations.

Judge Hardy pointed out that dismissal of the probationers was not an unusual procedure but one which he has followed consistently since taking office as a judge in the criminal division of Superior Court.

The statement follows:

"The dismissal of these cases at this time was not unusual but on the contrary it has been the practice for many years to dismiss during Christmas week the cases of those probationers who had for some time kept the conditions of probation and had proven themselves law-abiding citizens.

"During the Christmas seasons of the past seven years I have dismissed the cases of hundreds of probationers.

ACCORDING TO LAW

"The probation law provides that the judge may at any time when the ends of justice will be subserved thereby and when the good conduct and reform of the person so held on probation shall warrant it, terminate the period of probation and discharge the person so held. The law further provides that upon such discharge of a probationer the court shall permit the probation to withdraw his plea of guilty if he has entered one or if he has been convicted the court shall set aside the verdict of guilty and in either case the court shall dismiss the action.

"The law further provides with respect to this matter that upon a person being placed on probation, the probationer will be informed of this right and privilege in his probation papers.

LAW-ABIDING NOW

"No probationer has been dismissed until restitution, if any was required, has been made, and further upon a showing that the probationer has met and is meeting all family obligations and by good conduct has shown reform and rehabilitation and has become a law-abiding citizen.

"The probation officers recommended the dismissal of 148 of those who were dismissed on Tuesday last, many of whom had served less than one-half of their probationary terms and others less than one-third, while some had served less than one-fourth of their terms, but all had made good and were entitled under the law to be dismissed.

NOT CRIMINALS

"The persons whose cases I have dismissed are not now criminals, regardless of the charges of which they were once guilty, and the inference made that a large number of criminals has been turned loose on the community is wholly false and unjustified. While most of them served terms of imprisonment as a condition of their probation, they have long since been engaged in the business and social life of the community, conducting themselves as upright citizens."

Judge Hardy further pointed out that many of the probationers are successful business men conducting enterprises built upon sound business principles and good character established during the period of their probation.

Police Office Funds Voted

The City Council yesterday transferred [illegible] to be used in fitting up quarters in the City Hall for the use of the police department's record and detective divisions now established in the old buildings in First street. The vote was 9 to 6.

Chief Steckel and some of his divisions already are quartered in the northwest section of the Temple street level of the City Hall.

The Finance Committee, which recommended the appropriation, pointed out that a saving of $9000 annually in rent will be effected by the move.

Today's Bible Text

And I heard another out of the altar say, even so, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are thy judgments.—Rev. xvi:7.

FIGHTING OVER PEACE

Just what the word "parity" stands for depends upon which faction of the navy in some particular country is writing the definition. If we could take the question of disarmament away from the "experts" the world movement toward peace might get somewhere.

BROKE TWO PRECEDENTS

What flabbergasted the Senate, when Morrison of North Carolina arose to defend McNinch, was not so much that he had broken the precedent which keeps a newly seated member silent for several weeks as the fact that he really had something to say when he opened his mouth.

ATTENTION, MACK SENNETT

Why waste time trying to think up ludicrous situations for two-reelers when the newspapers carry stories like that of the wedding of Barbara Buffum to "Sir" Milton Bramwell? It's all there. Alleged knight; bride former inmate of psychopathic institution; escape; chase; fashionable wedding with steward's clerk as groom. And what a chance for "gags."

COOLIDGE BOOSTS ADVERTISING

Calvin Coolidge says: "It is essential in the first instance to make good merchandise. But that is not enough. It is just as essential to create a desire for it. That is advertising." And we might add that the most successful merchants and manufacturers are those who never fail to let the public know, through continuous advertising, that they have not stopped the manufacture or selling of dependable goods.

DIGGING UP MORE DIRT

A new book which accents the failings (rather than the greatness) of the poet, Burns, published in England, is arousing the same disgust against muckraking volumes that the Rupert Hughes history of Washington stirred in America. After all, the greatness that emphasizes a person's life is the thing which makes him stand out above the mediocrity of the common herd with which he shares the failings. So why waste time on the commonplace in the history of a man the sole object of the printing of which could be to vend gossip?

LIU FOOK GOES FREE

There was a time in California when scant attention was paid to pleas by orientals in cases where they or their brethren had been caught in the meshes of the law. This was in the days when it was generally conceded by Californians that "for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the heathen Chinee is peculiar."

Now, however, due respect is paid by the police and the judiciary to allegations made in behalf of the almond-eyed brother, who is given every opportunity to prove his innocence when charged with even the most heinous of crimes. An example of this is seen in the case of Liu Fook, Chinese house boy in the employ of Mrs. Rosetta Baker, rich and eccentric patroness of arts and "mother" to young players, who was found strangled to death in her bedroom in San Francisco recently. Liu Fook was jailed on a charge of having murdered his employer. The evidence made the case look dark for Liu, who was at once indicted by the grand jury for the crime.

He probably would have been hanged, but information gathered by the Chinese Six Companies at much trouble and expense went far toward showing that he was not the murderer, but that it was a white man still at liberty. When Gint Jee, the companies' attorney, presented the new evidence to the grand jury that body withdrew the indictment and Liu Fook was set free. He has been detained again, however, for further investigation.

The alacrity with which the jury accepted the evidence presented by the imprisoned man's friends and with which it set him at liberty is in marked contrast with the dilatory way in which justice was meted out to Chinese in California forty or fifty years ago. It is an indication that our people have lost much of their old-time prejudice against the Asiatic race.

CALIFORNIA, CHRISTMAS LAND

Obviously the most appropriate spot for a perfect Christmas celebration would be the little town of Bethlehem, where the infant Christ was born. Palestine, being too far away from the centers of the present-day Christian population—practically inaccessible for such a purpose to the everyday American citizen—for us a Christmas celebration in the Holy Land is out of the question.

The next thing then is to celebrate Christmas in our own country in a region which most nearly resembles the land over which shone the Star on the most eventful night in the records of the race. Somewhere, amid surroundings similar to those where the event we commemorate took place, we will better realize the spirit and the inspiration of the sweetest story ever told.

The only spot in the United States for such a celebration lies between the Sierra Nevada Mountains and the Pacific Ocean, in almost the same latitude as Palestine itself. By some strange dispensation of nature or providence, Southern California in the West duplicates to an extraordinary extent the climatic and topographical features of Canaan in the East.

The more closely one observes the two pictures, the more startling is the resemblance. The only difference is one of degree. Things are planned on a large scale here where they were originated on a small one. Palestine might well be called a cameo, a miniature pastel of Southern California.

Climatically both lie within the semiarid subtropical zone of the Northern Hemisphere. The dry season in Palestine starts in June and ends in October and its three summer months—except for occasional thunderstorms in the mountains—are rainless. This closely follows our own weather chart. The average rainfall is a little higher than ours for the wet season which periodically corresponds exactly with that of our Southern California seacoast. Maximum and minimum temperatures are similar.

Topographical resemblances are equally remarkable. Along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea are valleys and plains, sloping thence to foothills backed by a range of mountains—and behind the mountains extensive deserts. Citrus fruits, olives, grapes, deciduous fruits are grown in the valleys under irrigation in the same manner and with much the same results—of course on a smaller scale—as obtain here.

Substitute for the Pacific Ocean the Mediterranean Sea; for Mt. Whitney, Mt. Hermon; for the roaring Colorado River the wriggling, rushing Jordan; for the Salton Sink the Dead Sea; for the Sierra Madre Range the Galilean Mountains; for the San Gabriel Valley the Plain of Esdraelon; for the Mojave the Syrian Desert, and you have a Southern California in epitome planted on the western coast of Asia Minor.

Palestine turns its mountainous back to the wilderness and faces the sea which carried the commerce and civilization of an ancient order whose glory has departed. Southern California looks down from loftier mountains and larger deserts to greet an ocean, the destined center of a new civilization as yet in the forming.

It was to such a land as we in this favored region occupy today that Moses in the world's first great exodus led the Children of Israel over the sands of the Sinai Desert and across the Judean Mountains; and thus he described that land of promise as it appeared to the pioneers in their forty years' fight to possess it:

"For the Lord thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains and depths that spring out of valleys and hills; a land of wheat and barley and vines, and fig trees and pomegranates; a land of olive oil and honey; a land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack anything in it; a land whose stones are iron and out of whose hills thou mayest dig brass. And when thy herds and thy flocks multiply and thy silver and thy gold is multiplied . . . and thou hast built goodly houses and dwelt therein . . . beware that thou forget not the Lord thy God."

It was in this land that the infant Christ was born—and surely it is in a land fitting, so phenomenally the picture drawn by the prophet of Israel that the celebration of that birthday should receive its brightest garlands and its most golden sheaf of remembrance.

Yet we hear newcomers to this land of promise on the shores of the Pacific sometimes complain that they miss the features here of what they call an old-fashioned Christmas. But this old-fashioned Christmas to them means the snow scenes of Maine or Norway or Scotland, the feasting of the Saturnalia, the Yule log of Thor and Odin, the mistletoe of the Druids, the wassail bowl of the Saxons, the Santa Claus of the Teutonic family, the fir tree rituals of old Germany.

These customs are dear to us through tradition and enshrined in the hearts of the Norsemen. But there is an older-fashioned Christmas which goes back to the hills of Judea, the long road from Nazareth to Bethlehem, the pilgrimage of the Wise Men over the desert trails, the shepherds tending their flocks in a green valley, the star blazing in a subtropical sky.

Where in the western world could we recall more vividly the story of "The Birth" told so simply, so poetically, so realistically in the pages of the Gospels than in this Christmas land of palms and vines and "fountains that spring out of valleys and hills," at the goal of men's last exodus from East to West?

AIR PREPAREDNESS

Transport airplanes are traveling more than 2,000,000 miles for every fatal accident. As the result of safety measures the number of passengers carried during the first six months of 1930 quadrupled over the corresponding six months of 1929. This was enhanced some by the cheapening of fares. Government air experts predict that with the perfection of patents that will permit planes to land safely in small areas, suburban air travel will reach astounding proportions within a very short time. Governing bodies in small communities would do well to digest these facts and make provision for future close-in landing fields while the buying of land is not prohibitive.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

EVERY Angeleno knows the Holmes bookstores, but most of us don't know we might never have had that chain of stores if Robert Holmes, the founder, hadn't thought Foy was a Chinese name.

Grew from Nothing

There are six Holmes stores in Los Angeles, and they are among the biggest bookstores in town, containing hundreds of thousands of volumes. The story of their growth from nothing is a story of enterprise which never allowed itself to be balked. Robert Holmes was what they used to call a "drummer." He traveled about the West, leaving his family in San Francisco or Berkeley, until his wife died leaving him with five children to look after. He gave up his job so he could live at home and keep track of them, and no other job was available. He'd never been in the book business, but he liked books, and some one told him there was good money in old books.

HOLMES BOOK STORE

That was in the 80's, the days when paper-backed novels were numerous. Once people had read them they were ready to discard them. Holmes bought them up. Then he would meet incoming ships, offering one of those novels the incoming passengers hadn't read yet for two they had read. He sold books to outgoing passengers and crews the same way or for cash. He carried his stock on his shoulder and managed to clear several dollars a day. And every cent he didn't have to use for his family was put into more books.

To freshen up the old books, he bought wallpaper samples and covered them, with the titles written on the covers. His business grew so that he had to rent a downtown base of supply. His two sons grew old enough to help and he took them into the business. He expanded until his store occupied three adjoining storerooms.

Then pneumonia left him in bad condition and the doctor ordered him to spend a year in the sunny Southland. He came here to rest, but after a few months wanted to get into business here. He saw a vacant storeroom at 257 South Main street, which he thought would make a good location for a bookstore. He was told that the owner was Cal Foy, who had an office over on the edge of Chinatown.

Foy Could Take a Joke

Cal Foy was one of the foundation men of present-day Los Angeles, an upbuilder and an important citizen. But the man from San Francisco didn't know that. He thought Foy was a Chinese name. He didn't really want to go into business here, as he was wedded to San Francisco—he merely wanted something to occupy his time for a few months. He went to see Foy just because he had nothing else to do. When he met him his greeting was: "Why, you're not a Chinaman!"

Foy had a sense of humor. Instead of being annoyed, he took the matter as a great joke: He and Holmes became great friends. Holmes started the bookstore and wrote his son Norman to come down and manage it. Norman liked Southern California so much he transferred his interest in the San Francisco and Oakland stores to his father and brother Harold for full ownership of the Los Angeles store.

CAL FOY?
ME NOT SABE!

Famous Books Which Didn't Sell

Norman was like his father. He loved books and could sell anything. Ambrose Bierce had 900 copies of "Black Beetles in Amber" which he couldn't sell. Norman bought them for 3 cents apiece and set out in a buggy to huckster them, as one would carrots or potatoes, for 10 cents apiece. Now those books sell for around $20 each. Robinson Jeffers had his first volume of poems printed here, no one cared to buy "local poetry." He was glad to sell them to Holmes for a cent apiece. Holmes has two left which he holds at $75 apiece. And perhaps the salesmanship of Holmes had much to do with the making of those authors, for certainly no one can be appreciated till he is read. Books unsold never made anyone's reputation, but books in the hands of readers may start the world to talking.

THREE CENTS EACH!
GOLLY!

One Lee H. Irwin of Los Angeles published a book called "Told in Whispers" which didn't sell. At last Irwin sold 3000 copies of it to Holmes for $30. Holmes loaded up a buggy full of them and peddled them for a dime apiece. Soon Irwin was flooded with orders.

Many a lot of books Holmes bought for a cent or a few cents a copy now would be worth their weight in silver dollars. Maj. Horace Butler, the author of a book entitled "Reminiscences of a Ranger," sold Holmes all he couldn't sell otherwise, which was most of the edition, and was so furious when he saw them on sale at 10 cents apiece that he threatened to beat Holmes with his cane. Now those books sell to collectors for $30 apiece.

Depressions Help Collectors

Every period of depression brings a flood of rare and valuable books to the dealers in secondhand books. People who find their revenues suddenly decreased search their attics for something salable, and books which have not seen the light of day for years are brought forth. Most of them are junk, but many rare volumes are among them. This holiday season has resulted in the resurrection of thousands of books which had been stored away, and many a collector's heart will be gladdened when he discovers some of them.

HO, HO!
NOW I PAY AGAIN!

Books That Pass in the Night

Though Norman Holmes is the manager of six big bookstores, each containing as many books as a good-sized library, he has a most amazing memory for individual books. A collector recently went to him for a book which has been out of print about thirty years and which never was famous. The collector couldn't even remember the author's name, but recalled the title of the book. Holmes instantly remembered the book and the author's name. "I haven't a copy here," he said, "but if you'll go to our store on Spring street, near Second, you'll find it on the third shelf back on the lefthand side—a book in a dark red binding."

But even he couldn't tell us where to find copies of Earl Derr Biggers's "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and Marah Ellis Ryan's "House of the Dawn." Though both are comparatively recent books which enjoyed tremendous sales, it is hard to find either in the secondhand stores.

Yet when one rummages in the old bookstores he is amazed to see how many best sellers are books that pass in the night. You may find thousands of books which were big successes only a few years ago, which droop forlornly on neglected shelves, in spite of such tempting signs as "Six for $1."

BAY CITY'S NEW MAYOR

Nothing has proved the popularity of Mayor Rolph of San Francisco with his colleagues of the Board of Supervisors of that city better than the almost unanimous election by that body of Angelo J. Rossi, his choice of an official to succeed himself. At the same time the 14-to-2 vote by which Mr. Rossi was named by the board indicates the esteem in which he is held by the Supervisors and by the public. Gov.-elect Rolph, who is 61 and has been elected to his present office for five consecutive periods, would have held the Mayor's office twenty-one years had he remained in it to the end of his present term.

In recommending the man who should be his successor Gov.-elect Rolph said last week: "Supervisor Rossi merits election as Mayor, and I trust that he will win without difficulty." At the same time the Mayor announced his intention of submitting his resignation to the board on Saturday, January 3, to become effective coincidental with his inauguration into his new office.

Angelo J. Rossi, who has been a resident of San Francisco for more than forty years, like his predecessor in office, is a native of California, having been born in Amador county on January 22, 1878. He began in business in the Bay City in a small way, and largely by his own untiring efforts has become a prosperous, influential and highly respected citizen. He is now engaged in several local enterprises, chief among them being a large florist concern.

One consideration which weighs largely with the people of San Francisco in favoring Rossi as Mayor is the fact that there are, so far as known, no political or other strings on him. Often unsuccessful attempts have been made by members of this or that local clique to induce him to grant them patronage of one kind or another. Mr. Rossi is reputed to be pledge-proof and he has given all the political rings to understand that as Mayor he will take orders from nobody.

Although Mr. Rossi has long been interested in the affairs of his native State and particularly those of San Francisco, his interest has not been merely that of a man seeking office. He is serving his second term as Supervisor and at the last election led the ticket. For years he has been active in the affairs of the Native Sons of the Golden West, in which he has held high office. He is a former Playground Commissioner of the city and belongs to various business and fraternal organizations. There is an outspoken quality in the man, which, with his proved private and official integrity, has won him the approval and admiration of the citizenry.

His new job will be no sinecure. Mayor Rolph will leave him as legacies the ill-starred Municipal Railway and its financial futilities, the Hetch Hetchy water mess and the difficulties incident to the construction of the Golden Gate and transbay bridges.

ART AND SCIENCE

For many generations progress in the study of the universe was handicapped by lack of ingenuity in the building of apparatus. For the past twenty-five years art has been overhauling science and soon may be very close up. The perfection of a very small lens that will give the 100-inch Hooker telescope the spectroscopic power of the yet-to-be-built 200-inch glass prompts the hope that ascertaining of the extent of star-filled space and the nature of the power that controls the heavenly bodies are problems near to solution.

Christmas Customs

Festival's Descent from Pagan Feasts Unbroken Although Birth of Christian Era Gave It New and Radically Different Significance—First Carol Sung in 13th Century—Christmas Tree and Wassail Bowl Had Origin Far Back in History—Greeting Card for Season First Appeared Less Than 100 Years Ago.

BY MARY JANE MOORE

Splendidly rich in its beautiful spiritual implications, the holiday of Christmas likewise has a superabundant heritage of customs and observances many of which stem back centuries beyond Him whose birth was foretold at this season nearly 2000 years ago.

To find the beginnings of the festivals which always have been observed by mankind at this time of the year one must go deep into antiquity. Yet, how different from the festival now so widely celebrated was the pagan observance in honor of the shortest day of the year, with its faint but none the less certain promise of another warming springtime!

The holiday of "Saturnalia" among the Romans was one in which revelry and open licentiousness reached a towering height. Feasting, drinking and merry-making, which descended ultimately to the depths of debauchery, made the pagan holiday a carnival of lust in which all classes, even the slaves, took part. Gifts were exchanged and the houses bedecked with greens.

Among all ancient peoples are to be found records of the observance of a festival at this season, and while our celebration of the great holy day and season of Christmas is in a different spirit, and in vastly different surroundings, it is true that there is a direct and unbroken line of descent in so far as a great many "appurtenances" of the occasion are concerned.

For example, among the barbaric tribes of the north of Europe, centuries ago, huge blocks of wood were fired in honor of the gods Thor and Odin, and men and cattle were sacrificed upon them. Mistletoe, which still is a favorite Christmas green, had a prominent part in this crude, rough service.

The Goths and the Saxons referred to this holiday as the "Festival of Yule," and the term still is considered synonymous for Christmastime. Among these peoples the Yule log was of central symbolism—and this peculiarly English custom has always clung to its place of picturesque importance in the annals of this festive season.

To the ancient Teutons one must go to find the beginning of the Christmas-tree custom—now perhaps one of the most universal of all Yuletide observances. The Teutons, holding sway in the great, tangled forests of Germany, marked this period of the year by "decking a fir tree, for they thought of the sun, riding higher and higher in the heavens, as the spreading and blossoming of a great tree."

The meaning of the ornaments has been described by Prof. Schwartz, who says that the lights represent the flashes of lightning overhead, the golden apples, nuts and balls symbolize the sun, the moon and the stars, while the little animals hung in the branches betoken sacrifices made in gratitude to the sun god.

As was the case in so many other holidays, with the advent of Christianity the customs were given a new and richer meaning, and fraught with the deep significances of the life of the Master.

Mistletoe, from the earliest times, has held an important place in celebrations at this season. It figures largely in Scandinavian mythology and the earliest annals of England tell of native veneration for the green. The Druids held it to be their most sacred possession and particularly so when it was found growing on an oak. It was believed to have marvelous curative powers and the Druids called it "all healing."

It is believed that the earliest existing Christmas carol, written in Anglo-Norman, is of the period of the thirteenth century. It was discovered, incidentally, in the middle of a manuscript now in the British Museum. Sung by professional minstrels, it ran thus:

"Lordlings, listen to our lay—
We have come from far away
To seek Christmas.
In this mansion we are told
He his yearly feast doth hold.
May joy come from God above,
To all those who Christmas love!"

The earliest printed collection of carols was published in 1521 by one Wynkin de Worde.

Mumming was a somewhat riotous feature of old Christmas observances and an account has been preserved of a procession of London citizens in the year 1377, in honor of Prince Richard, a son of the Black Prince. "One hundred and thirty men," says Katherine Calvert Goodwin, "disguised as emperors, popes, cardinals, knights and squires, all mounted and wearing vizors, and attended by numerous torch bearers, rode to the Prince's palace at Kennington to the sound of trumpets, sackbuts and other music. Games of dice were played, followed by feasting and dancing, 'which jolitie being ended, the mummers were again made to drink and then departed in order as they came.'"

This example was generally followed by the people and continued for many years.

Many have heard of the custom of "bringing in the boar's head," but few know just what it entailed. It was another peculiarly English custom, and became so important that in 1170 one finds a reference of Henry II, at the coronation of his eldest son, "serving him at the table as server, bringing up the boar's head with trumpets before it, according to the manner."

The boar's head, "according to the manner," was brought in, smoking and held aloft on a silver platter, and heralded by a master of revels, choristers, trumpeters, huntsmen with boar spears and pages carrying mustard. The steaming head itself was garlanded with rosemary and laurel and then placed, in great honor, at the head of the table.

Another very important feature of Christmas celebrations of an earlier day was the wassail bowl. In many cases this was an enormous bowl of silver, beautifully bedecked with greens and filled with a delicious concoction of ale, sugar, nutmeg and roasted apples. According to some authorities, the wassail bowl may be traced back in origin to Rowena, a Saxon princess. The story is that she presented to her father's guest, King Vortigern, a bowl of wine with the adjuration, "Louerd King, Wass-heil!"

During the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, English Christmas celebrations took on all of the picturesqueness that the modern designer tries to put on his seasonal greeting cards.

Those were spacious days, and after the religious duties were taken care of the community gave itself over to merry making, in which the burning of the Yule log, the wassail bowl, the playing of music, the exchange of gifts all had their vital parts.

Santa Claus, that venerable gentleman to whom all children traditionally must start mailing requests for gifts several months before Christmas so that he may make up their packages in his Northland home, once lived in the person of St. Nicholas. That he is portrayed as an old man is because in the ancient pagan feasts in celebration of the decay of the old year and the birth of the new an old man played the principal role. Among the Greeks and Romans it was Saturn, the father of all the gods, while among the Germans it was Thor, who was long-bearded and white-haired.

The tradition of hoary age, appropriate for representation of the dying year, is said to have been too strong to be driven away by the new figure of the Christ Child, which was a feature of the early church observances. That the saint is St. Nicholas is because his feast day was celebrated at about that period.

St. Nicholas was a bishop of Myra, who flourished early in the fourth century. The patron saint of children and schoolboys, it was only natural that he should become a part of a holiday festival in which children came to be more and more prominent.

According to one writer, the practice of making presents on Christmas Day undoubtedly owes its origin to a general endeavor to carry into practice the biblical mandate, "Peace on earth; good will to men." At first the great lords made presents to their retainers and the season was marked by almost universal charity. From this beginning sprang the widespread present-day custom of giving presents to one's friends and family on Christmas Day.

Although use of the Christmas tree is spreading rapidly and is particularly widely employed in this country, it is only in relatively recent years the tree has come into popularity in countries outside of Germany and Central Europe. It was introduced in France in 1840 by Princess Helen of Orleans and at about the same time it came into England along with Prince Albert, consort of Queen Victoria. The Christmas tree, of course, stems back in origin to the fir tree rituals of the Teutons. As a matter of fact, it really goes much further, for all ancient peoples had a conception of a "tree of life" which they symbolized in a living tree.

Now Christmas brings to us again the pregnant words, "Good will to men;" and we should mark and ponder them, a legacy from Bethlehem. A splendid day when they succeed in being part of every creed, when they shall govern every act, and every circumstance and fact. "Good will to men"—when that's in force, our mortal work won't be so coarse; no battlefields will reek in smoke, war's weapons we shall put in soak, and rulers will not wring their hands through fear of losing frontier lands, and battleships will cease to sweep in search of foes along the deep, and men won't stay awake all night inventing tools with which to fight. And all the problems we deplore won't hang around us any more, to rasp our heartstrings now and then, when all men cry, "Good will to men." The wave of crime will die away upon that happy, golden day; the man who's fond of shooting gents to gain eight dollars and ten cents, will see the evil of his course; there'll be less wrangling and divorce; the cops will have a softer snap than any cop now on the map; the churches will increase and thrive while pastors keep our zeal alive. The schoolhouse will supplant the pen, when we decree good will to men. May angels speed the blessed day when strife will all be done away; and each of us may do his part by keeping kindness in his heart, by helping others as they wend, forgiving those who may offend, and banishing all thoughts of hate that in his soul would congregate. Now Christmas brings us once again that grand old thought, "Good will to men."

Drive on Poppy-Snatching

Snatching of poppies, worn on World War memorial days in honor of fallen heroes, has led to serious clashes in the Irish Free State. Gangs of "anti-imperialists" make a practice to raid the buttonholes of popy wearers and on a recent memorial day in Dublin shots were fired and stones thrown. Some of the molested persons were pursued into stores and homes. Police had to disperse the crowds with batons.

12 Men Ring Bells 11½ Hours

Twelve members of the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths rang the bells in a church at Painswick, Eng., for eleven and one-half hours recently and regained their record for the greatest number of changes in twelve bells. They were locked in the bell tower all day, and were without food or drink. They rang 17,687 changes, which is 2375 better than the last record, made in 1929.

Fifty-Two Wedded Years Marked

MARRIAGE FETE HELD IN HOSPITAL

Fifty-second Anniversary of Couple's Wedding Not Prevented by Illness

It would have taken more than an operation or a hospital to put a stop to the observance of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Grimes yesterday afternoon at the California Lutheran Hospital, where, with Mr. Grimes confined to his bed as the result of an operation five weeks ago, the couple celebrated the passing of the fifty-second milestone in their married life.

At the same time, according to members of the hospital staff, it was the first time such an event ever has taken place in the hospital.

Although Mr. Grimes was not strong enough for anything elaborate in the way of entertainment, he was able, with his wife, to greet a few old friends, and he was especially happy to have as a guest one of the friends who had atttended their wedding on Christmas Eve, 1878, in the little Quaker town of Harveysburg, Warren county, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Grimes, whose home is at 334 Fourteenth street, Santa Monica, have been residents of Southern California for fifteen years, during which time he has been retired from active business. Throughout earlier years, however, Mr. Grimes led an active life and was especially concerned with the development of the Oklahoma Territory. Following two terms as Sheriff of Johnson county, Nebraska, in 1889 he moved to Oklahoma and helped to obtain the Territorial government, after which he was appointed the first United States marshal of Oklahoma Territory. Later he was Secretary of State there.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Grimes are 73 years of age and they declare their life together has been successful because right from the start and throughout their fifty-two years it has been kept strictly on a fifty-fifty basis.

ARMY OF NEEDY TO SHARE IN JOY

of these men and also to the homes of other needy ex-service men.

In addition to giving money, clothing and Christmas baskets to needy families on the East Side, Woodrow Wilson Post No. 317, American Legion, has arranged a dinner and party for all veterans' children on the East Side and has made donations to the Jewish Home for Incurables, Jewish Home for the Aged, Salvation Army and several churches.

Toys will be given today to children at the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum at 815 El Centro avenue by Harold B. Franklin, former president of Fox West Coast Theaters. Yesterday afternoon he gave toys to the children at the asylum at 917 Boyle avenue. At the distribution ceremony, Superior Judge Sproul was master of ceremonies and Edward Maxwell, actor, served as Santa Claus.

FOR COUNTY CHARGES

Hundreds of the county's poor were made happy yesterday through the benevolence of the employees of Bullock's-Wilshire, who furnished Superintendent Holland of the County Welfare Department with 600 Christmas packages, each containing three gifts, which were distributed among county charges.

Dinner bags were distributed to 400 families yesterday by the Christian Mission and Industrial Association, 112 Weller street. In the bags there was food enough for 2800 persons, it was announced, 2000 of them being children, according to estimates. In addition to the dinner bags Christmas bags were given out with candy and sweets, enough for the 2000 children. Distribution was under the direction of E. W. Campbell, manager of the association.

The Police Post of the American Legion yesterday played the role of Santa Claus to sixty-seven needy families, distributing as many baskets well filled with foodstuffs, delicacies and toys. The list was taken from several hundred families investigated by division commanders at the request of Captain of Detectives Slaughter of the Police Juvenile Bureau. The baskets were contributed by members of the post and distributed under the supervision of Commander Harry Toland.

Distribution of Christmas baskets by members of Al Malaikah Temple of the Shrine began yesterday and will continue today. One thousand families will be visited by Shriners, each bearing a large gift basket. The Shriners also were hosts yesterday at a party for the children in the Orthopedic Hospital.

CHURCH FESTIVITIES

Scores of churches of Los Angeles have arranged for elaborate musical and speaking programs to be given this morning and evening.

Greeting the dawn with the singing of carols, members and friends of Messiah Lutheran Church will assemble at the church at 7 o'clock this morning to participate in a sunrise service in honor of Christ's natal day. A sermon will be preached by Rev. J. H. Peters. Following the services, baskets filled with toys and food are to be distributed among the poor of the neighborhood.

Rev. Philip A. Easley, rector of St. Stephen's Church, announces a program of Christmas music to be given at that church at 10 a.m. today. Services also will be conducted at 7 a.m.

Christmas music and a sermon by Rev. Walter G. Blossom will feature the program at 10:30 a.m. today at St. Matthias's Episcopal Church.

Services at other churches will be as follows: St. John's Episcopal, Holy Communion, 7 a.m., program at 10 a.m.; St. Thomas's Episcopal Church, choral eucharist, 10 a.m.; Amanda Memorial Chapel, services at 7:45 a.m.; Highland Park Lutheran Church, 6 p.m.; St. Paul's Cathedral, 7:30 and 10:30 p.m.; Fifth-avenue Lutheran, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.; St. James's Episcopal, 8 a.m.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BLANKETS OF TURKEY WITH MUSHROOMS

Pick enough turkey from the bones to cut into half-inch pieces, making about two cupfuls in all. Place in a saucepan three tablespoons of butter, three tablespoonfuls of flour and one cupful of turkey gravy, stir well and allow to cook slowly for fifteen minutes. Beat the yolks of two eggs and add to them three tablespoonfuls of cream, and one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Slowly add this to the sauce, stirring constantly, add the turkey meat, add one small canful of mushrooms that have been sliced thin. Season with salt, cayenne pepper and a few grains of nutmeg. Mix well, allow to heat through but do not boil. Place on a hot serving dish and surround with parsley and buttered toast points.

MINCE AND APPLE ROLL

Two cupfuls of flour, four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt, three level tablespoonfuls of shortening, one-half a cupful of milk, two large baking apples, three-quarters of a cupful of mince meat and half a cupful of sugar. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together, chop in the shortening, then add the cold milk, roll out, one-half an inch in thickness, spread with melted butter and then spread with the chopped apples which have been sprinkled with a few drops of lemon juice, over this place a layer of the mince meat, sprinkle with the sugar, roll up like a jelly roll and bake in a moderately hot oven for twenty-five minutes. Serve with a lemon sauce.

CAULIFLOWER TIMBALES

Two-thirds of a cupful of scalded milk, two-thirds of a cupful of fine bread crumbs, one medium-sized head of cauliflower, cooked drained and rubbed through a sieve. A seasoning of salt, white pepper and a few grains of cayenne. Three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, the yolks of three eggs and the whites of three eggs. Pour the milk over the crumbs, place on the fire and cook slowly for five minutes. Remove, add the cauliflower puree and pour in slowly the beaten yolks of the eggs. Add the butter and seasonings. Beat well and allow the mixture to cool. Then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Oil a mold or individual mold, pour in the mixture, cover with a piece of oiled paper, place in a pan of water in the oven and allow to cook until firm in the center.

SHRIMP GUMBO IN A RICE RING

Place in a saute pan four tablespoonfuls of butter, add to it one large chopped onion and cook until the onion is transparent, add one cupful of solid tomatoes, one green pepper, chopped fine, one cupful of uncooked ham, cut in small dice, and one-half a cupful of water. Allow this to simmer slowly for thirty minutes, season with salt, cayenne pepper and a fourth of a teaspoonful of sugar, add two cupfuls of cleaned shrimps and two cupfuls of okra. Allow to heat thoroughly and serve in a rice ring.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Let all foods cool thoroughly before placing them in the refrigerator. Not only do warm dishes cause the ice to melt wastefully, but the keeping qualities of the food will be destroyed.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

THERE IS NO PERFECT FOOD

Many scientists have searched for a food that is complete in itself for all of the food requirements of the body. Such a food if found would be very interesting from the scientific standpoint, but probably of very little practical value, because a diet consisting of only one flavor would soon become so monotonous as to be nauseating. At present, such a food is unknown in Nature, and even man's ingenuity has been unable to devise it. Milk has been thought by many to be a complete food, but it is not, for it does not contain enough iron to sustain an adult indefinitely. Babies manage to get along for a considerable period on milk alone, but this is because Nature has made the wise provision of storing a large amount of iron in the baby's liver to last the infant over its milk-eating stage until it is partaking of other foods. I do not know of any other food which even approximates being a complete food as to be suitable for an exclusive diet by itself over a period of years.

A few people have been able to sustain their lives over a period of several years on meat alone, but to be able to do this it was necessary to eat many parts of the animal which people do not ordinarily care for, and it is also necessary to eat a portion of the meat uncooked. One cannot live on legumes alone, cereals alone, fruits alone, without suffering from some form of physical or mental deterioration. By selecting several among these different foods, which are inadequate by themselves, it is possible to construct a diet which seems to be well adapted for sustaining life.

If a scientist were able to construct a synthetic food, containing all of the elements which were required by the body, it is quite possible that there might be certain combinations of chemicals in the food which would cause disturbance in the body if continued over a long time.

In selecting our foods we should choose each article of food for a definite purpose; for example, the body requires a certain amount of protein each day. It is not necessary nor advisable to use protein food at every meal as long as you obtain a sufficient amount of protein during the day. It is also a good plan not to use more than one of the rich, commonly called heavy foods at a meal, but to combine with the heavy food other foods of a lower caloric value, but which have valuable mineral salts and vitamins. Experiments have proven that the instinct is not a safe guide in choosing foods, and it is important that we train ourselves to eat for efficiency. At present, food is so plentiful that one can always obtain a wide variety. The ease with which food may be obtained leads many people into using foods which are tasteful but not nourishing, or in using inharmonious conglomerations of food in excess of the body's requirements.

It is good to select various foods which contain the elements for the growth of the body, but if these are used in excess, or too many of the same kind at one time, one is only crowding the body with material which it cannot use. One should select the foods for a definite purpose of building health and strength in the body, and use only the foods which experience has taught us are the best.

Quite a Protection

On stormy days spread a newspaper in front of the kitchen radiator and as the family comes home let them deposit galoshes, rubbers, etc., on it until they have dried. In this way your clean linoleum will be protected and it is an easy thing to burn the soiled newspapers.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO EVERY READER!

Every year for many years readers who have had some personal service from the "Your Baby and Mine" department find time to send me cards or letters of Christmas greeting. They have no idea how immensely touched I always am by this attention. In the midst of the mountains of obligations which Christmas always brings to all of us, it is flattering and gratifying that anyone finds time to write some little personal greeting to a stranger.

My Christmas greeting to all of you is no less personal because it must come by means of the printed page. There are so many thousands of you that this is my only method of reaching you all. At this moment I am thinking of you, not individually, but as the very personal entity you are to me, "my readers," and wishing you all the same happy day with "your babies" that I am having with "mine."

DAY OF MANY EMOTIONS

We are all quite honest enough to admit that Christmas is a day of mixed emotions, the high exaltation that comes to those who spend the morning in church, the expectations and burdens of the housewife with a Christmas dinner on her mind, the excitement of the children of the family. All these emotions, harnessed together in one household, are very apt to result in a disappointing chaos.

I know from experience, and probably so do you, that there is a point in the middle of Christmas afternoon when the whole day goes sour. It is getting dark. Digestive organs are growling their discomfort. The philosophical comment that "Christmas comes but once a year, thank goodness," hardly does its duty of covering the quarreling and confusion and clamor of a group of tired, excited children.

"Do they have to make so much noise?" says father in a manner which implies his certainty that they do not.

"Give Nancy her doll, Junior. A great big boy like you playing with a doll. What has happened to your Mecano set? Tired of it? Good Heavens, so soon!"

RELIEVING THE SITUATION

This is the moment we all know, the moment which gives rise to that hopeless emotion which springs up in parents after they have done, as they say, "everything" with such a result.

At this moment, bundle the children up and send them outdoors. Recognize the signs of nauseating fatigue due to unnatural excitement, and end it all by a brisk romp in the open air to clear the atmosphere, restore good nature, and bring the children back with a renewed interest in those toys which have gone dead for the moment. With such management we can put them to bed in the joyous spirit which said, "Merry Christmas!" at the beginning of the day.

Baby's Dresses

Baby must have neatness and daintiness itself on her little frocks and the best way to insure a neat finish when inserting fine Swiss lace is to have a line of hemstitching made where you wish the lace to go. Cut through the hemstitching and sew the insertion on either side with fine stitches. There will be no rough edges anywhere.

LITTLE JOE OTTER'S CHRISTMAS FUN

Since first the Great World was begun
There's always been the need of fun.
—Little Joe Otter.

Little Joe Otter believes in the value of play and lives up to his belief. There is nothing lazy about Little Joe Otter. No, sir, there is nothing lazy about him. He is a great traveler and a good provider for his family, but at the same time he likes to play and always finds time for a little fun.

It was Christmas morning. Little Joe didn't know that it was Christmas, for the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows knew nothing of Christmas. All Little Joe knew was that for some unknown reason he felt in the very best of spirits this fine morning. It was bright and cold. In the air were good cheer and happiness. He felt it in every breath he drew.

"Dee, dee, chick-a-dee!" cried Tommy Tit, swinging from the tip of a birch twig above him. "It's a fine day, Little Joe Otter."

"It is so," replied Little Joe. "I hope you are feeling as happy as you look."

"I am," replied Tommy Tit. "I don't know why, but I feel as if everybody must be happy and joyous today. Blacky the Crow sounds as if he feels the same way. I guess it is in the air."

It was true. Blacky was cawing off in the distance and, though his voice was just as harsh as ever, there was in it something that suggested that Blacky was feeling in the best of spirits. "It must be in the air," declared Little Joe. I feel like having some fun. Is there any open water down the Laughing Brook, Tommy Tit? I have been on a long journey, far from these parts, and haven't been back long enough to find out how things are."

Tommy Tit's eyes twinkled. "I know what you want," he cried. "You want to go sliding. Of course there is some open water in the Laughing Brook. There always is over by the big spring half way to the Smiling Pool, and the bank there on one side is just as steep as it used to be."

Little Joe chuckled. "Thank you, Tommy," said he. "You have guessed it. There is no better fun than sliding. I think I will go over there and make me a slippery slide."

Away went Little Joe, making a queer track through the snow. You see, his legs are very short and when he bounded along he made a print of the full length of his long body and the mark of his tail besides. Tommy Tit flew after him. He wanted to see the fun if he couldn't share in it. When Little Joe reached the open water he wasted no time. Right to the top of the bank at the steepest place he went, stretched himself flat on his stomach with his front legs folded back along his sides to be out of the way, gave a mighty kick with his hind feet and away he went down the bank toward the cold-looking black water. He didn't go very fast, for the snow was somewhat soft and he had to push it out of the way. When he reached the water he slid into it and disappeared. In spite of his own warm coat, Tommy Tit shivered. He couldn't help it.

"Isn't that water dreadfully cold?" cried Tommy Tit as Little Joe's head popped out.

"It isn't cold at all," replied Little Joe as he climbed out and hurried around up the bank to the place where he had kicked off before. That was true so far as Little Joe was concerned; that water didn't seem cold to him. He kicked off again and down he went once more, this time a little faster than before, because there was less snow to push out of the way. There was some water clinging to his coat, just enough to wet the snow a little, and this Jack Frost at once froze. The third time down the Slippery Slide was still faster.

By the time Little Joe had been down half a dozen times the snow had become packed and icy and he would go down fast. This was great fun and it wasn't long before Sammy Jay and Blacky the Crow had joined Tommy Tit to look on. Chatterer the Red Squirrel was hidden in a tree where he could watch. Jumper the Hare peeped out from under a little hemlock tree. Billy Mink popped out from under the ice and watched, but refused Little Joe's invitation to try the slide. Lightfoot the Deer was present. Reddy Fox pretended that he had come that way by mere chance and wasn't interested. However, it was noticed that he remained where he could watch and that on his face was a broad grin.

So it was that Little Joe Otter had fun on Christmas Day, and all his friends and neighbors joined in it, for, though they couldn't themselves slide, it was fun to see him go down the slippery slide. So everyone had a Merry Christmas and I wish you the same.

PLANTER OF DEODARS TALKS

Thomas L. Hoag Tells How He Put in Famous Row

"Mile of Living Christmas Trees" Beginning Told

Seedlings at Home of Late Capt. Kingsbury

ALTADENA, Dec. 24.—Forty-five years ago a perspiring young man by the name of Thomas L. Hoag planted 100 deodar tree seedlings along a private drive which climbed the foothills from the Pasadena limits to the ranch home of the late Capt. Fred J. Woodbury.

Tonight, the same man, now almost 79 years of age, was present when the old ranch driveway, now Santa Rosa avenue, was transformed instantaneously at the closing of an electric circuit into the "Mile of Living Christmas Trees," recognized as the world's most spectacular Christmas display.

As Hoag, standing near the stone monument in honor of the tree planting, saw the entire avenue above him become a fairyland of vari-colored light, he admitted that he was thinking of a hot June day, forty-five years ago, when he lowered the first three-foot seedling into a hole dug by Chinese ranch hands at the head of the drive.

KIWANIANS START THINGS

Capt. Woodbury, a Civil War veteran, did not realize the pleasure which the trees were to give to hundreds of thousands half a century later, when he ordered Hoag, then his ranch superintendent, to set out the seedlings. It was Fred C. Nash, former president of the Pasadena Kiwanis Club, who eleven years ago conceived the idea of stringing the trees during each holiday season with red, white, blue and green electric bulbs. The Pasadena Kiwanis Club and the Pasadena Municipal Light Department have sponsored the annual illumination since that time.

Last year, it was estimated that more than 200,000 persons viewed the spectacle, and due to the increasing publicity, it is estimated that 350,000 persons will motor slowly down the avenue between tonight and New Year's Eve. A squad of officers has been assigned to direct traffic and Boy Scouts will be stationed at intersections to prevent east and west traffic from 7 to 10 p.m.

"The seeds from which the trees grew," said Hoag, "were obtained by Capt. Woodbury from the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington. They came from India, where the deodar of this species grows to a height of 150 feet and is known as the 'God Tree.'

"The trees I planted are about seventy-five feet high, but with average rainfall, will grow much higher in the ensuing years. These were the first Himalayan deodars planted in Southern California and they have produced practically all the seed for the thousands of trees of the same species planted in this vicinity in recent years.

"When Capt. Woodbury received the seeds by mail, he had me plant them in boxes in his greenhouse. He remarked at the time that the seeds were from a heathen land, but that the California sun would civilize them if anything could.

"When the seedlings were transplanted I remember we had to watch the Chinese laborers closely to see they didn't disturb the roots in carting the trees to the drive. The fact that we had had a good rainy season gave the trees a good start, but they had to be irrigated for several years.

"The Woodbury house was enlarged by the Storey family and now faces Mariposa street, east of the Christmas tree street."

Pointing a finger at the stone ditches lining the "mile of Christmas trees," Hoag chuckled.

DITCHES CAUSE TROUBLE

"It was building those ditches that gave us the trouble. We had to cart all those boulders from Rubio Canyon and once one of the teams of mules hauling the stones ran away downhill and smashed a chicken coop into kindling wood."

After working for Capt Woodbury for four years, during which time he planned the laying out of local streets and superintended the landscaping of many of the ranch estates, Hoag opened a livery stable in Pasadena, which he operated at the intersection of Colorado street and Raymond avenue. He later was employed by the Pacific Electric Railway and served as motorman on one of the first Mt. Lowe cars.

Appearing to be a man of 60, instead of one approaching the fourscore mark, Hoag is living quietly at 64 Valley street, Pasadena.

"I don't envy George Washington his cold stone monument when I think of my living Christmas trees," he laughed as the colored lights were turned on tonight.

Heavy Holiday Mail Refutes Hard Times Cry

ONTARIO, Dec. 24.—All records for handling mail in the local postoffice were set this week, when more than 36,000 cards and letters were placed through the slot in one day for outgoing trains.

According to P. E. Berger, postmaster, this number of outgoing pieces of mail in one day, refuted the cry of "hard times" that has been heard frequently.

The nearest approach to this figure for outbound first-class mail for one day was made last Christmas season, when 27,000 letters were mailed, according to Berger. One train carried 128 sacks of mail from the Ontario postoffice in one load, also a new record for the local department.

Sixteen extra workers have been added to the staff of the local postoffice for the holiday season Berger reported.

All departments at the postoffice have set new records thus far this season, according to the postmaster.

GLENDALE IN HOPES OF VICTORY

City and Chamber Expect to Win Prize for Best Float in Rose Parade

GLENDALE, Dec. 24.—Although they are maintaining an atmosphere of secrecy, such as prevails every year about this time, city officials and Chamber of Commerce executives in charge of Glendale's float for the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, insist that the 1931 entry will overshadow anything that has gone before.

A few privileged persons have been permitted to work their way past the guards who protect the float, and all of them return with glowing predictions of another victory for Glendale in the coming Rose parade.

"Our float this year will not only be a magnificent creation," said L. H. Myers, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, "but it will deal with a subject that is now engrossing the attention of almost all the people of California. It is the work of Mrs. L. W. Chobe, the widow of the man who designed this city's winning floats in former years, and it will add strength to the old cry, 'beat Glendale and you win,' that other cities have sounded in the past."

Chamber of Commerce officials have arranged a press luncheon for the 30th inst., to which representatives of the principal newspapers of Southern California will be invited, and at which the description of the float will be announced, and the reporters will be given a preview of the Glendale entry.

SPANISH WAR CAMP TO SEAT OFFICERS

VAN NUYS, Dec. 24.—Members of the United Spanish War Veterans Camp of San Fernando Valley have completed plans for the installation of new officers for the year. Ceremonies will take place in their headquarters in Odd Fellows' Hall at Van Nuys, following recent election. The new officers are Clive Webb, Commander; Jack Neal and George Graves, Vice-Commanders; Otto Schmucker, Adjutant; William Martindale, Quartermaster; Roland Phipps, Inspector; Claude Henry, Historian; Mark E. Brennan, Chaplain, and George Lindsay, Officer of the Day. At the same time Mrs. Mary D. Cornell will be installed as president of the camp's auxiliary. The camp of veterans is a large one. Most of the members served in the Regular Army in Cuba or the Philippines during the war of 1898.

FEASTING IN ALL HOMES POSSIBLE

San Bernardino Prepares Baskets of Food, Toys and Clothing, for Holiday

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 24.—Notwithstanding the present economic conditions, Christmas will be a day of feasting in all homes here.

This will be due to the activities of church, charitable, civic, fraternal, service and other organizations, which have been filling more than 300 baskets with all of the food for Christmas dinners which will be distributed to needy families tomorrow.

Not one family will be missed in the city except any who may not have made their circumstances known.

Roast beef or roast pork with all of the "fixings," are in each basket prepared by the organizations. Some have given turkeys, toys, nuts, candy, fruits and other dainties, to add color to each basket.

The Salvation Army, Elks' Lodge, Catholic Welfare Society, American Legion and Auxiliary, service clubs, City Store, junior college, girls in offices who have formed Christmas pools, Masonic lodges, and many other organizations, are uniting to see that everybody really has a merry Christmas.

The Elks' Lodge is arranging for clothing, shoes and food in addition to sending milk for the next two months to families in need, where there are small children.

Salvation Army workers are preparing baskets with more than 2000 toys in them, to give gladness to the hearts of needy families.

Mayor John Ralphs is personally supervising the activities of the Community Store so that he can be absolutely certain that everybody will be taken care of. Generous donations of cash and merchandise from citizens and business houses of the city have made the City Store a place of activity and Christmas food is being distributed to all for the asking.

Dry Squad Raids Whisky Plant Near Ramona

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 24.—The Sheriff's office dry squad early today confiscated a 300-gallon whisky still and arrested two men on a ranch fifteen miles north of Ramona.

Headed by Tom Oliver, chief of the dry squad, the deputies brought back as evidence to the Sheriff's office, two 500-gallon vats, one 100-gallon still, thirty gallons of brandy and ten five-gallon cans of honey.

The officers destroyed 1000 gallons of whisky mash. Buck Woods, alias Buck Woolridge, was arrested on a violation of the Wright Act charge, and booked at the County Jail. According to officers, Woods had in his possession three gallons of liquor similar to that found at the still. Woods was arrested only a short distance from the still. Van Sanford, Ramona rancher, was arrested near the still and charged with violation of the county drunk ordinance.

The still, which is the third to be confiscated in two weeks, was located in Spooks Canyon, on the Woods ranch.

Smudge Smoke Causes Crash

REDLANDS, Dec. 24.—The automobile of Traffic Officer Cyril S. Hendricks of Los Angeles was completely wrecked during the heavy smoke from smudging here last night when Vance Cole of 1415 East Washington street, Los Angeles, did not see a blind street and drove it up the steps of the Junior High School.

Cole has a broken nose, cuts and bruises. Luvry Irwin, with him, was not injured. The two Negro boys had been sent by Hendricks in his car to Imperial Valley to bring back Mrs. Hendricks, who was ill there.

MASONS TO INSTALL

LA CRESCENTA, Dec. 24.—Royal I. Lowe will be installed master of the Crescenta Valley Masonic Lodge on the 30th inst. The new officers of the Eastern Star chapter are Mrs. Marian Tillery, Matron; Mrs. Martha Thompson, Associate Matron, and Mrs. Dora Ann Evans, Conductress.

FUTILITY OF WAR SHOWN

Letters Exchanged Each Christmastide Between San Fernando Man and His German Captor

SAN FERNANDO, Dec. 24.—This is a good news story to print on a Christmas morning, and at the same time to point out the eternal folly, uselessness and futility of any kind of war.

Every Christmas for the last twelve years letters, expressing warm friendship and best wishes for the years to come, are exchanged between Capt. Frank L. Muller of San Fernando and Corvetten Kapitan Adolph Franz of Witten-im-Ruhr, Germany. Thereby hangs a tale.

At dawn on September 30, 1918, the UK-152, German submarine, commanded by Capt. Franz, suddenly appeared through the fog of the North Atlantic—the cold wall region of the sea—and opened fire on the United States transport Ticonderoga. The latter, because of poor coal and consequent poor steaming qualities, had lost her convoy bound for France with American troops.

In the three-hour battle that followed, the Ticonderoga lost 190 men killed in action on her decks. Her guns returned the fire of the submarine until they were disabled. The decks of the transport were littered with dying men and wreckage. Her commander, James J. Madison, was struck by shrapnel and badly wounded. Flames swept the doomed vessel and the order to abandon was given. Twenty-two of the 240 men aboard took to a lifeboat.

The remaining twenty-eight survivors clung to life rafts. Hanging to one of these were nine of the transport's crew, including the executive officer, Capt. Muller. Later, knocked unconscious by a blow from floating wreckage, he was torn away from the raft. The other eight were never heard of again.

When Capt. Muller "came to" he found himself aboard the submarine, having been picked up while the sub was later cruising amid the wreckage of the Ticonderoga, looking for cases of food. For forty-five days Capt. Muller was a prisoner of war on the submarine, and a warm friendship sprang up between him and the German U-boat commander. The latter is now manager of a large iron works in the Ruhr country. Capt. Muller has just received the annual letter of his German friend while the letter from Capt. Muller to the German Corvetten Kapitan will be received on Christmas Day, Capt. Muller states.

COUNTY ADDING FIRE APPARATUS

Complete Protection Soon for Ventura Area

Avenue District Gets Huge Truck From Department

Station Being Built Now at Moorpark for Two More

VENTURA, Dec. 24.—Within the next few weeks, practically every part of Ventura county outside the limits of incorporated cities will have complete fire protection, it was revealed today by Walter Claberg, assistant county fire warden, with his announcement that a 500-gallon fire truck was delivered this afternoon to protect the Ventura-avenue district between the oil fields and the Ventura city limits.

Yesterday a 450-gallon fire truck was taken to Piru for the protection of the east end of the county, Claberg said. A fire station now is being erected at Moorpark to house a fire truck for the Simi Valley district, and a fire truck for the Oxnard district under construction.

The Moorpark fire house will be completed in two weeks, according to Claberg. The fire truck on the avenue will be used to protect the property of approximately 3600 persons living outside the city limits of Ventura.

Until plans are completed by the Ventura county fire department to build a fire house and maintain a crew of fire fighters on the avenue, the Shell Oil Company will take charge of the truck and its firemen will answer calls.

Prior to the new additions to the county fire department's service and equipment announced today, the department has maintained two trucks, one at Santa Paula and one at Ojai.

The city of Ojai, under a special agreement, also has the use of the truck there when needed. The district for that truck includes all of the Ojai Valley and the Matilija district down to Oak View Gardens.

Redlands Plans Striking Exhibit at Orange Show

REDLANDS, Dec. 23.—W. T. Ferguson, superintendent of city parks, who for several years has had charge of the building of the Redlands exhibit at the National Orange Show, is planning the most striking exhibit this city has ever had. The motif this year is to be Persian, and Ferguson, who refuses to divulge his idea, says that it will be entirely in keeping.

"I have gone through the 'Arabian Nights' frontwards, back and sideways, to get just what I wanted, but I do believe it is a corking good idea. And we can work it out wonderfully with the use of oranges," he declared.

It is said that the show this coming year will be easily the most colorful and glamorous in the history of the show. It will admit of gorgeous trappings of colors that will put the rainbow to shame and also of exceptional costumes for the young women who play such a large part in the show.

The entertainment features of the show this year will be the most elaborate in history and also a roof is to be put over the sideshow section, so that it will not be hurt by rain.

Chicken Dinner for Transients

ONTARIO, Dec. 24.—Wandering transients who apply to the Salvation Army retreat in West Main street here Christmas Day are to receive the surprise of their lives.

Every one of the transients is to be served with a bountiful chicken dinner, Capt. Little, in charge of the army activities here, announced today.

Several ranchers and poultrymen replied to an appeal for the army, and donated chickens to Capt. Little. So many chickens were received that the backyard of the army retreat was overcrowded, and beheading was started at once to get the 150 hens ready for the Christmas table.

Capt. Little expects to feed more than 300 transients. In addition to giving them all the chicken they can eat, he is placing complete chicken in each of the Christmas boxes the army is giving to needy families.

George Flagg, a seaman by vocation, now out of a job, is doing the cooking at the Salvation Army retreat, and will be in charge of preparing the scores of chickens for the Christmas dinner table.

FREE POSTOFFICE SITE IS DESIRED

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 24. After the count is in on January 1, next, the North Hollywood postoffice expects to find that it did a $40,000 postal business during 1930. This will put the office in the first-class rate, and will entitle it to a Federal postoffice building worth about $75,000. Congress is getting ready to make the huge appropriation for new postoffice buildings. The local Chamber of Commerce already is planning over the question of a suitable site. Some stress is being placed on the possibility of a free site being offered by one of the wealthy residents here, it being pointed out that the towns offering the free sites to the government will get the first consideration when the appropriation is handed out. So far no free site has been offered, but it is stated pressure is being brought to bear on two leading citizens who are large property owners.

DEER'S CLUB HAS NEW HEAD

Antlered Gift Given to Elks' Wives

Mrs. Albert C. Sittel, Mrs. Marvin Wick and Gift

REDONDO BEACH, Dec. 24.—The presentation of a most unusual gift in a beautiful specimen of the head of a native deer, to be used as the emblem of the club, marked the Christmas party of the Deers' Club, unique philanthropic organization formed among wives and mothers of the members of the Redondo Beach lodge of Elks.

The club is not affiliated with the lodge, since the order permits of no auxiliaries, but carries on much work which might not come to the attention of any other welfare organization.

The emblem is the gift of Mrs. Albert C. Sittel, the wife of United States Marshall Albert C. Sittel, trustees in the local lodge, and it has proved an inspiration to the club.

Mrs. Marvin Wick, president, received the insignia for her organization.

POMONA TO SIFT EVIL OF SMUDGE

Resolution Passed by City Council Asking Attorney to Look Up Legislation

POMONA, Dec. 24.—Cognizance of the soot and smoke evil, the result of orchard heating by citrus growers, on frosty nights as a protection to their crops, was taken today by the Pomona City Council in a resolution passed after having been submitted by Councilman Roscoe M. Hoover. In the resolution, State legislation to investigate the soot and smoke which accompany orchard heating is asked.

The paper instructs the City Attorney to make an investigation to determine if pending legislation seeks to correct the so-called evil, and, if not, to use his influence in bringing about measures to eliminate the smoke nuisance without curbing necessary protective measures.

The full text of the resolution follows:

"Resolved, that we are not unmindful of the great investment in the citrus industry of Southern California and of the advertising features alone that this industry gives to our part of the county, and

"Resolved, that it is not the intention and purposes of this Council to unnecessarily work a hardship upon the growers of citrus fruits, but that it is our understanding that heating for the protection of this fruit can be done without the objectionable feature of the terrible smudge that all must now endure; now, therefore

"Be it further resolved, that the Council of the city of Pomona instruct their City Attorney to ascertain whether there is State legislation now pending to regulate this great nuisance and, if not, that he use his best efforts to see that such regulatory legislation be enacted at the earliest moment."

Canning Plant at Burbank Ends Record Season

BURBANK, Dec. 24.—The McKeon Canning Company, one of the large industries here, has just completed its season after surpassing all profit records of previous years. More than 6,500,000 cans of apricots, peaches, tomatoes and hominy were packed. It required more than 5000 tons of fruits and vegetables, valued at $115,000, to finish the canning operations.

The labor pay roll of the company for the season was around $92,000, most of it being paid to workers living here. During the peak of work, pay rolls ran as high as $7000 weekly. Because of the large season, an extra warehouse was added to the plant from which now and for the next few months the canned goods will be shipped all over the country.

One of the most popular products put out by the cannery is its canned hominy. This is finding a market even as far east as the Atlantic Seaboard. Most of the raw products of the cannery came from San Fernando and Simi valleys, according to A. W. Beach, production manager.

RESEDA TO START ON WINDBREAK CAMPAIGN

RESEDA, Dec. 24.—One way to keep the wind away—whether it be a gentle zephyr or a gale—is to plant tree windbreaks. A campaign has started here by civic bodies to line all east and west running streets on the north side of town to the mountains with eucalyptus trees. They are to serve as a shade beautification as well as a windbreak and will be a part of the general drive to plant all property in this section with trees and shrubbery. The work will start immediately after the first of the year.

Glendale Folk Drink and Bathe in Green Water

GLENDALE, Dec. 24.—Householders who sought the kitchen faucet to obtain a drink of water to pour on their thirst thought at first that the city water system was flowing pure creme de menthe when they held the glasses up against the light and saw the beautiful green tint that marked the contents.

And those who sought the family bath tub climbed out to find a ring of what looked like green moss festooning the porcelain sides of the tub when they allowed the water to run out.

Naturally, the wires between the householders and the City Hall began to buzz with petulant queries from puzzled folks who wanted to know what was the matter with the water. The statements of the city's public service department that there wasn't a microbe in a carload of the water were met with incredulous snorts.

The explanation was that the Chevy Chase reservoir had sprouted some kind of vegetable growth and that the means taken to purify the water had enhanced the taste and some of the smell of the water to a pronounced degree.

Sunlight playing on the stored water was blamed by Peter Diederich, superintendent of public utilities, for the condition, and he added what might or might not be regarded as a crumb of comfort when he said that the present condition will be much worse when the hot weather comes next summer.

PUBLISHERS' OFFICIAL NOW CONVALESCING

SOUTH PASADENA, Dec. 24.—John B. Long, general manager of the California Newspaper Publishers Association, Inc., is convalescing at his home here from an illness of six weeks. Long was stricken November 9 at a two-day session of the State-wide executive committee of the publishers at the mile-high summer home of Ford A. Chatters, of the Lindsay Gazette, in Camp Nelson in the High Sierras in Tulare county. Plans for the 1931 convention of California newspaper publishers at Stockton for January 16-17-18 were discussed at this meeting. Long was brought to his home here, where he has been confined since.

YEGGS CRACK STRONGBOX AT YUCAIPA

Safe in Hardware Store Blown by Professionals and $150 in Cash Taken

YUCAIPA, Dec. 24.—Professional burglars visited Yucaipa Tuesday night, made entrance to the hardware store of D. M. Holsinger & Son by cutting the glass out of a rear window and bending the bars there, and blew the combination off the safe, getting away with about $150 in money.

Just how much merchandise was taken by the thieves is not known but Holsinger is positive that tools of various kinds and possibly other articles were taken.

In the safe were a large number of checks but the thieves left them. Every bit of money in the safe was taken, however, and the books and other things were thrown on the floor.

The officers feel sure it was the work of an expert safe blower for the drilling and the neat manner in which the combination was blown showed that the man who did the work knew his business.

Also an effort was made to find some fingerprints on the safe but none could be found, showing that the safe blower had used gloves.

He Gets Permit to Carry Gun After Using It

REDLANDS, Dec. 24.—Clarence Burris, proprietor of the Deming Hotel on Orange street, was given a permit to carry a revolver by the police today after he had run down a sneak thief and forced him to disgorge a $5 bill he had stolen from the purse of Mrs. Burris.

The stranger, about 40 years of age, came to the hotel this morning and told Mrs. Burris he wanted a room. She went to get her husband and found the man behind the desk with her purse open. He took a $5 bill out of it, vaulted over the desk and ran from the hotel. Mrs. Burris told her husband what had happened and he started after the thief.

Through the alleys and over the railroad tracks of the packing-house district Burris chased the thief, gaining on him until he yelled: "Drop that bill or I'll shoot you." The thief thought he meant business and dropped the bill, yelling back: "There's your old five dollars," as he speeded away. Burris went to the police station to report the theft and asked for permission to carry the revolver which had played its part in getting the money back. He got the permit.

Davis Landras, a drifter, strolled into the W. C. Guerth jewelry store today and picked up a silver compact and strolled out of the store. Officer James Spaulding was near and arrested the man, who pleaded guilty to petty theft before Judge Charles G. Potter and was sent to the County Jail for thirty days.

Banking Case Hearing Soon

EL CENTRO, Dec. 24.—Trial of A. L. Hodges and Anthony D. Patton, held in the County Jail here in connection with the bombing of a Filipino rooming-house in Imperial on the 8th inst., and the death of Ariston Lampky, one of the lodgers, has been set for January 28 in Superior Court here.

Trial date for E. T. McCoy, who was indicted along with Hodge and Patton by the Imperial county grand jury, is to be fixed on January 2. McCoy's attorneys asked for additional time in which to enter his plea.

A fourth defendant, G. M. Hunter, is still at large.

INJUNCTION GRANTED IN PIPE-LINE DISPUTE

ALTA LOMA, Dec. 24.—Albert L. Swift and Edith H. Swift of Alta Loma have been granted an application for a preliminary injunction restraining the Sunset Water Company of Alta Loma from interfering in any way with a pipe line which Mr. and Mrs. Swift declare they built on their land, and with the knowledge and consent of the water company. The court several weeks ago granted a restraining order and the present preliminary injunction will hold until formal trial of the suit, which is some months distant, it is asserted. According to the injunction application the Sunset Water Company threatened to destroy the pipe line extending into their grove.

LA CRESCENTA, Dec. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Horace Carpenter are celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary, one of the affairs given in their honor being in the Woman's Club. The couple were married in Wichita, Kan., coming to California many years ago.

VANISHED WOMAN SOUGHT

San Diego Police Investigating Disappearance There of Mrs. Frances Spence of Colorado

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 24.—Police today are investigating the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Frances Spence, 17 years of age, while walking on one of the downtown streets here last night. The woman, who is living at 3802 Superba street with her husband and her mother-in-law, left home late yesterday to deliver a roll of films to a downtown store for developing. The husband and his mother became alarmed when she failed to return home by midnight last night and reported the matter to police.

At that time the officers took no official report, but told them to return to the police station today in event the woman was not located. Relatives could advance no reason for the woman's disappearance. She is described as being 5ft. 4in. tall and weighing about 125 pounds. She has blond hair, blue eyes and is pretty, the report states.

The Spences came here from Colorado last month. They have been living at the Superba-street address since their arrival here.

The deal was supposed to have been consummated in Reno, Nev.

PURSE RACKET

Callahan met the men, according to information admitted by the police, through operation of the purse dropping "racket." After meeting one of the men he found a purse.

The second man appeared and claimed the purse. When the victim refused a reward for finding the purse the second man is said to have disclosed he was on the "inside" in the horse race-betting circles and subsequently submitted the "tips" on which the bets were asserted to have been made.

FILM LUMBER SETS RECORD

One Hundred Trucks Will Parade Monday With Huge Order for Universal Studios

A Christmas present to Los Angeles business of one of the largest single orders ever given for lumber and building materials was announced yesterday by Carl Laemmle, president of Universal Pictures Corporation.

The order will fill more than 100 trucks and will be delivered in a solid parade beginning at 9 a.m. Monday. The order was divided among three concerns by A. W. Klinordlinger, purchasing agent.

The material is to be used in the construction of new sound stages, in the erection of a number of large sets for pictures which will be filmed in January, and for general repairs. Mr. Laemmle decided to advance the date of purchase, buying the entire amount now in line with President Hoover's campaign to stimulate business immediately and furnish employment during the winter.

The trucks will start at 9 a.m. Monday from Twelfth and Alameda streets, will proceed west on Twelfth street past the Chamber of Commerce Building, and on to Vermont avenue, following that thoroughfare to Hollywood Boulevard, and west to Highland avenue, and thence over Cahuenga Pass to Universal City.

The parade will be given police escort.

Policeman Pays Overdue Alimony

Samuel Goldy, motorcycle policeman, yesterday paid his back alimony and produced the receipt for $115 in Superior Judge Hahn's court, where a few days earlier he had been ordered to have the matter attended to by Christmas Eve or take the consequences. Goldy is the officer who put in an item for "shining puttees" as a necessary expense, only to be told by Judge Hahn that he could shine his own puttees until alimony was paid up.

Judge Hahn had threatened Goldy with punishment for contempt of court.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

"Except that ye become as little children," it is impossible to fully enter into the spirit of Christmas.

For this festive day, commemorating THE birthday, should mean a return to the ingenuous joyousness of youth; and it is only when this is so that the full purport of the day is borne out.

Through the little ones, are we returned to the pristine things of life and Christmas should be playtime in the highest sense. A time for renewal of such thrills as were afforded us, ere the edge had been worn off from happiness; a return to the gayety of childhood—this the true Christmas spirit.

Inverted Surprise

When you rise early on the eventful morning and sneak into the living-room without squeaking a door, planning to hide and watch the children explore the stockings; and "not a creature is stirring, not even a mouse." How surprised you are when the door opens, to find all the kiddies squatted before the fireplace, around them a grand spread of gifts which have been inspected so long that they are almost ready for the discard. Which goes to prove the advancedness of modern juveniles and shows that the elders must get up early if they would keep up with their offspring of modern times.

Frigidaire?

And now you may obtain cards, all printed and flowery, or scenic, for saying "Thank you" to those who have kindly remembered you with Christmas or New Year's gifts.

When, I wonder, will there be invented a machine for selecting, sending and receiving Christmas gifts and other cheerios?

Christmas Money

"And now to spend the Christmas money," exclaimed Angela. "And that is the part of the holiday festivities which I most enjoy. I have my list of wanteds all ready; made it weeks ago, in the annual hope that some one would read it telepathically and—but they didn't; so now for close study of the advertisements, and a sortie after the after-Christmas bargains." And she added, "I have an especial purse for the gift money I received, and I shall open the penny box, which had many additions during my gifting. Then," she concluded with a chuckle of satisfaction, "I intend spending a whole day downtown, buying what I want, lunching at my favorite place and maybe—if I have time and money left—seeing the play I have been saving up enjoyment for."

Something in That

Rather an odd idea that of saving up one's enjoyment; but after all, there's something in it. Have you never been surfeited with plays, parties and even friendly visits? If you have not been overfed with pleasures, you much more keenly enjoy them. One may plan to savour one's joys, as one plans to prepare appetite for delicious viands.

If It Could Last!

"My chief regret about a Christmas dinner," says Uncle Nathan, "is that, after hours of culinary art expended upon so fine a menu, we can eat only about as much as we do every day!" and he sighs, as he loosens his belt. At least, he did this last Christmas; and holiday history usually repeats itself.

Not Too Late

If, in thinking over your Christmas preparations, this Christmas morning, you find some one not remembered, something not done to add a quota of happiness to those whom you contact, it is not too late, even at 11 o'clock of the glad day, to go about this important business of making some one's Christmas Day more pleasant. Markets are open; or as a last altruistic thought, you might subtract somewhat from your own dinner, if need be. What you miss would be more than replenished in satisfaction.

Eggs in Glass

Did you know that eggs now may be obtained in glass? Yolks and whites in fine condition as when the shells first were broken! And some one is selling oranges by weight, instead of by the dozen. Verily, marketing changes with the changing times.

Possibly, some one will adopt the plan of selling the good fruit in the market stalls, instead of reaching after the banked-up culls at the back of the fine display ranged in front!

Color Card for Nails

No longer need you blindly buy the colored glint for your fingernails. You are shown a color card, from which you select rose, deep rose, coral, garnet or a red so very red that Santa's coat seems dull.

Seeing Red

Odd, isn't it, how we all take to red at Christmas time. Even though we cannot tolerate the color anywhere during the year, we adopt it gladly for the home and our habiliments during the holidays.

DRILLING PERMITS VOTED

Ordinances granting permission to Mary Y. Moore, Arthur E. Cummings, Margaret and Bernard Wheeler, Edward C. Shetler, Arthur M. Gunnett, A. I. Smith for the Del Rey Oil Company, Rose Lieber and Albert and Estelle Stanley to drill for oil in the Venice district were adopted yesterday by the City Council. An ordinance permitting Dr. J. D. Davenport to drill for oil at Sepulveda Boulevard and Westminster avenue near the Baldwin Hills also was adopted.

LASKY ASSIGNS MISS BANKHEAD

English Actress Will Play in "New York Love"

Themla McNeal Gets Radio Picture Contract

Charles Rogers, Mary Brian Teamed by Paramount

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

"New York Love" is to be the screen vehicle which will introduce to world film audiences England's favorite American stage actress, Tallulah Bankhead, who has lately been signed by Paramount on a long-term contract.

TALLULAH BANKHEAD

This story will replace "Her Past," which was to have been Miss Bankhead's first starring vehicle.

In the picture Miss Bankhead will be co-starred with Clive Brook.

The actress is the daughter of W. B. Bankhead, who is president of the Paramount Publix Corporation. She is starring in London in "Let Us Be Gay" now, but is due to arrive in this country during January. "New York Love" will be produced in New York, but later Miss Bankhead will come to Hollywood.

The star was famous in New York before going to England a few years ago. She appeared on Broadway in "39 East," "Nice People" and other productions.

DANCER AWARDED RADIO CONTRACT

Even if Pearl Eaton's chorus at Radio studios didn't continue to function, due to the falling in popularity of the musicals, it's an ill wind that blows nobody any good, and several of the young dancers have been given acting contracts with Radio.

THELMA McNEAL

The latest to achieve this success is Thelma McNeal, who on being given voice and acting test developed a surprising amount of screen personality and acting talent, it was learned yesterday. Wherefore, Miss McNeal is to be kept right along with the company.

Yesterday she was awarded a role in "Private Secretary."

RODGERS AND MARY BRIAN RE-UNITED

All the fan world loves a pair of screen lovers, and just oftentimes cannot abide having them separated in the film plays.

MARY BRIAN

A case in point is that of Charles Rogers and Mary Brian, who used to play opposite each other in Paramount pictures, but who have been separated professionally during the past many moons.

Such a demand from fans has been made for their appearance together in pictures that Paramount has decided to again team them, and they will play together soon in a college picture in which Charles will be a baseball hero.

Irene Rich With Liberty

When Liberty's unique picture, "Women Like Men," with its all-woman cast, goes into production at Liberty Production Studios, one of the actresses who will have one of the nine feminine roles will be Irene Rich, we learned yesterday.

IRENE RICH

Miss Rich has lately been appearing on the speaking stage and in vaudeville.

William Beadine will direct. The only other member of the cast so far selected is Louise Fazenda.

Ethelyn Claire With Warners

Lovely Ethelyn Claire is not to waste her talents on the desert air. Warners have just signed the actress for one of the two leading feminine roles opposite Frank Fay in "The Devil Was Sick."

Marcia Manners has also been signed for a lead in the picture.

J. Farrell MacDonald Busy

Personally I don't see for the life of me how J. Farrell MacDonald gets time to keep up his golf and football games.

He is working now in "River's End," and even before he has finished word reaches us of his signing for two new roles. One is the part of Big Bill with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in Cecil B. De Mille's "Squaw Man," while the other role is with George Arliss in "The Ruling Passion."

COMEDIANS IN WAR WITH GANGSTERS

Wheeler and Woolsey Seen in Another Jamboree of Nut Flavor at Orpheum

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

They are off on another wild rampage—those two comedians, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey.

Powers of analysis are meanwhile to be duly checked for safekeeping while looking on at their humorous frolic, "Hook, Line and Sinker." What the title stands for doesn't even particularly matter.

So long as the cigars hold out, and even if they are shot out of his mouth by gangsters, Woolsey manages to have a nifty reply whenever the scenarioist allows him the chance. And Wheeler can be smart and dumb and sympathetic very nicely.

"Hook, Line and Sinker" shows at the Orpheum Theater as decidedly holiday fare. Those who want to laugh will gain lots of enjoyment. What matter if some of the jokes not only have whiskers, but also long gray beards? They sound just as amusing sometimes as they ever were.

The principal thing is that the last rounds of the humorous bout are genuinely exciting. Two rival bands of gangsters start warring in the hotel managed by Wheeler and Woolsey, and the two comedians are the center of the battle. Jobyna Howland, who has a richly humorous personality, is also a participant. Then, too, little Dorothy Lee is present for the romantic illumination.

It almost looks, at times, during this picture as if Miss Howland and Woolsey would be a team to themselves, if they were allowed to be. One of the liveliest scenes is based on the sudden flare-up of an inamoration involving them.

Woolsey as usual appears to have the best of the comedy in a variety of ways, though Wheeler at moments also induces considerable laughter.

The picture is greatly troubled with plot for a while; in fact, it has quite a time gathering speed. There is tediousness to survive, therefore, more or less apparent till toward the scare climax. Not a few individual bits of comedy are, however, ingenious enough to result in the mirthful uproar during the earlier scenes.

Besides the four leading principals, Natalie Moorhead is vampishly interesting as a make-believe Duchess (in reality a gangster lady.) George Marion, Jr., oddly enough, is cast as a bellboy; Ralf Harolde does the villaining and Hugh Herbert is a comedy house detective. Bill Davidson and Stanley Fields are among the others.

The production was directed by Eddie Cline, and the story of the film is credited to Tim Whelan and Ralph Spence.

The short films, including a Tom Terris Vagabond reel, "Sands of Egypt;" a cartoon comedy and a Grantland Rice Sportlight film, showing Bobby Jones in action on the golf course, are all very acceptable. This is especially true of the "Sands of Egypt" and golfing picture, with its humorous sidelights on the dub's game.

"Apple Cart" Returning to Civic Theater

Arrangements have been completed for the return of George Bernard Shaw's satire, "The Apple Cart," to the Music Box Theater in Hollywood for a week of nightly performances, commencing Sunday night, "Peter Pan" entering upon the third and final week of its engagement as a purely matinee attraction, Wednesday to Saturday, inclusive.

"The Apple Cart" was the original production of the Civic Repertory forces for the season and left on a northern tour when its three weeks' engagement came to a close, with a considerable local demand for further performances in its wake.

Alan Mowbray, Doris Lloyd and the entire original cast as seen in the first Civic Repertory production at the Music Box will enact the drama.

Theater Plans Special Shows

A Christmas Day full of laughs is promised today at El Capitan Theater, where Joe E. Brown in "Elmer the Great" will be presented in a special holiday matinee.

Brown as the dumb baseball player in this Ring Lardner farce is said to give his best characterization.

In addition to the Christmas Day special performance, there will be a New Year's Day matinee at El Capitan, and also two performances on New Year's Day.

Supporting Brown is a cast of thirty-five players.

Familiar Face in Warner Film

Although "River's End," now playing at both Warner Brothers Downtown and Hollywood Theaters, is only the second full-length feature picture in which Evalyn Knapp has appeared, she is already well known to fans, having appeared previous to her Hollywood career in twenty-nine Warner shorts. These were made in New York City.

LARGE AREA COVERED

During the filming of Paramount's "Fighting Caravans," on location in Northern California, scenes were made in ten different counties.

MIXED FURNITURE USED

Ultramodern furniture of mixed Spanish and futuristic design makes its debut in Radio Pictures' comedy, "Assorted Nuts."

Newcomer Enacts Part in Comedy

Monael Lindley

Plays one of the important roles in "Between the Covers," which Oliver Morosco will present at the Biltmore Theater, starting Monday night. Raymond Hatton, stage and screen actor, also has a leading part.

DUFFY OFFERS STAGE FARCE

With May Boley as the leading light in "Stepping Sisters," the comedy starts today at the Hollywood Playhouse as Henry Duffy's holiday attraction.

Miss Boley leads the parade as the most outspoken of a trio of burlesque queens who meet on fashionable Long Island twenty years after they have parted company at the stage door. Miss Boley, as Rosie O'Toole, is still a burlesque "artiste" at heart and proud of it; "Queenie" has become Lady Chetworth-Lynd, Shakespearean actress, and "Cissy" is Mrs. Cecelia Ramsey, a society leader and wife of a millionaire.

In addition to Miss Boley, Kathryn Giveny and Frances Woodbury, the trio of stepping sisters, the cast includes Irving Fisher, Marilyn Miller's former leading man in "Sunny."

Barbara Luddy plays the daughter of one of the ex-burlesque queens, while others in the cast are William Lloyd, Robert Adams, Muriel Rothermel, Myra Marsh and Frank Perry.

Henry Duffy announces two special New Year's Eve performances of "Stepping Sisters."

TWO COSTAR IN PICTURE AT R.-K.-O.

Evelyn Brent and Robert Ames Teamed in 'Madonna of the Streets'

Co-featuring Evelyn Brent and Robert Ames, "Madonna of the Streets" starts today at the R.-K.-O. Theater. Peter Higgins, youthful radio soloist, headlines the stage show.

ROBERT AMES

The story of the film feature deals with the romance between May Fisher, a lady of the world, and a young philanthropist, played by Ames.

"Madonna of the Streets" is a Columbia production, directed by John Robertson. The cast in support of the two principals includes Josephine Dunn, Ivan Linow and Ed Brady.

In addition to Higgins, the vaudeville program presents Maurice Colleano and his family of gymnasts; Jack Usher in a comedy skit, "Married Life," and Worthy and Thompson, demonstrating the latest dance steps.

Notorious Ships Used as Setting for Circle Film

Two of the most famous ships on the Pacific Coast did duty at San Pedro as part of the harbor set of "Min and Bill," the current feature at the Carthay Circle Theater which stars Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery.

They were the Narwahl, former Arctic exploration ship, and one-time contraband runner from the Orient. The other was the Lily, known as the "Old Ironsides" of Nicaragua, due to her activities in the revolution.

The two vessels were moored at Terminal Island as a part of the setting in which a great deal of the action of "Min and Bill" takes place. Their bulk and steeple-like masts formed an unusual contrast to the trim yachts and speed boats anchored about.

"Min and Bill" will conclude its stay at the Carthay Circle at a gala New Year's Eve midnight matinee. The following feature attraction will be "Lightnin'," which stars Will Rogers.

O'Connor Plays Another Sleuth Role in 'Paid'

Robert Emmett O'Connor, well-known screen sleuth, is playing his sixtieth police role in Joan Crawford's latest starring vehicle, "Paid," now at the Criterion Theater.

O'Connor made his first success as a detective in "Four Walls" and since that time has been one of the most consistent actors in Hollywood.

With O'Connor in the supporting cast are Robert Armstrong, Marie Prevost, George Cooper, Kent Douglass, John Miljan and Purnell Pratt. On the varied short-subject program are a Silly Symphony comedy, an all-color "Strange as It Seems" feature and the latest Movietone News weekly.

"REDUCING" OPENS RUN AT LOEW'S

Marie Dressler and Polly Moran Costarred in New M.-G.-M. Feature

New comedy adventures of the "Caught Short" stars, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, will be seen on the screen at Loew's State Theater starting today, with the opening of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy, "Reducing," directed by Chuck Reisner.

The new picture presents the adventures of the two comediennes as sisters, one of them the owner of a high-class beauty parlor, the other drafted as an assistant.

The conflicting romances of the two sisters' daughters, played by Anita Page and Sally Eilers, knit the laughs of the picture together, it is said. Others seen in the cast of the picture are Lucien Littlefield, William Collier, Jr., and William Bakewell.

A vaudeville program will be presented on the stage by Fanchon and Marco, titled "Vaudeville Echoes," featuring Nell Kelly, musical-comedy star; Bobby Henshaw, Ed and Jenny Rooney and the Allison troupe.

Two Pictures on Christmas Bill at Tower

Dorothy Christy, Charlie Murray and George Sidney play the leading roles in "Caught Cheating" which starts on the screen at the Tower today. Frank Strayer directed for Tiffany.

DOROTHY CHRISTY

In addition to "Caught Cheating," a comedy starring Charlotte Greenwood will be presented. This is titled "Love Your Neighbor." William Watson wrote the piece especially for Miss Greenwood.

Short subjects will complete the Christmas bill at the Tower. These include a news reel, a cartoon and a novelty film.

"East Is West" Heads Bill at Million Dollar

"East is West" starts today at the Million Dollar Theater, with Lupe Velez playing the role of Ming Toy. This picture is from the Universal studios and was directed by Monta Bell.

Prominent in the supporting cast of the film are Lew Ayres and Edward G. Robinson.

Augmenting the feature picture will be five acts of vaudeville. These include Ward and Pinkie in "Something Different;" Malacca and Chang in "Two Musical Sheiks from the Orient;" the Four Gladiators and Evelyn Torrey in "Just Kids." The last named presents a sextet of clever juvenile entertainers.

CHRISTMAS BRINGS NEW STAGE PLAY

"Up Pops the Devil" Will Start Tonight at Belasco; Hackett Featured

"Up Pops the Devil," now playing in New York, will open at the Belasco Theater tonight. This marks the first metropolitan presentation of the piece west of Broadway.

RAYMOND HACKETT

"Up Pops the Devil" is from the pens of Albert Hackett and Frances Goodrich, and while the play is said to be very amusing, it does not enter the realm of farce. The story touches on the adventures of certain couples residing in Greenwich Village.

A. Leslie Pearce, who staged "The Royal Family" and "Caprice" for Belasco and Curran, directed "Up Pops the Devil." The cast includes Raymond Hackett, Ann Teaman, Esther Howard, John Arledge, Leyland Hodgson, Lex Lindsay, Marguerite Warner, Herbert Fortier, Alma Powell, Helen Dickson, Jac Foss and James Adamson.

NEW STAR IN DEBUT AT UNITED

Evelyn Laye Has Leading 'One Heavenly Night' Role on Screen Today

The United Artists Theater's Christmas gift to local theatergoers—Evelyn Laye in "One Heavenly Night"—starts today. This is a Samuel Goldwyn production and serves to introduce the beautiful stage comedienne.

Miss Laye, long an idol on the British stage and more recently a sensation in New York in "Bittersweet," is destined to occupy an important spot in coming screen plays, it is reported.

"One Heavenly Night" is a film romance with comedy. John Boles plays opposite Miss Laye. Lilyan Tashman and the comedian, Leon Errol, also have outstanding parts.

In the surrounding show are a Tom Terris novelty, a Paramount comedy, Sound News, and Gaylord Carter at the organ.

Talkies Make Linguist of Barthelmess

The talkies are due to make a linguist of Richard Barthelmess.

In preparing for "The Lash," which opens tomorrow at both Warner Brothers' Hollywood and Downtown theaters, the star studied and held daily conversation with his Spanish teacher, Senor Francesco del Fuego.

RICHARD BARTHELMESS

In "The Lash" Barthelmess plays the romantic role of a Spanish don turned bandit in the manner of Robin Hood. The story is laid in Los Angeles and environs about 1850.

"The Lash" is directed by Frank Lloyd, who was responsible for "Weary River," "Drag," "Young Nowheres" and "Son of the Gods." Others in the cast are Mary Astor, Marion Nixon, James Rennie and Fred Kohler.

Lupe Velez to Take Bows at International

Lupe Velez, fiery little Mexican actress, will be present at the International California Theater Friday night in connection with the opening of her first appearance in a Spanish talkie. The picture is Universal's "Oriente Y Occidente."

The premiere of the film promises to be a gala event, it is said, with many celebrities of the Spanish-speaking colony in attendance.

The large cast supporting Miss Velez consists of Barry Norton, Manuel Arbo, Daniel F. Rea, Jose Soriano Viosco, Andre Cheron and others.

On the same program a Spanish comedy, "El Chauffeur Cupido," will be screened.

Holiday Film and Footlight Bill Offered

A program that should be as cheerful as the holiday season opens at Pantages Hollywood Theater today, with Eddie Lambert as an added attraction on the stage. Jackie Coogan and Mitzi Green provide film humor in "Tom Sawyer."

The Fanchon and Marco presentation, "Topical Tunes," staged by Sammy Lee, features the Caligary brothers, European comedians, as well as a number of other performers, and the Sunkist Beauties.

Slim Martin will direct the orchestra in a musical offering, and a comedy and other short subjects will round out the new bill.

PARAMOUNT OFFERS NEW PROGRAM TODAY

A new bill opens today at the Paramount Theater. Ruth Chatterton's latest vehicle, "The Right to Love," is the screen feature.

Miss Chatterton enacts three different characterizations, one as a young girl, another as the old and disillusioned wife of a man she has never loved and finally as the daughter of the wife. Richard Wallace directed. The new stage show is "Neptune's Festivals."

CHILD CRUELTY JAILS COUPLE

Judge Orders Red Tape Cut to Save Youngsters

Six Half-Nude Children Starve in Basement

Parents Refuse Train Fare to Return Home

Red tape, when children are suffering, should be cut, Municipal Judge Chambers told representatives of the county charities after hearing testimony against Jack Kryptal and his wife Evelyn, accused of willful cruelty to their six small children. The Kryptals were found guilty and sent to jail for thirty days each.

Testimony introduced by Deputy City Prosecutor Ida V. Wells showed that the family was living in a small basement at 1129 Colton street. The children, ranging in age from 13 months to 9 years, were found with a single garment each and had been without food for some time, Miss Wells charged.

County charities workers said they offered to return the Kryptals to their former home in Portland but that they refused to go. The county did not provide food or clothing for the children, they said, because the family had been here only a few days.

"Los Angeles should not be saddled with charity cases from other cities," Judge Chambers said, "but where children are suffering red tape should be forgotten and they should be cared for promptly."

The children are being cared for in Juvenile Hall, while Kryptal and his wife are serving jail terms.

SIM CRABILL AGAIN PLAYS PARTY HOST

Times-Mirror Workers Guests at His Annual Christmas Festivities

Work stopped promptly at noon in the Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House yesterday. It was the occasion of the annual Christmas party tendered all employees of that concern and of the American Engraving and Electrotype Company by Sim W. Crabill, general manager. The entire plant was turned into a holiday-making place and all the scores of workers participated in the festivities. From noon on it was just one big family party.

Every year Mr. Crabill gives one of these affairs for his "boys and girls." The plant is cleared, a huge lighted tree dominates the scene, a stage is erected, long tables are spread, and stations for gifts are established. An elaborate Dutch luncheon is served immediately after noon with a coterie of invited guests.

Thereafter a show made up from talent in the two plants is presented in typical vaudeville fashion. This year this embraced songs, dances, musical and vocal ensembles and other such features, composed, written and performed by the personnel of the organization. As usual, the show closed with a scene marking the entry of Santa Claus, who invited the children present to join him on the stage and distributed gifts to them personally. This was followed by a general distribution to everyone.

There were eight acts in the show, organized and presented by Bill Ham Cline, and it ran more than an hour. Preceding it Mr. and Mrs. Crabill were presented amid much applause, and short talks were made by Harry Chandler, Ralph Trueblood and Harry Carr. The afternoon concluded with a general dancing party which continued until dusk.

Mr. Crabill, besides his employees, always includes a coterie of visitors by special invitation, the list this time embracing Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chandler, Miss Constance Chandler, Norman and Harrison Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. J. Baum and Betty, Frank X. Pfaffinger, Ralph W. Trueblood, Harry Baum, Irving Smith, J. E. McIntyre, Walter Pfaffenberger, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Downing, Leo Altman, E. T. Gadden, A. N. Damon, Juana Neal Levy, Alma Whitaker, Myra Nye, Peggy Hamilton, Mrs. W. H. Cline, Mrs. George House, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Alter and children, Mrs. Crabill, Mrs. O. H. Wakefield and children, Miss Olive Milnor, Mrs. A. P. Bell, Bernard Vollmer, Joseph Baruh and others.

This affair was announced as the last of its kind in the present building, which will give place to a fine new structure next year. In his talk Mr. Chandler dwelt on this fact, the date corresponding to the twentieth anniversary of the present building's occupancy. He also paid a high tribute to Mr. Crabill's success in its management.

Elaborate gifts from the personnel to Mr. and Mrs. Crabill were a feature of the occasion, as were telegrams from several of those absent from the ranks.

SCREEN TECHNIQUE COURSE TO BE GIVEN

Motion-picture technique is a new course to be given at university college, the downtown division of the University of Southern California, beginning in the winter quarter which opens January 5 in the Transportation Building. In charge of Dorothy Yost the evening course will deal with resources and construction of set dressing, lighting, sound effects, wardrobe, camera and directing to the work of the scenarist. Actual studio observation of these relationships as well as their application to scenario writing will be included in the course to be given Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:20 o'clock. Full college credit is granted. Registration is now open at university college.

FARE FAILS TO FETCH WIFE, DECLARES MAN

Fare to California failed to fetch his wife, Ray J. Brown yesterday testified in winning a divorce from Emma Louise Brown. "My wife wrote me four years ago asking a reconciliation and requesting that I send her $250 for her expenses to come to California," Brown told Superior Judge Henderson. "Although we had been separated eleven years I sent her the money. That was the last I ever heard of her." Judge Henderson granted him a decree.

TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

As Tarzan and La gasped for breath in the thick smoke, fast filling the throne-room of the Palace of Diamonds, a night's ride away, Esteban, the false Tarzan, was burying the golden ingots. That unscrupulous Spaniard was bent on forestalling possible treachery on the part of Owaza and his blacks. "Suppose later," he thought, "I am unable to locate this buried treasure?" For it was necessary to march to the coast for new supplies and porters, Owaza's blacks having mutinied, a move the wily chief had instigated.

Esteban kept hidden a single ingot, planning to dispose of this on the seacoast for supplies. Also he drew upon the inner surface of the leopard skin he wore, an accurate map of the treasure's location. It was a map of blood; made with a sharpened stick dipped in the life fluid of a small animal. From Owaza he had obtained the native names of landmarks near the hidden gold, also directions for reaching it from the coast. So far, so good. Now to do away with Owaza at the earliest chance. And Owaza awaited his chance to foil the false Tarzan.

When Jane Clayton reached the sea to take a ship for London, she received a cable stating it was not necessary for her to come to her father—he was now out of danger. After a few days' rest she commenced the long, hot, weary journey back home. When finally she arrived, she learned to her consternation, that Tarzan of the Apes had not returned from his expedition to the city of Opar after the gold from the treasure vaults. She found Korak worried, but unwilling to believe that his father could not overcome all obstacles.

She learned of the escape of the golden lion with regret for she knew that Tarzan was much attached to the noble beast. A week later, the Waziri who had accompanied Tarzan, returned without him. They told of the supposed accident robbing the ape-man of his memory. Lady Greystoke determined to set out in search of him. Korak, failing to dissuade her, insisted upon going along. Jane refused. "You know," she said, "I am safe anywhere in the heart of Africa with the Waziri." With fifty of them then, Jane Clayton set forth.

Announcement

We have waited three years for "real estate" to stop and catch its breath—for "stocks" to have their fling—for "bonds" to occupy the stage, and now we believe that good, old, safe real estate—if properly located—is due for an era of tremendous activity.

So confident are we of this fact, that January 2nd will again see the old reliable, energetic Harry H. Culver & Company back into the subdivision business with a bang—concentrating and specializing on the West Side and in the same manner that characterized its great success in the sale of 64 subdivisions in and around Culver City since 1916.

Harry H. Culver, our President, after an absence of some three years as president of the local, State and national organizations, is to take full and complete charge of our sales and subdivision activity. Only the highest type of men and women will enter our company—our ambitious program will be founded upon the same golden rule that brought so much success to us during the first five years of Culver City building.

Geologists predict another oil field—right in Culver City—in fact, the first well (Taylor Oil Company) is now being drilled 200 feet from our first and next subdivision activity. Owing to the gambling element, we will not raise our prices, but allow all buyers to acquire at present low prevailing prices and participate in the oil speculation without additional cost.

We want the best
that money can buy. Honest, reliable, trustworthy, ambitious—must have a record of successful production. Not TALK, but real EVIDENCE of "What have you done?" And "How did you do it?" Real estate experience not necessarily essential—but the experience of the handling of a large sales organization is.

A Speaker
to support Mr. Culver's own daily appearance on the platform will be used. Not the usual Lecturer—but one who can deliver a clean-right-from-the-shoulder talk on the future of this valley.

Branch Managers and Closers can be used.

We are not going to do 99% of the work for salesmen and saleswomen, but we are going to "help you to help yourselves" into quick ready cash—with the same policy of "prompt and regular payment of commission when due."

We will make no solicitation of other organizations—but any interested parties may apply in person or by letter. All inquiries will be treated in confidence.

We propose to prove our belief that West Side real estate is now coming back—and we are going to be in the front line trenches first. Clean men and women can do well with us.

HUNDREDS OF HOLD-UPS CONFESSED

Bandit Can't Remember All Robberies Committed; Partner Also Held

Admitting that he had committed so many robberies that he could not remember them all, John R. Williams, 28 years of age, waived preliminary hearing on five robbery charges before Municipal Judge Baird and declared that he will plead guilty in Superior Court. His codefendant, William La Rue, 24, also waived preliminary hearing.

Williams, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Moses, estimates the number of robberies he has committed as "about 300." He told Judge Baird that he was responsible for starting La Rue on a bandit career, but the latter said he is "more than 21 and old enough to know better." The pair were arrested on the 15th inst. and readily confessed to every robbery they could remember, Moses said.

Judge Baird fixed bail at $10,000 each, pending trial.

SHIPPING NEWS AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

SHIP-TO-SHORE RADIO PLANNED

Telephone Company Seeks to Establish Service

Application for Permit on File With Commission

Would Provide Land and Sea Link in Pacific Area

BY WALDO DRAKE

Application to provide merchant shipping in the Pacific with full ship-to-shore radio telephone service has been filed by the Southern California Telephone Company and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, it was announced yesterday by the Federal Radio Commission. Shore stations would be constructed at Los Angeles Harbor, San Francisco and Seattle.

The proposed service would make possible direct telephone communication between persons from any point on the globe, regardless of whether they were afloat or ashore, according to the announcement. It would be operated as "integral parts" of America's general telephone system, so that passengers on ships would have full access to the land-wire system, radius of operation being restricted only by the power of the equipment on shipboard.

"It is the aim of the Bell System to extend its service from time to time to enable anyone, anywhere, to pick up a telephone and talk to anyone else, clearly and quickly, and at reasonable cost," G. H. Jess, assistant vice-president of the two California companies, announced.

Lloyd Espenschied, engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, has discussed the technical considerations of the proposed ship-to-shore system with the radio commission. The Bell interests have requested three frequencies for the new service between 1500 and 2000 kilocycles, with each of the three land stations to have 400 watts of power.

HARBOR WAREHOUSE CONTRACT AWARDED

Crescent Wharf and Warehouse Company yesterday announced the award of contract for an $85,000 warehouse to be erected at Seaside avenue and Altoona Place, Terminal Island. The job went to the Ron Stever Company of San Marino, and will be started January 1, and completed in sixty days, according to Eugene Mills, president of the Crescent company.

The structure will be all on the ground floor, covering 40,000 square feet of space. It will be fireproof, and of reinforced concrete and steel construction. Railway tracks adjoining already are installed, and there will be broad platforms for truck loading.

The warehouse will be available for storage of all kinds of cargo except inflammable stuff, and a section may be set aside later for bonded items, Mills said.

Ninety-six employees of the Los Angeles Harbor Department held their annual pre-Christmas luncheon and party yesterday noon in the accounting offices of the department at the harbor. Burt Edwards, general manager, was the guest of honor.

Port revenues totalling $179,743.08 were received by the Los Angeles Harbor Department during November, according to the report yesterday to the Harbor Commission meeting at its Los Angeles offices. This compares with $189,470.62 for November last year. Principal items are wharfage, $82,569.52; land rentals, $26,437.44; pilotage, $22,983.68; dockage, $16,812.25, and Harbor Belt Line, $7570.

Variations in tide measurements ranging from three to six inches are apparent between the outer and the inner harbors at Los Angeles, according to Harbor Engineer Nicholson, who yesterday was authorized by the harbor commission to move the automatic tide gauge from the outer to the inner harbor. The disparity was regarded as sufficient to influence navigation in heavily loaded ships. The commission yesterday opened bids of $8000 to $10,000 on creosoted piles for shed foundations at Berths No. 144-146 and for firewalls lumber at Pier A wharves, Wilmington, but referred them for analysis and recommendation. The commission set over its next meeting for January 7 at San Pedro.
